HUNTING RUNAWAY WIFE.

A German From Ft. Smith, Ark., in Search of Wife and Children.

A German miner by the name of Barmuke, arrived in the city several days ago from Ft. Smith, Ark., in search of a runaway wife and three children and incidentally the man who ran away with them. Barmuke, accompanied by a policeman has searched every boarding house, or place where they would be likely to find the runaway parties.

The German came here thinking he had a clue and that he would find them. He traced a box out of Ft. Smith which bore a name similar to Heintz, the man who ran away with his wife. He has been on the trail since October 15th, the time they left Ft. Smith. The box was traced to this place, and yesterday he thought he had the man. Accompanied by a policeman he approached one of our citizens, who came here from Ft. Smith, and who left that place about the time the runaway occurred.

The similarity in the two names caused the German to make the mistake, as the box which was shipped out of Ft. Smith and which the German has been following, belonged to another party.

The German became very much excited while in conversation with whom he supposed had ran away with his wife, and his excitable German temperament might have caused him to do something rash had not it been proven to him that this was not the man whom he wanted.

The German seemed very much downcast over his failure, but says that he will continue the search until he finds his children. He says that he does not want the wife, all he wants is the children, and offers $100 for their return to him. He will go from here to Trinidad, Col., where he will continue the search.
