G. P. Wolf, assistant county agent leader, led in the sweet clover discussion. He discussed the method of purchasing and distributing the seed, which is being done largely through country agents, and the best system of planting and carrying for the crop.

STATE STREET CAR LINE HIT BY ROBINSON

Chief Justice Sees in it Horrible Example of Public Ownership

CALLS FOR A REMEDY

The state street car line from the business section of Bismarck to the capital, which has been out of commission since March 4, when the legislative session ended, is held up as a "horrible example" of public ownership by Justice J. E. Robinson.

Discussing the car line in his Saturday Evening Letter Justice Robinson said: "Public ownership—what do you know of it; what of the one mile and one car street railway which has been out of commission for two months, and what of the blind caravan, fit only to carry hogs to market, used to replace the car and to carry fair lady employees to and from the capitol? On the caravan, and on the car when again put in operation, there should be painted in large letters: 'This is Public Ownership.' Where is the Governor, the Industrial Commission, the board of Administration? What are they doing? Why is there no public efficiency? Why is there no person or board to look after the affairs of the state as promptly and efficiently as corporate managers look after their own affairs?"

Justice Robinson says such a condition would not be tolerated in a privately-owned utility by the public. Urging action he says: "In the Battle of the Nile Lord Nelson said: 'England expects every man to do his duty.' And every man did it. So in the battle of the public welfare the Commander in Chief should see that every man does his duty. There should be no drifting or let alone policy. With a James J. Hill as commander of the state forces, every man would do his duty or walk the plank. If a street car failed to run on time, he would know the reason why. Never would he think of permitting the driver of a street car to charge employees for going to and from their work. That is a penny wise and pound foolish policy. Indeed, it is a small, mean, contemptible graft. It is in line with the business of a pickpocket. It filches from every one a part of his salary. If it be continued, I will vote for the recall."

The Tolley bank deposits amounted to about $350,000.

Funds realized from the liquidation of the Tolley bank will be applied to payment of depositors.

Change in Time. The commission decided on a change in time of assessing banks. The annual payment, heretofore collected as of July 1, will be payable next October. YOUNG'S BILL BRINGS FIGHT FROM MINORITY

Emergency Measure Designed to Protect Farmers Against Canadian Dumping

ACTION SENDS WHEAT UP

Likelihood of Measure Becoming Law Causes Sharp Rise in Wheat Prices

Chicago, April 16.—Passage of the emergency tariff bill by the national house of representatives sent all grain futures sky-rocketing at the opening of the Chicago Board of Trade today. Most strength was shown in the July position with wheat 21-2 cents corn a full cent, and oats a half cent higher. The market continued strong on forecasts of freezing temperature in the wheat belt and official reports showing depleted crop prospects in France and Argentina. A sharp rally at the close sent prices to the high point of the day with May practically 6 cents higher at $1.25 and July 2-3 cents higher at $1.08-3-4 to $1.09.

Washington, April 16.—Republican leaders, supported by all except eight of their party and by 15 Democrats, pushed the Young emergency tariff and anti-dumping bill through the house late yesterday. The vote was 278 to 112, with two members voting present. The measure was introduced by Rep. Young of North Dakota.

Passage of the measure came at the end of a stormy session during which a handful of Democrats aided by a few Republicans had harassed the leaders of the Republican side persistently for more than four hours. Charges that the Republicans bowed to the dictation of the senate were hurled not only by Representative Garrett, Tennessee, acting Democratic leader, but nesse, acting Democratic leader, but by two Republicans as well.

Battle Continued. The battle was later continued when Representative Mondell, Wyoming, Republican floor leader, announced a plan for the house to meet Saturday afternoon to receive a report from the immigration committee. This was objected to by Mr. Garrett, who said the Republican members of the immigration committee had acted without first having organized their committee. Democratic committee members had not been selected. Mr. Garrett asserted, urging that the report, said to be on the immigration restriction bill, be delayed until the Democrats have a chance to see it. After half a dozen exchanges, Mr. Mondell agreed to wait and the house adjourned until Monday.

Heated discussion marked the tariff debate which revealed a wide split in the Texas delegation. Several Louisiana members also supported the tariff program.

Democracy's Vote Aye. The discussion was particularly pointed when Representative Connelly, Democrat, Texas, chided his colleague, Representative Hudspeth, for "deserting his party."

Besides Mr. Hudspeth, the roll call showed the following Democrats voting for the tariff: Harris, Blanton and Jones of Texas; Dupre, Favron, Martin and Lazaro of Louisiana; Smithwick, Georgia; Taylor, Colorado; Lea, California; Clark, Florida; Campbell, Pennsylvania; Lankford, Georgia; and Deal, Virginia.

Republicans voting against the bill included: Stafford, Wise, Tinkham, Massachusetts; Perlmann, Volk, Ryan and Siegel of New York; Luice, Massachusetts; and Keller, Michigan.

Follows Senate Orders. Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee precipitated the charges of senate dictation when he declared the senate would accept no changes in the bill as it was passed last session, not so much as "a crossing of a 't' or the dotting of an 'i'."

These are instructions," he added. Mr. Newton, who had the floor, retorted that he would not "surrender judgment and intellect both" on the question on which he felt he was right "senate orders notwithstanding."

"I don't propose to have the house accept the dictation of the other body," he exclaimed.

Tries to Smooth Waters. Representative Mann, Republican, Illinois, attempted to smooth the troubled waters, but the Democrats kept up a running fire of wit and sarcasm during the rest of the debate.

Mr. Fordney's earlier declaration that no amendment could be attached was followed by the Republicans who downed every attempt to make changes. Republicans who sought to amend the bill were disposed with the same celerity as Democrats, and the bill now goes to the senate.

The bill as passed by the house is practically identical with the Fordney measure vetoed in the last Congress by President Wilson. Protection would be given a number of agricultural products, including wheat, cotton, raw wool, corn, cattle and sheep.

The bill will be operative for only six months instead of the 10 provided for in the Fordney measure.

The anti-dumping provisions were not included in the Fordney measure.
