

MADE MEN THINK IS NORTHCLIFFE SUMMARY OF WAR

Most Interesting Result of Struggle Believes English Publisher

WAS GREAT PROPAGANDA

"Little Willie" Said Germans Would Have Won Briton's Help

BY FRANK W. ROSTOCK, Editor Cincinnati Post, N. E. A. Correspondent in Europe.

London, Feb. 10.—Lord Northcliffe, publisher of several of England's great newspapers, is a blunt, plain-spoken man. He is a close student of current history, knows as much, if not more about the social and industrial development of his country than any other man, and as for politics, is so well versed in every phase of every development that politicians always consider the Northcliffe angle before committing themselves.

Therefore it was not surprising when England wanted a man to direct its war propaganda in enemy countries, it selected Northcliffe to do the job.

DID A GOOD JOB

That he did a good job, no one can deny. Hundreds of Germans told me during my visit in that country, that the Northcliffe-prepared propaganda was one of the biggest factors in bringing the war to a close and causing the defeat of Germany.

"If Germany had had Northcliffe as its chief propagandist during the war, Germany would have won," said the crown prince to me when I visited him in Wieringen recently.

And here is the reply Northcliffe made to the compliment:

"I agree with him to the extent that I believe Germany would have had a better chance, if I had been handling her propaganda. For, in that case, the crown prince wouldn't have had the job he did—and that would have helped Germany's cause a whole lot."

"What has been the most interesting result of the war?" I asked Northcliffe, after he had welcomed me to his office in Printing House Square.

HAS MADE MEN THINK

"It has made men think," he answered justly and emphatically. "The doctrine of democracy, which was preached during the war, has had its effect."

SAW LINCOLN SHOT AND HELPED CHASE AND KILL BOOTH

WYOMING PIONEER, 100 YEARS Old, Does Not Need Glasses

Cody, Wyo., Feb. 10.—Peter Perrin, 100 years old, who was in the audience at Ford's theatre at the national capital the night when John Wilkes Booth assassinated President Lincoln, and who came to Wyoming as a settler during the days when this state was part of the Dakota territory, was a Cody visitor recently.

Mr. Perrin, or, as his friends prefer to call him, "Old Peter," enjoys nothing more than to relate tales of the frontier days—days when he came west to help lay the steel for the Union Pacific and to aid in the construction of Fort Steele. He has not yet been compelled to resort to the use of glasses in reading, and to all outward appearances possesses much of his mental and physical vigor.

Mr. Perrin was a member of the posse which chased Booth out through the stage entrance of the Ford theatre, and later killed him after he had surrounded in a barn in Virginia. He was also a soldier in the Union army during the civil war.

MONTANA'S SPRING CAMPAIGN IS TAME

Helena, Mont., Feb. 10.—The recent decision of the state supreme court automatically restoring the original primary law, has reduced the spring campaign to insignificance.

Only delegates to the national convention will be named April 23, when the people will express their preference for president. Under the amendment, all candidates would have been named at this convention. As it is, the candidates other than those for delegates will go before the people in the primary in August.

Thus, the campaign of 1920, which had to begin in February, will be delayed until August and will not get warm until September, to judge from previous experience.

As one result of the primary decision, there is a movement to initiate a law revoking all primary acts and restoring the old time convention system.

DEMPSEY'S PART DURING WAR MAY LEAD TO ARREST

Federal Agents Investigating Fighter's Draft Exemption Records

MAY LAND BEHIND BARS

Claimed Dependency Because of Wife from Whom He Was Separated

N. E. A. Staff Special. Washington, Feb. 10.—Photographic copies of the questionnaire and other draft records of William Harrison Dempsey, better known as "Jack" Dempsey, prize fighter, are now in the possession of officials of the Department of Justice, who are investigating the circumstances by which Dempsey was given a deferred draft rating and was thus able to escape military service during the war.

Others records held by the department in connection with the case include photographic copies of an affidavit by R. D. Goodman, of St. Louis, stating that he had assisted in filling out Dempsey's questionnaire and had advised with Dempsey as to how to proceed in inducing his wife, from whom he was separated, to swear that he had been supporting her.

Officials also have a copy of a letter setting out in even more detail than the Goodman affidavit the steps by which Mrs. Dempsey is alleged to have been induced to support the fighter's claim for exemption. This letter states that a lump sum of $200 was paid Mrs. Dempsey through Dempsey's father, and the promise was made of further and substantial payments.

THE OFFENSE IN WHICH THESE RECORDS tend to involve Dempsey is punishable by imprisonment of from 30 days to one year, an official of the Department of Justice said today. Most of the convictions of draft evaders to date have brought sentences of between three and six months.

NEVER CLASSIFIED "In cases where evasion constitutes desertion from the army," this official said, "it is even punishable by death. But the finding of desertion only holds in those cases where men have evaded service after being classified as A-1 men and ordered to report at camp."

"Dempsey never was classified for service. The offense alleged against him, which is that the department is investigating, is that in order to escape a classification that would have made him liable for military service he falsified in the answers to his questionnaire and conspired with others to secure the signature of his wife, from whom he was separated, to a false statement as to her dependency."

