

FORTIETH YEAR

BISMARCK, NORTH DAKOTA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 11, '21

PRICE FIVE CENTS

DESCRIBES HOW BURLEIGH CAN BOOST DAIRYING

Max Morgan Who Organized New Salem Dairy Circuit Tour Outlines Idea

PROPOSES FINANCE PLAN Three Year Loans with Monthly Payments is Plan Proposed For Buying Stock

Max Morgan, livestock specialist of the state agricultural college, who organized the new Salem dairy tour has given at the request of the editor of the Tribune, two articles outlining methods by which Burleigh county can develop the New Salem plan. The first of two articles appears herewith.

The Bismarck Rotary club will be the first Rotarian Club in the United States to inaugurate a plan for importing dairy animals into their country. If the plan is fully carried out.

The farmers of Burleigh County, who are interested in dairying, are awaiting with great interest and expectation for the approval of such a plan by the Rotary Club or some other such organization in the county, because they realize that the dairy cow is going to be their salvation. Likewise dairying for some of the grocermen, the drygoods men, the baker and banker during the coming year and those years that are yet to follow.

Never in the states history has the interest in dairying been so keenly aroused as right now and never has the price on dairy cows been so favorable as at present. With a shortage of feed in the dairy districts of this state, Minnesota and Wisconsin together with the surplus of good stock which has not been sold due to a lack of financial assistance, the best type of dairy animals are offered at a very reasonable figure. Taking into consideration the good work that the Rotarian Club has already done for the betterment of Bismarck, the community for purchasing dairy stock will probably be the greatest monument to the rotary club of all its work and they will be able to look back to this step as the most constructive movement that their minutes report. Such a plan has been worked out, similar to those already in progress in several states which is as follows:

What the Rotary Club could do. The Bismarck Rotary Club could, by its present organization, originate a budget, either by subscription or by issuing shares, to finance farmers in purchasing the best means of a livelihood on the farm today—the dairy cow. This budget could be used for a period of several years, turning the money over and over as quickly as payments are made. Interest at 6 percent, and payments made monthly. A mortgage on the animal and the progeny would be held by the club or its agent until the animal is fully paid for.

An explanation of the plan would necessitate too many details, but in a concise way it may be stated that this plan has three distinctive advantages for an investor:

First—The principal decreases each month.

Second—The security increases each month.

Third—The mortgage on the progeny, as well as the animal makes the security stronger as each new calf is produced.

Interest Seems Low The interest of 6 percent seems low and that is actually what it would cost the farmer, but where enough money is turned back on each month's payment, this could be used for financing another carload of animals and the principal would again go to work and make more interest for the investor. A change in the plan, if necessary, as the plan is made elastic enough for such changes. The monthly payments may be explained by taking the actual cost of the animal, $150.00 (prices are much lower at present); the interest for three years, $27.00; and a monthly payment of $3.00, and a monthly payment of $5.00 per animal is what would be due. As stated before, dairy stock can be purchased much under this price at the present time, but these figures are easy to understand. How Plan Has Worked This plan has been worked in several other states where it has been very successful to both parties. Upon a recent visit to Marquette, Wisconsin, the writer found that the town organization had just unloaded three more carloads of dairy cows for their farmers, which made their total business for the sixteen months, under this plan, amount to more than $52,000. In 1915 the output of dairy products in this county amounted to $250,000 per year, in 1917 the output of dairy products amounted to $1,000,000 per year, and for 1920 they ran between one and one-half to two million dollars. What a great opportunity is offered the Bismarck Rotarians to "carry on" with their motto of "Service Before Self" by starting this budget and going through to the completion of the plan. The farmers of Burleigh county are awaiting their action.

VOLUMINOUS LEGISLATIVE REPORTS ARE COMPLETED FOR CAMPAIGN USE

Reports on Investigation, Bishop-Brissman Report and Other Material in the Journals Are Completed and Part Have Been Distributed — Bishop-Brissman Report Printed in One Journal as Result of Difference of Opinion Over House Instructions.

