brought the two-day convention of farmers to a close.

George Sorber of Gladstone was elected vice president to succeed J. W. Knepper of Goodrich, and D. E. Shipley of Bismarck was re-elected to his joint post as secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Members of Executive Board. The members of the board of directors are: William Breen of Bismarck, A. H. Anderson of Beldfield, E. Youngberg of Woodworth, Frank Mehring of Melville, and Otto Wendt of Judson.

The matter of selecting a city for the 1917 convention of the union is left in the power of the executive board. It is understood that Bismarck is favored, because of its central location.

Dickinson Man as Delegate. Orman Brown of Dickinson was elected as the delegate to the national convention from the North Dakota union, which will be held in Arkansas, the dates to be announced soon. W. B. Evans of Bismarck was appointed state organizer, to continue in that capacity.

One of the pieces of legislation put through at the closed meeting required that 75 members must be secured before a local can get a charter. A local can be started with a quorum of 15, but to charter itself, 50 more are necessary.

Open Meetings Wednesday. The Farmers' Educational Union of America opened its convention—the first in its history—at the Farmers' union warehouse last Wednesday morning. Because of the crowd, quarters were taken at the Auditorium. Yesterday the meetings were continued in the warehouse.

About 300 in Attendance. About 300 farmers were in attendance with their wives. Special entertainment was provided for and guests at the Auditorium Wednesday afternoon. Motion pictures, songs by the male quartet, addresses by Luther E. Birdzell and Elizabeth McClung were the features. The meeting then went behind locked doors and continued until late yesterday.

Resolutions lauding the city for its hospitality and the publicity given the meetings by the press were adopted.

OPENS NEW OFFICE. Judge H. C. Bradley of the probate court has opened an office in the Haggard building, Third street and Broadway. He will still maintain his old office in the court house.

TWICHELL HERE. Treadwell Twitchell of Fargo, chairman of the house appropriations committee of the Fourteenth assembly, is at the capitol attending a statutory meeting of the state budget committee, which will meet from time to time from this date until the middle of January, when it hopes to have completed its duties.

Cheer Up! Weatherman Loses Grouch

Fair and Warmer Tonight and Saturday—Ah, Chance To Do Your Christmas Shopping

FAIR WEATHER SUNDAY—BIG DAY FOR THE KODAKS

Bismarck Shivered a Little Last Night—Have Golden Point in Northwest—10 Below

Cheer up, the weatherman lost his grouch this morning. He says there's going to be fair and warmer weather tonight and Saturday, with also a fair Sunday. So just take a tip from this dean of dispensers and do your Christmas shopping tonight and tomorrow, while the "sailing is good." And as for Sunday, just get out the kodak. There's going to be sunshine.

Bismarck Shivered Last Night. Bismarck shivered last night, with a temperature of 4 above. Didn't seem so cold as the night before, but the weather man said it was. But think what Miles City, Havre and Prince Albert were fighting. Havre was the coldest spot on the weather map last night, with a sub-zero shoot of 10; Miles City saw the mercury in thermometers there tumble to 8 below, and at Prince Albert it went down to the corresponding temperature reported from Miles City.

Where Balmey Breezes Blow. Down in Galveston, the balmy breezes were blowing. A 24-mile an hour wind played around a temperature of 56 degrees. Pittsburgh reported 52 and San Francisco 42. Bismarck, Williston, Winalpeg, Moorhead and other points in the northwest were minus high winds, Moorhead reporting a breeze of 10 miles an hour last night. But, then, Moorhead is near Fargo.

The low area pressure is moving slowly eastward and covers the Lake Region, which is welcome to it. A high pressure over the Rocky mountains, while in the extreme northwest a second low has made its appearance.

For Bismarck and Vicinity. The indications for Bismarck and vicinity are for fair and warmer weather tonight and Saturday, with fair weather Sunday. Now, isn't that nice of the weather man?

are going to adopt them at long range in order to save the future nation of Belgium. Although the children will be adopted they will not be brought to this country but simply provided for during the war," writes Miss Clara Hill, daughter of the late James J. Hill, to friends in Bismarck in an effort to bring relief to the stricken children of Belgium.

"More than 600,000 children are dying in Belgium from tuberculosis, anemia and kindred diseases due to the lack of food and clothing," she writes. She says that the future Belgium is doomed unless relief is sent the suffering children. The deportation of 100,000 Belgian men has aggravated a terrible condition, leaving the children almost helpless.

"Never in the history of the world has the need of a nation been so great," she adds. "One dollar will support a Belgian child for a month and $12 for a year so that by your people of Bismarck subscribing $12, one really adopts a Belgian child for a year."

MODERN HOTEL FOR MANDAN—COMES AS A CHRISTMAS GIFT

Governor Hanna and Architects Met Yesterday in Inter-Ocean—Start Work at Once

Mandan, N. D., Dec. 8.—Governor L. B. Hanna of North Dakota and his architects, Ashelman & Gage of Fargo, and Contractors Meinicke, Olson and Johnson of the Meinicke Building company met at the Inter-Ocean hotel building yesterday, viewed it from every angle and within 15 minutes' time men were at work tearing down the old wooden structure, which will give place to a four-story modern hostelry.

W. F. Reko, who has been in charge of Governor Hanna's local interests, was largely responsible for the conference which resulted in the governor deciding to make the radical change in his plans. The four stories will provide 100 rooms. The building will be finished in white Bedford, gray and white pressed brick, with a generous use of plate glass windows.

A member of a local lodge suggested to the governor that one of Mandan's orders would be glad to secure a lease on the lodge rooms in a second floor over this Main street building.

FAIR ASSOCIATION TO HOLD FIRST ANNUAL IN GRAND FORKS NEXT WEEK

Standardization of County Expositions To Be Considered by Members

The first annual convention of the Association of County Fairs of North Dakota will be held in Grand Forks on December 13 and 14. The county, local and mid-winter fairs are increasing rapidly in number and in importance throughout North Dakota. Their managements have not yet been standardized, nor is the circuiting and dates in many instances arranged to the best advantage. It is the purpose of the association to bring the managements of the various fairs together, that they may discuss these and other problems in detail.

Flint Gives Ideas. "Fairs, like other features in the development of education," said Secretary R. F. Flint today, "return their beneficial results so diffused that it is difficult to focus attention on specific evidence of their advantages, except as to those who receive direct rewards."

"It is, however, a well recognized fact that nations or sections of nations where agricultural fairs have been held for a period of years have the most advanced and prosperous agricultural districts."

Managers' Meetings Have Message. "Every fair officer present at the convention should have a message to deliver," continued Mr. Flint, "and they will be expected to give others present the benefit of their information. Among the subjects that will be discussed are: 'Agricultural Exhibits at County Fairs,' 'County Fairs From the Exhibitor's Viewpoint,' 'Summarized Report of Last Year's Convention,' 'The Auto Problem,' 'Amusements,' 'The Summer Livestock Show,' 'Special Advertising,' as well as many other topics of vital importance to general managers. It is anticipated that a number of fairs will be represented. The session will be called at the Commercial club rooms at 10:00 a. m., December 13. All parties interested are invited to be present."

Officers of the association are: B. E. Groom, Langdon, president; Een Killoran, Cooperstown, vice president; R. F. Flint, Bismarck, secretary-treasurer.
