FRENCH TROOPS ENVY CAMP OF U. S. REGIMENTS

Major General Siebert Makes First Official Inspection of American Quarters

ADMIRERS TAKE INSIGNIA FROM SOLDIERS' UNIFORMS

Harness and Trappings of Horses Sources of Constant Admiration

GERMANS FORCE RUSSIANS.

Berlin, July 20.—German troops have pushed forward through three strong Russian zones of defenses between Sereth and Zlota-Lipa rivers in eastern Galicia, says today's official statement.

American Training Camp in France, July 20.—By the Associated Press.—Major General William L. Siebert went through his entire camp today on the first official inspection tour he has made.

As the entire army is divided into squads, the majority of which are billeted out with the inhabitants of the district, the task of inspection was a tremendous one and could be accomplished only by the amazing activity of the general, who almost ran his staff off their legs and set a pace obviously stiff for the youngest of the men.

Here and there he found lack of cleanliness and proper sanitation, which he ordered rectified. Occasionally also, in passing in front of the troops lined up for his examination, he found time to stop and exchange a word and ask questions.

The inspection trip began at 7:30 o'clock in the morning for the general is an early riser, and at noon he returned to his headquarters only long enough to snatch a hasty luncheon and started again.

General Siebert noted that many soldiers were without the regulation bronze button bearing the letters U. S., which is worn on the collar. Investigation showed that some of the men had actually lost the insignia, while others had thoughtlessly given their buttons away to admirers.

Yesterday an American corporal opened a barber shop in an abandoned quarters of a one time French barber who is now at the front. Almost immediately the American cornered virtually all the trade in town.

They express wonder at the huge number of soldiers among the American troops who carry pistols. They admire also the new harness and the trappings of horses and mules, and envy every American soldier their comfortable cots and sleeping equipment.

HONORABLE TERMINATION OF WAR GERMANY'S DESIRE, MICHAELIS TELLS PARTIES IN FIRST SPEECH

Copenhagen, July 20.—Chancellor Michaelis, in a speech in the reichstag, said that Germany would not continue the war a day longer if it could obtain an honorable peace.

"The burning question in our hearts, however, is how much longer the war is to last. With this I come to a matter which stands in the center of all our interests, and all our proceedings today.

Board to Handle Food Situation Definitely Decided Upon by Senate

FIGHT IS KEPT UP UPON HERBERT HOOVER

But Friends in Senate Are Able to Defeat His Opponents

Washington, D. C., July 20.—The administration food control bill has approached final form in the senate.

Under the limited debate agreement, the senate approved, 60 to 16, an amendment drafted at joint conferences of democratic and republican leaders to hurry government control of foods, feeds and fuels, including kerosene and gasoline and vest the administrative authority in three salaried members instead of a single individual.

APPORTION 209 FOR SERVICE FROM BURLEIGH

Richland county, with 127, has the largest number of credits of any county in North Dakota, according to a compilation of quotas and credits completed in the adjutant general's office last evening.

Partisan lines were erased in today's voting. The name of Herbert Hoover was frequently brought into the discussion and although the senate voted for a food commission instead of a single administrator, it rejected by overwhelming vote amendments proposed by Senator Reed, who has assailed Mr. Hoover bitterly, designed to prevent him from serving.

The amendment limiting the necessities for government control and providing for the food board, was accepted after many futile attempts to name other articles for government regulation. The senators voting against the substitute were:

During a recurrence of the controversy over Herbert Hoover's appointment, an amendment under which Mr. Hoover would be specifically designated as food administrator was introduced by Mr. Jones of Washington, who declared around Mr. Hoover and that the senate "should definitely decide if it wants him appointed."

Senator Knox protested that by naming a man the senate would be assuming the functions of the president, contrary to the constitution. Senator Jones then withdrew his amendment, but Senator Shafroth re-offered it with Mr. Hoover's name left out. Speeches supporting it were made by Senator Borah and others, but it was voted down 63 to 10.

W. D. Austin, for many years deputy insurance commissioner and one of the best known insurance men in the northwest, today tendered his resignation to Insurance Commissioner Olson with a view to accepting Aug. 1 the executive secretaryship of the North Dakota Mercantile Mutual Insurance company, whose home offices are at Fargo.

Numbers Drawn

All plans laid for drawing were kicked over at the last moment, owing to errors in the registration books. It was decided to abandon the master key and draw out 10,000 serial numbers, which would apply in every county of the nation or draft district.

These numbers were flashed to the states as quickly as they could be tabulated. The Tribune posted two men at the adjutant general's office, compiling the names of the men drawn in this section of the state. Lists from only 13 counties were available, however. The results are given below.

The Tribune has given the name where the record was available. But these numbers apply uniformly in every county of the state. If your name does not appear, just look for your number and that will denote whether you have been drafted to appear before the examining board. The fact that your name has been drawn does not mean you will be selected for actual service. You must submit to a rigid physical examination and the matter of exemption will be carefully gone into.

THOUSAND OF NUMBERS DRAWN TO DETERMINE WHO SHALL BE CALLED TO MILITARY SERVICE

Washington, July 20.—The lottery fixed order of liability for military service of the ten million men registered for the war began at 9:49 o'clock this morning. Tonight every man will know whether he is among the first 1,370,000 to be called for local exemption boards.

From the 1,370,000 the board's are to select 687,000 for America's first draft army of 500,000 and to fill up vacancies in the National Guard and the regular army.

In a committee room of the Senate building with representatives of the press present, War Department officials and members of the Senate and House military committees began the drawing of 10,500 slips bearing numbers corresponding with the serial number of each registrant in the country.

Secretary Baker was the first man to withdraw a capsule-enclosed slip from a great glass bowl. Blindfolded he drew number 258. In every registered district in which are as many men as 258 are registered, No. 258 heads the list of those to be called.

Chairman Chamberlain of the Senate military committee blindfolded and plainly nervous, drew a capsule. "The second number is 2,522," the announcer shouted.

It was unofficially estimated that approximately one million men were represented in the first 1,000 numbers which were drawn by 11:30 o'clock, a little over an hour and a half after the drawing began.

In the first thousand numbers drawn, there were 270 numbers which affected the normal district of 3,000 registrants. Applying this to the entire county, these 2,700 serial numbers below 3,000 should designate approximately one million two-hundred thousand names.