Copies of volume two of the House Journal are now ready for distribution. This completes the journal of the last day for that branch of the legislature. Volume two of the Senate Journal will also be in State Auditor Poindexter's hands this week. This contains the Bishop-Brissman report.

With these two volumes off the press all the data incorporated in the journal is available to the people of the state well ahead of the proposed recall election.

There is a remaining volume of the Senate Journal to be issued, but this is a duplication of the house matter as the senate incorporated every document germane to the legislative process into the state industries.

The house record being confused, the Bishop-Brissman report on state industries will not appear in the house journal, but will appear only in the senate journal. Those desiring to see this report will have to procure copies from State Auditor Poindexter, it will not be available in the volumes distributed by Thomas Hall, secretary of state, who is charged with the distribution of the House Journals.

Representative Grangaard's contention and the record generally indicate that the house members intended to have the Bishop-Brissman report printed in their own journal. Speaker Twichell, however, vetoed the publication of the report in the house journal opposing it in no uncertain terms.

Mr. Grangaard who put the motion to have the data included in the journal of the last day has protested vigorously to state officials and others against the exclusion of the Bishop-Brissman report from the house journal.

The issue between the house leaders left the printing commission and state printer completely in the dark and as the Bishop-Brissman report is made available to the people of the state through the senate record, it was decided by the Tribune company not to include the Bishop-Brissman report as a part of house record.

The Tribune is making this statement in fairness to everyone concerned and to those house members who failed to find the Bishop-Brissman report in the record of their house. Failure to print it was merely due to the vagueness of the house instructions authorizing the printing of the proceedings of the legislative investigations in the operation of state owned industries.

All type in connection with this historical record is being held by the Tribune and any one desiring reprints for circulation can secure quotations by addressing the Job Printing Department.

The compiling, editing and printing of the journals is an enormous task. A total of 31,000 volumes are being printed, each volume averaging 600 to 700 pages. There are 10,000 volumes of the house journal and 21,000 volumes of the senate journal.

The first senate volume was issued first because of some delay occasioned by varying interpretation over house instructions.

By Newspaper Enterprise New York, Aug. 11.—The Rockefeller Foundation is mobilizing an army of fish. The fish will fight malaria in the south. Cows will aid the fish. And through them both, with some human cooperation, the foundation expects to rid the south of malaria. George E. Vincent, president of the foundation, explains it thus: "Mosquitoes spread malaria. Mosquitoes breed through eggs laid on the water. Fish—top minnows—eat these eggs. Therefore more top minnows fewer mosquitoes, less malaria. "Because the mosquitoes are inclined to seek refuge from the minnows by laying their eggs in grass along the banks, we have cows grazing this grass. "The fish-cow antidote for malaria was tried out in Hinds county, Mississippi, last year with a resultant reduction of 76.7 per cent in malaria. The foundation spent nearly $1,000,000 last year fighting mosquitoes and hookworm, the causes of malaria and pellagra. Movies are being used to educate people in eradicating the hookworm."

Special Grand Jury Summoned in Special Session to Probe Murder Mystery

BURCH IS STILL HELD

Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 11.—Fifteen persons were named by the district attorney's office today as under subpoena to testify before the Los Angeles county grand jury summoned in special session today in regard to the slaying of John Belton Kennedy.

