

UNDERMUSLIN AND WHITE GOODS

A GRAND OPPORTUNITY!

Having swung into the arena of 1904 with a superb display of the season's newest and choicest Wash Fabrics, thereby giving an appreciative public the opportunity to secure the most advanced styles fresh from the loom, we consider it a pleasure and privilege to place before the good people, during this week, the choicest selection of Undermuslin and White Goods ever shown in our store.

Our motto for 1904 shall be "Not how much can we get, but how little can we take" for an article, and this, coupled with the dynamo of PUSH, ENERGY and HUSTLE of the Burton-Peel Co., we expect to bring us the banner year's business since our coming to Ardmore. In the face of 15 cent cotton, we propose to place the goods in this sale on the basis of 7 cent cotton--in other words we will sell them at last year's prices.

The Muslin Underwear handled by the Burton-Peel Dry Goods Co. needs no introduction nor recommendation to the ladies of Ardmore, but we must say that our line this season is larger and more comprehensive than we have yet shown and embraces everything from those for the "wae tot" at 10c to most elegantly made and elaborately trimmed ladies' garments at $5 to $6.50. To fully appreciate the values quoted below, a personal inspection is necessary.

The merchants seem to be doing a nice little business. The principal part of it is credit, but we wish to state that we are blessed with as many good citizens and honest men as Mr. Anybody's country, and the merchants can afford to sell so much earlier than some other localities.

In Bed Four Weeks With La Grippe.
We have received the following letter from Mr. Roy Kemp of Angola, Ind. "I was in bed four weeks with la grippe and tried many remedies and spent considerable for treatment with physicians, but I received no relief until I tried Foley's Honey and Tar. Two small bottles of this medicine cured me and now I use it exclusively in my family." Take no substitutes. Bonner & Bonner.

MILL CREEK.

Special Correspondence.
Mill Creek, I. T. Jan. 29.—J. W. Forrester, one of our enterprising merchants, is thinking of closing out his store and removing out on a lease.

The exceedingly pleasant weather of the past few weeks has started the plows to running on nearly every farm in this vicinity.

The new bank building on the corner is progressing rapidly and the management hope to occupy the same ere long.

Mill Creek seems to be on a boom--new people are seen on the streets every day and the price of property is advancing right along.

AS TO NICKNAMES.

Given Often For Absurd Reasons, and Generally They Stick.

"Wonderful how names stick to a person," said the observant man. "There were two nice little women in our village who came on us one evening, and we offered them popcorn which the children had just brought in from the kitchen. They refused, but not so emphatically as to keep us from giving them two heaping plates of the corn. We kept refilling the plates and they kept crunching all the evening. There was something so funny about it that I called them 'The Popcorn Ladies,' and the name has stuck to them so that the whole village knows them by it.

"I once knew a man who talked incessantly in a high pitched voice, and a bright girl dubbed him 'The Chirper.' The name was quickly passed around among the young people, and now the greater part of his friends know him by that name. A dignified young woman of my acquaintance goes by the name of 'Whom' to this day because when she was a little girl she used to call herself 'Mrs. Whom' when she played grownup ladies, and the family picked it up. She simply can't shake the absurd name.

"More than one red haired man is known by the name of 'Pink' and philosophically accepts the title. I have an acquaintance who holds a responsible position who is known by the name of 'Dotty.' It seems that one day a mischievous girl discovered that he had three prominent dimples. She promptly dubbed him 'Dotty Dimple,' and now he is known to all his associates as 'Dotty.' Another man of my acquaintance is always called 'Bluebeard' because he has such a white and thin skin that if he does not shave daily his beard shows blue through it. That name, too, came through a woman's quick wit.

"In a certain household a very feminine little woman is still called 'The Boy' because when she was a young girl she went through a serious illness which made it necessary to cut her hair short. Her younger sister said she was 'the boy' of the family, and the dainty lady is still called by that absurd name.

"An effeminate man was once called 'Viola' by one of the boys in the office, and now we know him by nothing else. Another one of the boys in the office is always called 'Cheesy,' and, though he got angry at first, he has cheerfully accepted the new name now.

"Our bookkeeper is always putting in his ear when it is not at all necessary, and I think now he will be known until the end of time as 'General Bore.' A friend of mine who is always called 'Cheerful' does not know whether he is called that because his friends believe he has a cheerful disposition or because they consider him a cheerful idiot. But at any rate, he can't shake the name."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

PROTECTS THE SYSTEM AGAINST CATARRH.

Hyomel Prevents Colds and Cures Grip and Catarrh.—Money Back if It Fails.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." A few breaths of Hyomel through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit will check a cold or the grip at the start, and prevent serious and lasting illness.

In all catarrhal troubles and diseases of the air passages, Hyomel has a positive action not possessed by any other medicine or treatment. It is pleasant and convenient to use; simply put 20 drops of Hyomel in the inhaler and breathe it a few minutes, four times a day. In this way, every particle of air that enters the lungs is charged with a healing balsam that kills all catarrhal germs, soothes and allays the irritated mucous membrane, vitalizes the blood with ozone, and makes a permanent and complete cure.

A Hyomel outfit costs only $1, and contains an inhaler, medicine dropper and bottle of Hyomel. The inhaler lasts a life time and when more Hyomel is needed, extra bottles can be obtained for 50c.

The City Drug Store gives its personal guarantee with every Hyomel outfit they sell to refund the money if it does not cure.
