MEETINGS ARE WELL ATTENDED

Many Hear Miss Caffray's Sermons on Sunday

(By L. K. Doran.) Saturday morning the tent for the revival meeting was put in shape for service after the storm of Friday afternoon had made it necessary to be lowered.

The services were held as per announcement both Saturday and Sunday, except the street meeting scheduled for Saturday evening.

The afternoon meetings at 8:00 o'clock are more in the line of praise and prayer service than the evening meeting which is of direct effort to get the unsaved converted and started on the right road of life.

Many persons claim it is impossible to get a large attendance or much interest in a gospel meeting these days in the cities where there is so much else to attract the interest of the people and to distract from religious life.

The solo Saturday night, "Every Bridge is Burned Behind Me," by Miss Beissell was a demonstration of the power of good singing and will be long remembered by those who were fortunate enough to hear it.

The subject was "Holiness," and the text was taken from 2 Cor. 7:1 and the words "cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit perfecting holiness in the fear of God," was particularly stressed.

The statement was made that holiness of heart is obtained but that holiness of character is developed. The inference drawn from the sermon was not only that the life hereafter is insured but the life here and now is worth living and that those who obtain, develop and live a holy life are better members of the family, more desirable neighbors and more loyal and patriotic citizens.

The sermon was full of illustrations from daily life of what the preacher meant by holiness and young people who may have had erroneous views upon this subject and older ones with prejudice had unfolded to them an illustration of the purity and sweetness of a holy life as it should be lived.

The sermon Sunday evening was one of the most forceful so far delivered. The text was taken from part of the twenty-second verse of the twenty-seventh chapter of Matthew and reads, "What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ?"

From this subject as before stated, was delivered the ablest sermon of the series.

A large attendance is expected this evening.