It was intimated others would be called whose names were kept secret up to the time the jury convened. It was not planned, District Attorney Woolwine said, to call Arthur C. Burch, of Evanston, Ill., who is being held on a charge of suspicion of murder or Mrs. Madalyne Obenchain, Kennedy's companion when he was shot in front of his cottage at Beverly Hills last Friday night. The district attorney said the jury would be asked to indict but would not specify the number of indictments to be asked. The witnesses named were: Mrs. M. Louise Wilson, a manicurist said to have been a confidante of Mrs. Obenchain; John D. Kennedy, father of the slain man, who testified at the inquest that Mrs. Obenchain had begged his son to marry her; T. M. Haley, manager of a downtown hotel where Burch occupied a room for two weeks prior to the slaying, the window of which was nearly opposite of that Kennedy occupied as insurance broker; A. M. Niles, a night clerk at the hotel who told the Deputy Sheriff that Burch was the noted Friday night with a long package under his arm and returned without it; Dick Parsons, proprietor of an automobile rental establishment from which the district attorney's office rented a car Friday night. Lynn Keith, night manager of the Parsons place. Deputy Sheriff John Cronin who made the first investigation and questioned Mrs. Obenchain at the scene of the shooting; sheriff deputies Nolan and Bright, who brought Burch from Las Vegas, Nevada where he had been arrested on a trial bond from Los Angeles to Chicago last Saturday; Otis M. Wiles, reporter, who found two empty shotgun shells near the Kennedy cottage; William D. Murray, an associate of Kennedy's; mother of the slain man, and others.

LABOR AGENT IS REMOVED

Too Friendly with I. W. W., Charge Against Him

Allegations that Hale Smith, in charge of the state federal labor employment office at Oakes, was negligent in his duties and fraternized with the I. W. W. at Oakes, have resulted in his removal from the Oakes office. Citizens of Oakes held a meeting Saturday night, according to information received here, and asked that he be removed. Mrs. Bowe, of the Fargo labor office, relieved Smith. J. N. Hagan, commissioner of agriculture and labor, in charge of the employment office, said he approved of her action. Mr. Hagan said it was reported that Smith permitted laborers to play cards in the employment office and answer the telephone during his absence. Mr. Hagan said he asked the U. S. employment director at Kansas City to remove Smith to another state. Smith being on the federal pay-roll.

PRIEST'S BODY FOUND; REVEALS BRUTAL MURDER

Tip Given Through Woman Results in Finding of Body Buried Near Ocean

INFORMANT BEING HELD

Claimed Woman Told Him That She Learned of Fact During Drinking Escapade

San Francisco, Aug. 11.—A search of the room occupied by W. A. Hightower, a baker, who last night led the police to the grave of Rev. Patrick Heslin, missing priest, revealed a rifle, pieces of bloody burlap and clippings from local newspapers showing the amount of the reward offered for the priest's return. The police said they would convene a show-up at once with their findings.

San Francisco, Aug. 11.—The body of Father Patrick Heslin, missing Colma, Catholic priest, who disappeared from his parish was found buried at the bottom of a sandcliff near Salada Beach on the Pacific Ocean about 20 miles south of San Francisco last night.

Father Heslin had been murdered, there being a bullet hole through his heart and through the head, the latter shot having torn away part of the skull. The body was exhumed at 11 o'clock last night by a party consisting of Chief of Police Daniel O'Brien, of San Francisco, a constable of Colma, four newspaper men and William A. Hightower, discoverer of the grave. The party left San Francisco late last night acting on a tip given by Hightower that he had discovered the grave and the body was exhumed by the light of a lantern.

Hightower, after his clue had proven successful, was held by the police pending further investigation. The body was buried in a cramped position in a trench beneath an overhanging wall. It lay parallel and against it and was covered with two feet of loose sand.

Hightower, according to the police, said he acted upon a clue given him by one "Dolly Mason" whom he had previously known in Salt Lake City. This woman, he said told him last Sunday that she had met a man who appeared to be a foreigner on Friday night and who, on becoming intoxicated, had made revelations to her.

Police are searching for Dolly Mason. "The foreigner," Dolly Mason told Hightower, "had shown her a revolver and when she pretended to shrink from it in fear he said: "You do right to be afraid of that gun. It has taken human life." Dolly Mason then asked where the man was buried. Hightower said: "He isn't alone," the foreigner is still to be had.

