

RAID ON HIGH SCHOOL NETS GOLD WATCH AND ONE PINT OF ALCOHOL

A gold watch which a teacher had left in her desk and a pint of grain alcohol used in the chemical laboratory for scientific purposes was the net loot of a bandit raid made on the Bismarck high school by amateur bad men who bored holes through tin doors of three rooms, thrust their hands through the apertures thus made and turned the knob of the night lock from the inside.

Supt. J. M. Martin has placed the facts in the hands of the police. Chief Martineson reports no developments to date. The marauders evidently took their time and made themselves at home, as cigarette butts were freely scattered about the rooms which they invaded. The bandits visited the library, the chemical laboratory and one of the class rooms.
