L. W. Ushaw of Jamestown, who officiated at most of the important high school football games of the season, has placed two Bismarck high school men on his mythical all-state high school eleven, and two other Bismarck men on the second team.

Capt. Scott and Alfson draw the first eleven positions. They also won places on the mythical first team of J. A. Purcell, sporting editor of the Fargo Forum.

Mr. Ushaw, in reviewing the season, praises school officials of the state, stating that "the manner in which they manage their athletics, the place they give to it in school life means much to the very life of our schools and certainly has raised to a much higher level than ever before the program in general."

Mr. Ushaw refers to the Fargo-Bismarck championship game as a great battle in spite of a heavy field.

There are many good quarter-backs on the high school eleven, he says, including O'Keefe of Cavalier, Dunscreau of Lisbon, Halloran of Bismarck, Phillips of Williston and Bobby Rusch of Fargo. Phillips was handicapped by injuries.

He gives the end positions to McCracken of Grand Forks and Fisher of Fargo and adds: "Burke of Bismarck, Costigan of Lidgerwood, McDonald of Jamestown, were dangerous men."

Mr. Williams of Mandan, given the center position, says: "Williams of Mandan, another big man, weighing around 190 pounds, is placed at center. He is a wicked man on the defense. He can pass well and is fast on his feet."

Boxing Code Is Lax In Regard to Title

By NEA Service. New York, Nov. 25.—While the action of the New York State Boxing Commission in declaring a number of titles void has been much ridiculed, it is becoming more apparent that at least a step has been made in the right direction.

While the Marquis of Queensbury ripples cover the boxing game very thoroughly, it seems that the code would have been more complete had it contained some definite word as to the defending of their titles by the champions of the various classes.

It doesn't seem fair to the logical contenders for the various titles to have some veteran holder of a championship put his title in camphor balls and practically refuse to defend it in a decision but unless given most of the loose money available.

There certainly should be a definite ruling as to how often a champion should defend his title during the course of a year. It seems that he should take a chance in a decision about at least once every six months.

The case of Champion Johnny Kilbane of the featherweight division is the most glaring example of how this condition is abused. Kilbane absolutely refuses to defend his title unless guaranteed a sum that is out of proportion with his drawing possibilities. The promoters are entitled to a good cut and the challenger a fair sum, but the demands made by Kilbane make such a thing out of the question.

Fight fans are a bit tired of conditions in several classes, notably the middleweight and featherweight. Johnny Wilson and Johnny Kilbane are anything but popular with followers of the ring at this time, simply because of the safety-first tactics employed.

Scott Explains Failure To Star at Short

Shortston Everett Scott of the New York Yankees, who like Babe Ruth was one of the big disappointments of the world series, has an explanation for his failure to show his old-time form that sounds logical.

THREE GIANT NAVY FORWARDS

When the Army meets the Navy in the annual clash between these two great teams, West Point is certain to find all kinds of trouble pivoting the Navy line.

Coach Bob Foltwell admits that the Navy line of 1922 is one of the best he ever turned out. It is big, fast and has plenty of fight. Foltwell feels certain that the Army won't get very far with straight football. Carney is playing a whole of game at guard. Last year a number of experts placed him on their All-American selections. He is playing a much improved game this year.

The fact that West Point held both Yale and Notre Dame to a tie is proof of the Army's strength. The one black spot on the Navy's record is the defeat by Pennsylvania.

several years the Navy has held sway. This year the Army with one of its best teams in years is hoping to defeat the Annapolis aggregation.

The Army game is the big thing with the Navy and vice versa. For several years the Navy has held sway. This year the Army with one of its best teams in years is hoping to defeat the Annapolis aggregation.

A lot of people were surprised at my failure to get certain balls that were hit in my territory during the series," says Scott. "I was one of them, although it had been apparent to me all years that I wasn't covering as much ground as formerly.

"The idea has already been advanced that I am old and slipping in my play. Possibly there is some truth to that. I realize that I can't go as far for them as I could 10 years ago. However, I feel that the Polo Grounds was more responsible for making it seem that I was slowing up than any other thing.

"Don't get the impression that I am offering this as an alibi, or that there is anything wrong with the Polo Grounds. As a matter of fact, the infield is so very fast at the Polo Grounds that it has had me a bit off balance all year.

"National and American League players will tell you that the Polo Grounds infield is the fastest in either league. The infield at the Boston American League park, where I have spent most of my career, is correspondingly slow. Players always jokingly referred to the Red Sox park as the swamp as the infield was low and always seemed inclined to be damp and slow.

"It was the irony of fate that I should be transferred to New York as I am nearly the end of my career and be forced to play on so fast an infield. I feel that I could switch back to the Boston park and seem as brilliant as ever.

"True, age is beginning to tell, but the speed of that New York infield has been my greatest woe."

straight setbacks administered by the Navy, is favored by a majority of observers to win and tie the series court, which now stands at 12 victories for the midshipmen and 11 for the cadets.

In other outstanding encounters of the day, Brown's husky eleven, conquerors of Harvard, appears superior to Dartmouth. Notre Dame is expected to receive a stiff opposition from Carnegie Tech, while Lafayette holds a decision on the seasons performance over its ancient rival, Lehigh.

Georgetown will meet a strong opponent in Boston college. Bucknell has an edge on Rutgers and Boston university is favorite over Tufts in other contests.

JENSON GETS BOUT OFFER

Thor Jenson, local middle weight wrestler, has received an offer to wrestle Adam Riech at Hebron. Jenson is rounding into shape after a season in the hospital and expects to be in the ring by the end of the month.

Stanley Radzicki will wrestle Fry at Ellendale on Dec. 11. The bout being postponed from Nov. 11 because of Fry's illness.

TAX RECEIPTS FAVORABLE

Remittances Much Greater That Year Ago, Reports Show

The state general fund probably will be in excellent condition as soon as the result of receipt of increase amounts of taxes from the county treasurers, according to reports in the office of the state auditor. Receipts for September from the county treasurers increased over September, 1921, and the October collection returns thus far made show a marked increase over the previous year.

County	1922	1921
Adams	$ 5,376.81	$ 2,518.82
Bismarck	2,521.65	1,290.36
Cass	102,318.07	52,356.05
Eddy	13,246.70	7,425.70
McIntosh	13,470.57	28,733.13
Richland	61,023.65	28,733.13
Rolette	15,783.67	7,336.11
Golden Valley	5,172.84	3,231.97
Trail	39,387.02	21,214.28

While the state levy for the present year was about double that of the previous year, and this accounts in large measure for the increase, yet the reports, in the opinion of officials, show a greater percentage of tax payments than for this fall than last fall. Some are inclined to credit the increase to the fact that farm loans are being made in large numbers and the usual requirement

Are You The Man Who "Never Reads Advertisements?"

Some men, who are neither blind nor illiterate, claim sincerely that they "never read advertisements." Yet, if you could investigate, in each case you would find that the man who "never reads advertisements" used an advertised tooth paste or shaving cream or soap. If he owns an automobile it will be an advertised car. If you ask his opinion of any automobile he will reply in words that might have been lifted bodily from an advertisement of that automobile.

Advertising has formed his opinions to a great degree. He may have received his information through others who obtained their knowledge from advertising. But it is a fact that no man can escape the effect of advertising even if he does say he "never reads advertisements."

Not one of us ever reasoned out entirely from his own mind that the earth is round. If we had not read it or heard it we would never have known it.

In these days of good, truthful, helpful advertising to say, "I never read advertisements" is merely your way of saying, "I don't read all advertisements."