"I've a man waiting him all the time—a man who sits and cooks flapjacks." At times the foreigner, Dolly Mason told Hightower, expressed hatred for the Catholic church.

Hightower, acting on the information given him by the woman said he conducted a personal investigation and being somewhat familiar with Salada Beach vicinity had little difficulty in locating a signboard picturing a man frying flapjacks. He said he then started to find bloody rags and later a .45 revolver cartridge.

FEDERAL OFFICERS CONFISCATE "LARGEST STILL IN NORTHWEST"

(Special to The Tribune.)

Beach, N. D., Aug. 11.—Lee Williams, living 25 miles north of Beach, was arrested by Federal Revenue Officers yesterday afternoon and a copper still of 345 gallon capacity, 550 gallons moonshine and 1,200 gallons mash were seized. Officers say this is the largest still confiscated in the northwest and that the product is of excellent quality. Williams admits making the stuff, officers said. He said that last June the flood had carried away two barrels of whiskey into the Little Missouri and a horse was drowned when he tried to retrieve the stuff before it reached that stream.

Later in the day the same officers raided the farm of William Szudara, five miles east of here and seized two copper stills, two gallons of moonshine and a quantity of mash. After the seizure and while the officers were searching further, Mrs. Szudara raised their auto and before being stopped smashed a jug of booze, officers said. She was also arrested.

$2,000,000 OF 1920 LOSSES ON HAIL NOT PAID

Estimated That at Last Year's Rate Payment Taxes Will be Cleaned up April 1921

TOTAL IS OVER $3,000,000

Approximately $2,000,000 of hail losses of 1920 remain unpaid, it is shown in the records of the office of the state treasurer. Approximately $1,300,000 has been paid out for 1920 hail losses.

Answering inquiries as to probable time of payment of losses allowed to persons in various counties the state treasurer's office has estimated that if the rate of payment and remission of monies is about the same as last year that payments of 1920 hail losses may be completed about April, 1922.

Payments, which were made by counties alphabetically, beginning with Williams county and reversing the usual order, have been made on about 5,000 claims and down to and including part of Mercer county. The counties suffering heaviest losses remain to be paid. The counties and amounts yet to be paid, including Mercer county, part of which has been paid, follow:

Table listing counties and amounts: Mercer $253,418.32, McLean 54,218.99, McKenzie 6,480.51, McIntosh 46,582.51, Miscellaneous 28,340.06, McHenry 14,764.74, Logan 140,010.11, LaMour 291,536.59, Kiddier 21,659.68, Hettinger 73,698.28, Griggs 46,196.53, Grant 54,400.37, Grand Forks 54,400.37, Golden Valley 32,798.96, Foster 39,285.59, Emmons 26,822.20, Dunn 269,921.13, Divide 38,587.58, Dickey 37,311.22, Cavalier 437.50, Cass 58,909.87, Burleigh 17,498.73, Bowman 33,713.25, Burke 34,074.96, Bottineau 81,970.65, Billings 17,775.20, Eddy 46,196.53, Benson 18,812.47, Barnes 60,148.95, Adams 48,704.22, Miscellaneous 116,352.65

The losses yet to be paid have been increased somewhat since the total amount of losses was figured at $3,307,164.62, the state hail insurance department having recently certified to the auditor and treasurer some 1920 claims for payment. Some corrections also have been made in the total where it was found that duplicate warrants had been issued.

The number of hail losses reported this summer exceeds that of this period of last year, having reached 19,000. It is possible, officials say, that the total amount of losses will be less, as many of the claims are for only a small percentage of damage.

SHAPE ISSUES FOR BATTLE AT POLLS IN FALL

Nonpartisan Stand is Expected to be Outlined Here by H. A. Paddock

BOTH SIDES ARE ACTIVE

Bond Sale and Recall Petitions Gives the Campaign in State Early Start

With the announcement that sufficient petitions will be filed to require the calling of a recall election this fall, if the petitions are held valid, political leaders are beginning to more definitely shape the issues of the coming campaign.

