

NOTED WAR CHIEF DEAD

MAD WOLF, AGED CHEYENNE, IS DEAD IN OKLAHOMA.

He Was a Big Chief—During a Raid into Mexico He Was the Only One of Band to Escape Death—He Reverenced His Wife.

Clinton, Ok., Feb. 12.—Mad Wolf, the once noted war chief, died Sunday February 4, 1906, on his allotment near Clinton. At his death there passed away the most unique character of the great Cheyenne tribe.

Making his advent upon the stage of life, almost if not quite a century ago, his early life was spent far away from the white man and civilization. Roving over the almost boundless plains, hunting the buffalo and antelope, he grew up a typical Indian brave, his highest ambition being to become a noted warrior. With his people he fought at Adobe Walls, where his only son was killed. He also claimed to have been in Custer's last fight.

The old man enjoyed nothing more than to sit down, and by the aid of an interpreter, talk to his white friends of his many adventures. He would tell of the raids made by his people into Texas and Mexico. One incident I heard him relate comes to my mind now. A number of Cheyennes went on an expedition to Mexico. In addition to stealing horses, they at this time took captive several Mexican girls. When they had gone for two days and nights without sleep, thinking they were now out of danger, they placed Mad Wolf on guard on the top of the hill while the remainder of the party went into camp in the valley below to get a much needed rest.

True to the trust confided in him, Mad Wolf watched the long night almost through, but just as the dawn began to break, sleep overcame him, when suddenly he awoke to find the white soldiers almost upon him. There was no time to give warning to those below in the valley, 'twas all he could do to save himself. Ere the sun was an hour high all his comrades lay dead on the ground. After days of travel and suffering, frequently from hunger and thirst, Mad Wolf reached his camp alone, in disgrace, no trophies, no companions.

Poor old man, his days are ended. He was ever true to the traditions of his fathers. While he clung to the ways and superstitions of his race, he never forgot a kindness and was ever true to those he considered his friends. In one thing he was far above the average Indian, and that was his devotion and loyalty to his wife. When she grew old and blind he did not throw her aside as is the Indian custom, but tenderly cared for her, and there was nothing more touching than to see him carefully leading her by the hand, or taking the dinner given him in camp to be divided with the poor blind woman. When she died he had her buried by the white minister and could not himself rest until an enclosure had been placed around her grave in order that she might not be disturbed by cattle tramping over her.

Lame Back.

This ailment is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles and may be cured by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm two or three times a day and rubbing the parts vigorously at each application. If this does not afford relief, bind a piece of flannel slightly dampened with Pain Balm, and quick relief is almost sure to follow. For sale by F. J. Ramsey, W. B. A Habit to Be Encouraged.

The mother who has acquired the habit of keeping on hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, saves herself a great amount of uneasiness and anxiety. Coughs, colds and croup, to which children are susceptible, are quickly cured by its use. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia, and if given as soon as the first symptoms of croup appear, it will prevent the attack. This remedy contains nothing injurious and mothers give it to little ones with a feeling of perfect security. For sale by F. J. Ramsey, W. B. Frame, Ardmore Drug Co., Bonner & Bonner.

A New Magazine for You

I am bringing out another new magazine that you will come pretty close to liking. I wouldn't be surprised if it hit you harder than anything in the shape of a magazine you have ever seen. There isn't much style to it, but it has the stuff in it that you and everybody else will want to read. It is called

Something New in Magazine Making

THE SCRAP BOOK is the most elastic thing that ever happened in the way of a magazine—elastic enough to carry anything from a tin whistle to a battleship. Everything that appeals to the human brain and human heart comes within its compass—fiction, which is the backbone of periodical circulation; biography, review, philosophy, science, art, poetry, wit, humor, pathos, satire, the weird, the mystical—everything that can be classified and everything that cannot be classified. A paragraph, a little bit, a saying, an editorial, a joke, a maxim, an epigram.

Nothing Like It in the World

There isn't anything in the world just like THE SCRAP BOOK. It is an idea on which we have been working for several years, and for which we have been gathering materials. We have bought hundreds and hundreds of scrap books from all over the country, some of them a century old, and are still buying them. From these books we are gathering and classifying an enormous number of gems, and facts, and figures, and historical and personal bits that are of rare value. Furthermore, we have a corps of people ransacking libraries, reading all the current publications, the leading daily papers, and digging out curious and quaint facts and useful facts and figures from reference book, encyclopedia, etc., etc.

Don't fail to get a copy of this first issue of THE SCRAP BOOK. It sells at the price at which all our other magazines sell—Ten Cents a Copy and One Dollar by the Year.
