

A Blast of Music

From the best performer won't impress anyone unless the instrument is worthy of the master. An inferior instrument, no matter of what kind, is a continual source of annoyance. On the other hand a good instrument is a continual source of pleasure and satisfaction. Our

FIRE AT PALMER'S GIN.

Considerable Wood and Coal Was Burned, But No Cotton.

This morning about 1:45 o'clock fire was discovered at J. C. Palmer's gin, and the fire department responded promptly.

Arriving there they found the engine house to be on fire, the wood pile and some coal. There was no available water, and the two tanks on the chemical engine were soon exhausted. The firemen worked heroically, however, but the high wind that was blowing from the north was too much for them, and the flames were not checked until about 1:50 cords of wood, two carloads of coal and the engine house were burned.

The engine, while considerably damaged, will be repaired at once, and Mr. Palmer says that he will be ready for business again by Friday night.

The property, we understand, was insured, but to what extent we could not learn.

The origin of the fire was supposed to be caused by the north wind fanning up some smoldering embers, which caught a pile of wood close by the engine from which the engine house took fire.

GUN CLUB AT PRACTICE

Allen and Poland Break the Club's Record for High Average.

Members of the Ardmore Rod and Gun Club are at practice at the Whittington park this afternoon. Since they matched the contest with the Parsons (Kan.) club they have practiced twice each week.

Saturday afternoon J. H. Sprague and W. P. Poland each scored 25 straight which is a record to be envied by professionals. The score card for the evening gave D. E. Allen and W. P. Poland an average of 93 per cent, which is the best record that has ever been made by any member of the club. From this shooting it might be estimated that the local club is well groomed for the fray and inasmuch as the home people will be at an expense aggregating $200, it does seem that fate should give them the victory over the visitors if their skill as marksmen fails them.

Commissioner's Court.

Yesterday afternoon Wes Breedlove, charged with introducing and selling liquor, had a preliminary hearing before the commissioner and was found guilty and bound over in the sum of $200. The bond was made and the defendant allowed to go home.

Jim Sanders and Jim Hensley, charged also with introducing and selling, were found guilty and bound over in the sum of $500 each. The bonds were filed.

John Thrasher and Walter Aulds, who disturbed religious worship, were arraigned and pleaded guilty to the charge. The fine and costs in both their cases amounted to $55.40 which was paid.

Burglarly on Broadway.

Billy Baldwin's shop on Broadway was burglarized last night. Billy is making some additions to his shop and it was practically impossible to fasten it securely, so the thief found the task of burglary easy enough, and judging from the new full mounted screw plate the burglar took with him he must have used his time in selecting something to take with him. The piece of machinery had recently been added to the shop at an expense of $20.
