will prove a revelation. It has that rich, smooth, aromatic flavor you associate with a ten-cent cigar. This is secured through recently perfected processes of fermenting and blending the leaf in specially constructed, million-dollar stemmies.

This treatment—not even attempted by any other manufacturer—thoroughly matures, ripens and actually blends the tobacco leaf, insuring a delightful, full-flavored, uniformly good smoke for five cents instead of ten. Buy an "Anna Held" for your next good cigar.