The first authoritative statement of the Nonpartisan league stand is expected to be made here Thursday evening, August 18, when it is announced, H. A. Paddock, secretary of the Industrial Commission, will make the principal speech at a public rally to be held at the Odd Fellows hall.

He is expected to discuss the industrial enterprises and the Bank of North Dakota, outlining the position the league will take in the campaign and the issues on which it will go before the voters.

The Nonpartisan league already is engaged in its campaign. The league executive committee is continuing its appeal for a big campaign fund. Attorney General Lemke is covering the southwestern part of the state in a speaking tour, making as many as 12 speeches a day. Governor Frazier is expected to resume his practice of frequent speeches in the state soon after he returns from the west about August 17. Commissioner of Agriculture Hagan will speak at several picnics in the near future.

Nestos on Stamp. R. A. Nestos, Independent candidate for governor, has made speeches in nearly every part of the state. He is expected to begin an intensive speaking program by the first of September, which will carry him into every county in the state before the election.

The preliminary campaign got under way early because Nonpartisan officials coupled their appeal for the sale of bonds with a defense of their program and administration and Mr. Nestos and other Independents coupled their speeches in behalf of the campaign for signatures for recall petitions with attacks on the administration.

Lemke's Tour. Dates for speeches by Attorney General Lemke were announced today as follows: Thursday, Aug. 18—Driscoll, 8 p. m.; Sterling, 7:40 p. m.; McKenzie, 8:30 p. m.; Menoken, 9 p. m. Friday, Aug. 19—Baldwin, 7 p. m.; Wilton (Emmons county), 8 p. m. Saturday, Aug. 20—Britton, 6:30 p. m.; Gates Hall, 7:30 p. m.; Moffit, 8:30 p. m.

OLDEST CHARITY MAKES GOOD

A. I. C. P. Spends Millions To Turn Human Waste Into Human Worth

By Alice Robe

New York, Aug. 11.—Johnny and his mother, his five brothers and sisters lived in a basement room in an east side tenement. "All day the gas burns and our windows are up against a wall. It's so hot we nearly die," said Johnny's mother, transferred from the teeming, airless back from curing her of pneumonia at the hospital.

Then this family was suddenly transferred from the teeming airless tenement to Sea Breeze, the A. I. C. P. home for women and children on Staten Island.

And now you ought to see Johnny and the rest of the family! You would never know them. Nor would you recognize all the other children and women of the tenement, the poor of New York who are rescued and turned into helpful citizens by the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor.

Human waste turned into human worth. Happiness transmuted from misery. Health wrought from disease. Secret of Success. What is the secret to the success of the oldest organized civic charity, which for 77 years has been treating conditions as well as individuals? It's maintaining the family ties—keeping the individual child with the mother, emphasizing the value of the home.

So when Johnny went to Sea Breeze it was with his mother. Of course, all the family got well and strong again. But Johnny and all the other little children and their mothers are not sent away for a mere summer outing. The whole family lift has been watched and studied before they are sent away and they are watched afterward.

No drizzling out of scattered relief. A few cases properly cared for rather than promiscuous, though kindly charity.

And it pays. Every thousand or perhaps one should say every million dollars expended by this organization is repaid to society in better human beings.

Nurses' Work. Helping and teaching the families to live—teaching ventilation, nutrition, sanitation, care of babies—everything comes under the visiting nurses' care. If a dietitian is sent to a house and it is found it will cost $900 to put that family right, the $900 is forthcoming. But the family is supervised and taught to do what is right. "Gee, isn't fresh air good!" said a nine-year-old youngster at Sea Breeze, throwing out his chest. "Just wait till I get back home and you'll see how I work. And look at mother and the baby—"

Fresh air and family ties—self-respect and love of home! "Sure, we're poor—but next year we won't have to take any help—" that's the usual reaction.
