BIXBY'S MOUTH OPENS.

Tells of a Kiowa Run—Speaks of Seminoles and Creeks, Etc. Special to the Ardmoreite.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—Tams Bixby, the acting chairman of the Dawes commission, who was in Washington the other day, stated that great interest is being felt throughout the south over the opening of the Kiowa, Comanche and Wichita reservations.

"Of course," he added, "as the two reservations are outside of the jurisdiction of the Dawes commission, I have only a superficial knowledge of conditions existing there, but the reports are to the effect that there will be a repetition of the Oklahoma rush if care is not taken in the method of allotting land to prevent it.

"The border is already black with prospective settlers, who are straining at the leash, and will be up and away at the first information that the president's pen has signed the proclamation.

"I am told that there are at least 20,000 people waiting for the word. There are certainly enough to make quite a good imitation of the Oklahoma rush if they are allowed to do so."

Mr. Bixby states that the commission has made fine progress in the adjudication of questions applying to the Seminole and Creek reservations. "There is no discounting the greatness of the territory which is about to be opened up," he declared, "some of which will go to white people. The area is about equal to that of Indiana and comprises 20,000,000 acres of the richest soil in the United States. There is plenty of rain and while in other parts of the west where there is level land irrigation has to be resorted to, in the Indian reservations reliance need only be placed in Providence.

At a conservative estimate this land is worth $200,000,000, though of course the Indians will sell such part of it as they are allowed to at a rate much cheaper than an average of $10 per acre. Anything under the sun, from cotton to wheat, can be grown in these lands, and it is a fine grazing country. It has on it now about 400,000 people, 70,000 of whom are natives and the rest settlers who live on land rented from the Indians. When the lands are allotted in severalty these white settlers will stay, of course, and there will be openings for many more. The increase in population I expect will be phenomenal in the next few years.

"The Seminoles will get their allotments June 1. The land office will be opened at Wewoka on that date. The land has been appraised in various lots, each lot coming under one of the series of values, 1.50, 2, 2.50, and $5. The exact share of the individual Indian has not yet been figured out, but he will be given land valued at that share. If he comes to the office with a request to be allowed to keep the section upon which he is living now, he will be allowed to keep it at its valuation upon the books of the commission. If its value does not equal the amount of money share to which he is entitled he will be allowed to choose land elsewhere to equalize matters. The Indians are now so much centralized that it will happen quite frequently that an Indian will be living on a ten or twenty acre tract and will be entitled to something like 100 or 120 acres elsewhere. This allotment will not, I think, disturb the leasing settlers. They will probably keep their holdings in many cases undisturbed. A provisional allotment has been made of the land of the Creek nation, to about 10,000 individuals. The nation now has before its council the treaty ratified by congress, and if the council accepts it, the allotment of lands to individuals will go into effect.

"The Creeks, according to the treaty, will be allowed to sell three-fourths of their land, and there will, of course, be a large number of buyers, many of the settlers now leasing the land. It is a peculiar fact that the land leasing system in vogue in the Territory has no justification in law, it is just tolerated because it seems to be the best way out of many difficulties. The treaty with the Seminoles does not allow them to sell their land.

"The work of the commission has necessarily been slow, because there are only about 7,000 who have a right to the land. The claims of all, however, have had to be examined and it has kept us working at full speed with twenty-two stenographers taking testimony."

Speaking of the rumored Indian troubles which have been talked about so much recently, Mr. Bixby said: "There is no disturbance worth mentioning and there never has been. Crazy Snake, after he had been released by Judge Thomas under a faithful promise that he would be good, started to work at once to stir up discontent again. He will be put in the penitentiary as soon as he can be caught."

Betraying Buckles.

General Dubesme was a distinguished French veteran, slain by the Prussians after the rout of Waterloo. He was full of resource and had great skill and presence of mind. At Pescara, when he was in great danger, a large fortress in front and a savage insurrection in his rear, his own common sense saved him.

"Who commands at Pescara?" he asked a soldier.

"There are two."

"What is the grade of the chief in command?"

"A brigadier general."

"His name?"

"De Pietramaggiore."

"His title?"

"A marquis."

"His age?"

"About 70."

"Is he well preserved? Does he keep his color?"

"He is thin and pallid."

"Is his voice strong and manly?"

"It is weak and dull."

"Is he lively, gay?"

"Neither the one nor the other."

"What does he wear on his head?"

"He is powdered, and his hair is done in locks."

"Has he boots and spurs?"

"No; he wears silk stockings, shoes and great buckles."

"Great buckles!" cried Dubesme. "Bring up the guns and begin firing! The place is mine!"

Many so-called "bitters" are not medicines, but simply liquids disguised, so as to evade the law. Prickly Ash Bitters is not one of this class.
