Ardmore, Monday, Nov. 10.

The annual report of J. George Wright says the greatest need of Indian Territory is educational facilities for the non-citizens.

Ardmore extends a warm welcome to all delegates and strangers here today. We hope their stay will be pleasant, as well as their work, and that much good will arise from this convention.

Ardmore was a revelation to day to a majority of our visitors, many of whom had not been here for a couple of years or more. The number of our business houses was a surprise to many and no doubt Ardmore will receive many favorable comments upon their return home.

A Texas editor defines true happiness thusly: "Our view of a family government is that every home should be a little republic, where universal toleration prevails and everyone has a voice in the government, without any wrangles between husband and wife as to which of the two shall be president."

Affairs must be in pretty good shape in this country when an election can be pulled off without even causing a slight change in any of the markets.
A prospective cold snap in the cotton belt causes a dozen times as much interest in the market centers as does the election of a national congress and chief officers of nearly all the states.

Oh, it's grand to be a politician, but good Lord deliver us from the fire bug kind which are infesting portions of Oklahoma. Not all of that territory is bad, but when a man or set of men will combine for the purpose of defeating the honest voice of the people by acts of violence, chicanery and attempted arson he becomes in the eyes of conservative men a fiend unworthy to be called a politician.

What is it?
The Tulsa Democrat says, in box car letters, that it is in possession of certain inside facts that warrant the statement that Tulsa is on the verge of prosperity hitherto unprecedented, but withholds them for obvious reasons. It hints, however, that railroads, manufactories, wholesale establishments and other things too numerous to mention have their faces turned toward Tulsa.

CHICKASAW CONVENTION

A GREAT GATHERING OF REPRE-SENTATIVE MEN.

From All Parts of the Nation and Elsewhere They Are Here—Temporary Organization Perfected—Will Get Down to Work.

The convention called by Mayor Dick to convene in Ardmore November 10 met this morning at 10 o'clock at the United States courthouse. The convention was called to order by Mayor Dick and the house went into temporary organization by the election of S. W. Hays of Ryan temporary chairman and F. F. Fox temporary secretary. Mr. Hays, in stating the object of the Ardmore convention to be to take steps to secure needed legislation, took advantage of his opportunity to express his gratefulness for the honor that had been conferred upon him.

Inasmuch as a number of delegates were expected to arrive on the Santa Fe and Choctaw trains about noon it was agreed that during the morning session no work be done except the appointment of committees on credentials and permanent organization.

Following are those committees: Credentials—S. Hardy, T. N. Robnett, Dr. Beauchamp, Dr. McPherson, Sam Davis.

Permanent organization—R. W.
Dick, J. T. Conn, W. I. Gilbert, A. J.
Milburn, H. O. Croger.

Upon the suggestion of J. C. Graham that Henry M. Furman would be absent during the afternoon session the latter was called for to give his views concerning what steps the convention should take.

Mr. Furman responded with a strong speech, stating that he appreciated the courtesy shown him by the convention and expressing regrets at his inability to be present throughout the deliberations of the convention.

Mr. Furman's speech showed that he was perfectly familiar with every need of the Indian Territory and was replete with practical suggestions.
The difficulties under which we are laboring and the gravity and importance of the questions to be discussed were touched upon. In part Mr. Furman said: "The condition that the Indian Territory is now placed in is anomalous, nothing like it ever existed before—no other territory ever had such burning questions to decide, and these must be decided before we can enjoy the rich boon of American citizenship. And we are vexed beyond measures because we have no voice whatever in the settlement of affairs. What are we to do? We occupy the position of supplicants; there are every year from 200 to 2,500 lobbysts before congress, and when we send a man there he simply joins that 'innumerable host' and it's hard work indeed to get a hearing. This is not a representative convention of the entire Indian Territory and we should take no radical steps and until then there is something tangible to fight for there will not be a representative convention. The duty that lies before us is to take up the matter on which we are a unit and keep out discordant questions; resort to no radical measures. Our children are without schools, our insane have no asylums gress. On this question we are a voice in the government. Relief must come and the safest method to pursue is to procure a delegate in congress. On this question we are a unit and when we have a representative then it's time to discuss personal views."

On motion of Mr. Herbert the people from other nations were voted seats in the convention and given a cordial welcome.

The Boy and the Telegram.
A wild-eyed boy rushed into a Milwaukee church a few days ago and handed a telegram to the preacher.

The preacher looked at the name on the envelope and said:
"A telegram has just been handed to me. It is addressed to John Smith.
Is he in the audience?"

But nobody arose. All the John Smiths present spelled their names Schmidt—Chicago Tribune.

Next to naturally curly hair there comes the gift from heaven of hair that needs curling not oftener than once a week to "stay in."

Every candid man must occasionally admit that the churches would have a hard time getting along if no one gave more than he did.

LIKE TO BE YOUNG AGAIN?

