THE MAN ABOUT TOWN.

WHAT HE SEES AND SMELLS ON THE STREETS OF ARDMORE.

In the Absence of Incorporation,
the People Exorted to Diligence in Sanitary Regulations--Fever.

EDITOR ARDMOREITE Since the proposition to convert our town into a municipality is being agitated by many of our most enterprising and progressive citizens, each one advancing his reasons for incorporating, I deem it not out of place for me to suggest a few of many good and sufficient reasons why we should seek and, if possible, secure a charter and organize a municipality.

In the first place and above all other considerations, we need sanitary regulations, while it is an indisputable fact that there is no local (permanent) cause for sickness such as malarial poisons, the filthy conditions in which our streets and alleys are too frequently found, is necessarily productive of sickness and disease. And yet we hear complaint after complaint against the only scavenger, the hog, which we have, but for which our streets and alleys would be in a far worse condition than we find them. Without sanitary rules and regulations (ordinances) we are powerless to remedy the evil and without a municipal form of government we can have no such rules, regulations and ordinances.

In the second place, we are and must necessarily remain without quarantine regulations. Should pestilence and contagious disease appear at Gainesville or any other neighboring town or city, Ardmore would furnish the "dumping-ground" and our good people be subjected to dangers and death.

In the third place, we are without such streets as a town of our pretensions and deserts are entitled to and should boast of. Ride over the town and you will find bridges out of repair, full of dangerous holes and next to impassable. They are kept up by private subscription, as is well known, and but for the liberality and pride of a few of our best citizens, would be impassable indeed.

In the fourth place, our streets are converted into baseball grounds by the devotees of that art. Only a few days since the precious little babe of one of our best citizens was struck and very nearly killed by a ball thrown by a thoughtless urchin, who was using the streets as a baseball park, while the mother and father of the little one were endeavoring to enjoy an evening's drive. And besides this, there are those who seem to think that they have a preeminent right to the use of the streets and absolutely refuse to even divide them with ladies who drive out of evenings and who make them (the ladies) turn out and surrender to their gallant lordships the "right-of-way." When men so far forget themselves as to discourteously treat ladies, under any circumstances, it is high time that they are made to observe the laws of decency and civility.

The above, Mr. Editor, are only a few of the reasons entertained by "Man About Town" for incorporating our village. "Man About Town" does not know whether or not the town can be (legally) incorporated--and, of course, it can not be legally done it had best not be done at all--but, in the event it can be thus done, then "Man About Town" can conceive of no good and valid objection to its being incorporated. The only objection (which doesn't rise to the dignity of a reason) that "Man About Town" has ever heard advanced against incorporation is that it will "necessitate taxation." In answer to such a proposition, (if it deserves an answer) we would say, that such an objection is now enjoying the "benefits and privileges" afforded him by the present condition of things, at the expense of a few liberal minded and progressive men of the town, and that he should, at least, be willing to help bear the burden of a municipal government, which will not be commensurate with the benefits and blessings which will be derived by him from incorporation.

In conclusion "Man About Town" would say, incorporate, by all means, incorporate, regardless of the objection, and thus secure benefits and privileges which can only thus be secured.

THE OFFICIAL MINUTES

OF BOARD OF TRADE MEETING LAST NIGHT--COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Sanitation and Street Improvements Provided For--Much Interest and Enthusiasm Manifested.

The most interesting meeting of the season was called to order by President Zuckerman at 8 p. m. Aug. 28, at the rooms in Whittington Hall. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The chair as a member of the executive committee made a detailed report of collection for road and bridge funds showing $3800 subscribed and on hand with an additional of $600 in sight. Four outfits consisting of three teams, five men and a foreman each have been started out on the Lebanon, Thomas, Healdton and Woodford roads respectively, and the work is being vigorously prosecuted all along the line. On motion of the secretary the action of the committee was endorsed and approved and they were instructed to continue the work. Messrs. Redfield and Patchall of the census committee reported progress and promised a detailed report at the next meeting. No report was made by the committee of old membership and they were instructed to act before the next meeting.

The chair called attention to the deplorable sanitary condition of the city and asked for a general discussion of the situation and suggestions of ways and means. In a very able and sensible manner Dr. Carr addressed the meeting at length and advised immediate action to be taken in the matter. The question was discussed by Messrs. Thompson, Redfield, Parker, Hardy, Klier, Lewis, Patchall, Durie, Hammer, Wheeler, Goldledge, Dr. Gardner and others, and on motion of Mr. Klier the executive committee now in charge of the road and bridge work were instructed to expend $800 in grading Main street, and parallel streets, and in connection with the Chairman of the Board of Health Dr. Gardner, use their best efforts to clean up the business part of the city.

The matter of employing a night watchman was introduced by Editor Wilson and went over till the next meeting. A letter from W. H. Williams in regard to lumber appropriated by the Board of Trade for bridges and used for personal purposes by that gentleman, was read and the road and bridge committee were instructed to deal with the matter as their judgment dictated. The health officer was instructed to investigate the question of sewerage from the Winsor Hotel, and if a nuisance exists to have it abated at once. A bill for $1.75 of the Ardmoreite was read and ordered paid. There being no further business the meeting adjourned to meet September 11. Samuel Zuckerman, Pres. C. B. Douglas, Sec.

Honors to an Ardmoreite.

The amalgamated singing societies of the Chickasaw Nation held a convention at Davis last week which lasted from Thursday until Sunday inclusive. A very large attendance was present and much business transacted. The principal officer to be appointed was a thoroughly first class musician to examine all applicants for the position of singing school teacher. This honor was unanimously conferred on Prof. G. H. Blackwell of Ardmore, who will issue certificates to all who pass a satisfactory examination before him.
