TWO TYPES OF DANCING DRESSES

By BETTY BROWN.

New York, April 4.—Overdresses are a notable feature of evening gowns by reason of the delicacy of the materials now in fashion. So popular are the fancy frocks composed of layers of transparent rainbow-hued stuffs that weightier materials do, by contrast, give a costume a decidedly original look.

When plain silken stuffs are employed to build a party dress the draped effect is sometimes obtained by deep pocket folds containing the fullness over the hips, as in the design pictured today, while the required elegance is obtained by the unlimited use of gold and silver thread in huge floral embroidery.

A shawl draped skirt is wonderfully effective when a light and dark color contrast is employed. Such a design makes up to the best advantage when the straight breadths of drapery are adjusted over a simply girdled chemise frock of very sheer texture.

Danger!

No Disease Is Inevitable in Childhood

A big obstacle to the control of contagious disease in children has been the widespread belief among a certain class of parents that children are bound to have certain diseases sooner or later. No more dangerous doctrine and one wider from the actual truth ever existed. Disease in children is not inevitable. No child need have any disease at all except those which accompany the natural course of development.

Every child is endowed with a certain store of bodily resistance. Each succeeding illness lowers this resistance. On the other hand the liability to children's diseases grows less each year, as does also the danger to life. Diphtheria is less frequent and less fatal in children over five years of age. The tendency to scarlet fever is lessened after the child has passed ten years. Measles is not so deadly among children over two years of age. There is absolutely no necessity for any disease to spread through a family. When such a thing does occur it advertises the lack of proper measures for the protection of the young and susceptible members of the family.

Easter Styles In Fifth Avenue Shops

By IDAH M'GLONE GIBSON. New York, April 4.—After seeing the wonderful Karzman exhibit of importations, I can make these authoritative statements:

Sailor hats will be much wider of rim and higher of crown than those of last year, a new sailor which rolls at one side promising to be popular. Shoes and hats must match gowns; stockings may match or aid the general effect.

Parasols will be carried more this summer than at any time since the mid-Victorian era. The crowns of the hats go soaring—many of them being over 12 inches high.

Dresses for the street are at most only six inches from the ground. Skirts are much narrower than they were last year. Much plaiting is used in skirts. The most popular materials for street and day gowns are serge, georgette crepe, satin and Jersey. Georgette crepe is combined with each of the other materials and sometimes you see it with both serge and satin in the same costume.

Positively no high collars! Afternoon gowns are so décolleté that you can scarcely tell whether they were for night or day wear except that they have long sleeves. Nature colors—the soft red, blue, purple and yellow you see in summer skies, the green of the trees and the grass and sand color—will be the favorites.

Black with white polka dots for those who like them. Perhaps combined with bright colors is perhaps the most popular of all combinations in gowns.

Bismarck Women to Form Auxilliary to Co. A.

The patriotic women of Bismarck have called a meeting for Friday afternoon in Commercial club hall to organize an auxiliary to Company A. The women of the capital city are enthusiastic over the movement and it is expected that a large representation of the women will respond to the call to make it one of the largest auxiliaries in the state. Nearly every city of importance in the state has an auxiliary to the various companies and have worked faithfully to aid the soldier boys. Grand Forks and Fargo have large auxiliaries doing active work for some time. The call to arms of the second battalion and the ready response of the boys of Company A, has aroused the capital city women to action. The invitation is extended to any woman of the city wishing to aid in work for the soldiers. Capt. A. B. Welch and Mayor A. W. Lucas are co-operating with the women and expect to be present at the meeting Friday, which will be called at 3 o'clock. Capt. Welch is in favor

MANY CHANGES MADE IN STATE OFFICES BY FRAZIER APPOINTEES

New Members of Boards of Education and Health and Oil and Hotel Inspectors on Job

Many changes in state boards result from appointments made by Governor Frazier becoming effective yesterday. A list of the new appointees and the names of those whom they succeed follow: Superintendent state board of health for term of two years—Dr. C. J. McGurran, Devils Lake, succeeding himself. Vice president state board of health for term of two years—A. M. Call, Rugby, succeeding himself. Members of state board of education—Fred W. Smith, president state school of forestry at Bottineau, succeeding R. M. Black, president normal and industrial school at Ellendale; A. G. Crane, president Minot normal, succeeding George A. MacFarland, president of Valley City normal; C. E. Cavette, Lisbon, superintendent of Ransom county schools, succeeding Minnie J. Nielson, superintendent of schools in Barnes county; A. A. Whittemore of Bowman, succeeding H. M. Taber of Jamestown.

of the movement and has expressed his desire to aid in the organization. Among those interested in the movement are Mrs. Peter Reid, Mrs. D. McPhee, Mrs. J. A. Flow and Mrs. C. O. Uiness. The gown in question was a Bullox model of sand-colored crepe and midnight blue satin. The lower part of the dress was of dark satin and the upper part was of Georgette crepe of sand color. The crepe was attached to the skirt a few inches below the belt. (This "moyen age" effect is seen in many of the dresses by Jenny and Bullox.) The coat for this costume was a two-thirds length and of sand satin embroidered with blue. With the costume was worn a large sand color sailor hat slightly turned up on one side and trimmed with an ostrich feather roll and pompons of the same color. "Many coats and dresses," said Mr. Kurzman, "show the lining of the coat in the same color and material as the trimmings on the dress." One of the most original conceits was sent me from Marguerite & Leonie; a black satin hat and scarf, embroidered in cross stick wool, embroidery, in colors, roses and leaves. Chanel sends a black satin gown with white polka dots and long coat of black satin lined with material of the dress. With this will be worn one of the immensely tall hats. From the tip of the wings to the bottom of the brim this hat is over a foot tall. "It will be seen that the skirts are much longer and rather narrow. For street the 'surprise' dress will have great vogue. This is a gown with a light colored Georgette top and dark colored satin skirt and for the street a satin coat reaching below the Georgette crepe top. This gown and coat will take the place of the omnipresent blouse and skirt which we have had so many years."

DRINK HOT WATER IF YOU DESIRE A ROSY COMPLEXION Says we can't help but look better and feel better after an inside bath. To look one's best and feel one's best, is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body. If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus clearing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach. Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphate hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is, rapidly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.