Yes! Well, here is One Man Who Would Rather Be Young.
"We all say that we'd like to be young again, but I doubt if we really mean it," says Harvey Sutherland in Alma's. "We'd like to have as good health as we had when we cast our first vote, and we'd like it if we didn't have to visit the dentist so often and so expensively. But if it came to the point that the devil bounced out before us and sulkily growled: 'What is your wish? I will obey, I and the other slaves of the lamp, I fancy we should study quite awhile, with many a 'Why—ah, let me see now; before we plucked up the courage to blurt out, 'Make me twenty-one again.'" "Because, you know, you haven't any too much sense now, with all your experience of the world, and if you were twenty-one again it would have to be in mind as well as in body.
The mind is what the body is. It seems a terrible price to pay for a new set of teeth and an undiscriminating appetite. What? To walk again that weary, tortuous road; to discover again how many kinds of a fool and a failure one can be, and not half try either; to have to take over again all those terms of old Professor Experience? Huh-uh! Not for me. You may if you like. Even if I could start anew with what I have learned of life, which would come far short of what I should really need, it seems to me that it would be a bore to have to sit through the performance again.
I suppose if ever there was a successful man, a lucky man, it was Martin Luther, and yet when the electress of Brandenburg wished him forty more birthdays he told her he would sooner give up every hope of heaven he had than spend forty years more on earth. To be sure, he would have had to spend them in Germany, but that's a detail."

EPIGRAMS IN DIALOGUE.
The following "bouquet" is picked from various plays, successful and otherwise:

Nothing can work such havoc as a fool.—"Sowing the Wind." We may scale a mountain only to trip over a mole hill.—"Queen's Favorite."

Those who wait for other men's shoes must tread roughly sometimes—"Alone."
Life's like baccarat. Chance gives the cards. We only play what's dealt us.—"John Dunford, M. P."

Joy, joy—one cannot touch joy every day. One must take things as they are.—"Pellens and Melicande." Wrinkles, you know, my dear, are the diary of a woman's life in cipher—"His Excellency the Governor."

In a woman's word book "I hate you" often means "I like you." That's worth remembering.—"The Terna-gant."

Ladies, like bills of exchange, are allowed a little grace and, unlike bills of exchange, are much pleasanter to meet.
—"Her Own Rival."

I suppose honesty's like the gout. It runs in certain families for several generations, and then it skips a generation.—"The Rogue's Comedy."

Oh, isn't there one perfect world out of all the millions, just one, where everything goes right and fiddles never get out of tune?—"The Masqueraders."

An Essay on Rain.
"In a general way I approve of rains," said the grumpy person when he reached home after a drenching.

"They are a fine thing when they come decently and in good order"—as he placed his umbrella where it would dry on the parlor carpet—"but I want to go on record right now—removing his soggy new hat and saturated coat—"as declaring I am opposed to these rains that begin on the day before yesterday and keep coming"—gazing at his eight dollar trousers, which resembled drizzles. "It wouldn't be so bad," he resumed as he took his shoes off and let the water run out, "if it rained straight down, but when it rains zig-zag and up and crosswise and cancer-corners it's time to protest. A dod gasted day like this has no right to be on the calendar"—and so on until he got to bed.—Exchange.

The Montefiore Family.
The late Sir Moses Montefiore, the "grand old man" of the Jews, the modern Moses bringing thousands and tens of thousands out of bondage and poverty into the land of peace and plenty—and really he had his reward, rounding out his century in fine shape, his spiritual eye not dimmed nor his natural strength abated—was once taunted with being a descendant of the murderers of Christ. He said nothing at the time, but called on his accusers next day with a chart of his pedigree, showing that the home of his forbears, the "old homestead," had been in Spain for over 2,000 years, about 200 years before Christ was born.—New York Press.

Wasn't Looking For That Run.
Superintendent of the Railroad Company—So you want a job as fireman, eh?
Applicant—Yes, sir.
Superintendent—I'll have to ask you a few questions. How far is it to the north pole?
Applicant—Gee whiz! If you're going to put me on that line, I don't want the job.—Indianapolis News.

No Cash.
"Harry, I suppose you keep a cash account?"
"No, Uncle George, I haven't got so far as that, but I keep an expense account."—Boston Transcript.

To preserve health is a moral and religious duty, for health is the basis of all social virtues. We can no longer be useful when not well.—Johnson.

Stepped Against a Hot Stove.
A child of Mrs. George T. Benson, when getting his usual Saturday night bath, stepped against a hot stove which burned him severely. The child was in great agony and his mother could do nothing to pacify him. Remembering that she had a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house she thought she would try it. In less than half an hour after applying it the child was quiet and asleep, and in less than two weeks was well. Mrs.
Benson is a well known resident of Kellar, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment and especially valuable for burns, cuts, bruises, sprains. For