STARK COUNTY PROUD OF WORK DONE ON ROADS

Results of Honest Effort Shown on Splendidly Improved Highways

Dickinson, N. D., Feb. 10.—More effective road work was done in Stark county during the year than in any similar period in the county's history. As a result forty miles of new turnpike, 32 feet wide, has been constructed principally on the Red Trail, and it is said to be the finest strip of highway west of Mandan; 66 miles of Stark county roads have been trimmed and dressed, and there is hardly a mile of highway in the county which has not received some attention. The season's operations also included the construction of sixteen bridges, at an average cost of $260.

This season the commission will give the Red Trail further attention, and this transcontinental highway will be graveled where necessary. Two ton trucks have been purchased from the war department, and these will be used in hauling cinders and gravel. This work is receiving the active support of the Dickinson Automobile association and of all the county farm organizations.

FORMER BLOOM ORGAN BALKING ON REV. TOTTEN

Deviis Lake Journal Insists That Townley School Head Resign as Agreed

The board of administration muddle appears to have cost the administration another supporter among the daily press of the state. The Devils Lake Journal, which with John H. Bloom at the helm was one of Frazier's loyalist defenders, recently became the property of Milford H. Graham, and it declares its independence in a lead editorial carried last Saturday headed:

"WHEN DOES TOTTEN GO?"

The Journal says: "The charge in the Grand Forks Herald that the state board of administration, especially its chairman, George Totten, Sr., is endeavoring to oust President T. E. Kane of the state university on alleged charges of immorality has something of a sinister flavor to it in view of certain things that transpired regarding Totten at the last special session of the legislature at Bismarck."

"It will be recalled that when the special legislative committee investigated alleged 'red' books in the state library, the board of administration was forced to fire Librarian Stangeland, who held himself responsible for the presence of the books in the library. In speaking to a member of the investigating committee after the report was read and accepted by the assembly, we were informed that not only would Stangeland be fired, but that after the first of the year Totten would also resign."

This, as we understood it, seemed to have been tacitly agreed upon between the majority and minority members of the investigating committee. We asked a minority member of the committee why the committee did not ask Totten to resign at that time, and he told us that rather than do anything that perhaps would ruin his future reputation, the committee thought the easier method would be to wait until the first of the year, when he would resign his office."

"Those of us who dislike attitude regarding school matters and his methods of conducting the board of administration have been expecting every day since the first of the year to hear of his resignation as head of the board, pursuant to promises alleged to have been made during the session. But we have been doomed to disappointment."

"And the fact that he pipes up solemnly in Grand Forks in an alleged attempt to seek the removal of the president of the university—as reported by the Herald—comes as a shock to some who have peculiar notions of where 'official earnings' ought to begin. If there were sufficient reasons during the session for the removal of Totten there are still the same sufficient reasons as it has not developed that he has reformed one jot or tittle as regards his methods of conducting the affairs of his office. We do not know what the merits of the case against the board of administration has against President Kane, but we do know that the board would do well to be sweeping off its own front doorstep before it attempts to clean others'."

ACT QUICKLY

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in time of danger. In time of kidney danger, Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective. Ask your neighbor? Plenty of Bismarck evidence of their worth.

Clayton W. Ferguson, 608 3rd Ave. Bismarck says: "A year ago I had trouble with my kidneys. They were weak at times and I seemed to have no control over the kidney secretions. My back bothered me, especially at night and I was stiff and lame. I had been doing some extra hard work and I blame that for the start of my trouble. I happened to read about Doan's Kidney Pills and got two boxes at Breslow's Drug Store. Doan's soon ended by trouble and I have felt better in every way since taking the treatment. I am pleased to give Doan's my endorsement."

List of Instructions for Patients Issued by Dr. F. R. Smyth

In view of the innumerable cures and near cures recommended to people ill with influenza and bad colds, Dr. F. R. Smyth of the United States public health service with headquarters here has issued the following suggestions prepared by the Academy of Medicine has the best set of rules to observe by those suffering from this disease.

If you feel sick all over, with chills, feverishness and headache, perhaps with a cold in the head or throat, you are probably getting influenza.

Go to bed, and until you can get a doctor do these things:

- 1. Take castor oil or a good dose of salts to move the bowels.
2. Keep reasonably, but not too well covered, and keep fresh air in the room; best by opening a window at the top.
3. Take only simple, plain food, such as milk soups, gruels or porridge, or any cereals, and bread and butter, and any kind of broth, or mashed potatoes; also eggs, but not more than two a day. Do not take any meat or any wine, beer, whiskey or other spirits unless you are ordered to by the doctor.
4. Do not get up unless it is absolutely necessary, and then do not walk about and expose yourself to cold, so as to avoid getting pneumonia, or bronchitis, and do not go about in bare feet.
5. Do not take any medicine unless ordered by a doctor.
6. Do not cough or sneeze in the faces of other people.
7. You should drink plenty of plain water all through the sickness.
8. Stay in bed until you have no fever and are feeling much better. Stay in the house two or three days longer.
9. If you are not much better, or practically well, in two or three days call a doctor if you have not done so already.
