

NEW BRITISH PATENT LAW

BECOMES EFFECTIVE TODAY—IT RIGOROUSLY AFFECTS AMERICAN MANUFACTURERS.

London, July 28.—Many American and German manufacturers are hard hit by the new British patent law, which became fully effective today. The law requires foreigners who obtain patents from the British government to manufacture their goods on British soil. As a result of the act, many German and American firms are either opening factories in Great Britain or are overcoming the difficulty by means of royalty agreements with British manufacturers.

The law is hitting the Germans so hard that the union of industrialists is now petitioning the German government to adopt retaliatory measures. Several English authorities are convinced that the law will confer greater commercial and industrial benefits on Great Britain than any law that has been passed in the last half century. It has already resulted in the employment of many thousands of British work people and the introduction of an enormous amount of capital from foreign countries.

It appears not improbable that the recent prober of Sir Alfred Jones to the effect that the new law will cause an investment of $125,000,000 by foreign—largely German—capital in manufactures in that country will be fully realized. Already a large number of foreign firms have secured factory sites. Over 20,000 British patents have been granted to foreigners within the last three years, and not one of the processes for which the patents were taken out has been carried on to any great extent in the United Kingdom.

Washington, July 28.—It is feared here that the enforcement today of the new British patent law will result in a considerable reduction in the exports of this country to Great Britain. After today any patents granted to American manufacturers by the British patent office may be instantly revoked, unless the goods patented are manufactured in Great Britain. British concerns will be at liberty to manufacture the same goods, and the American owners of the patent, if they have failed to establish a factory on British soil, will have no recourse. Patent attorneys here say that a large number of their clients will be affected, although many have complied with the law by starting British factories.

LIQUOR IN JAIL.

No One in Love County Wants to Dispense State Liquor.

Thirty-three physicians are now prescribing for the state agency of Ardmore and none seem to be violating the law in prescribing too frequently," said S. W. Stone, one of the state inspectors yesterday evening. He had gone through the agency here and congratulated Ardmore upon having so good a man in charge of the agency and said everything here was in tip-top shape. Mr. Stone said the state agency system was working admirably and he firmly believed that the law would be adopted by popular vote in November.

In Love county the agency seems to be going begging. Three agents have been appointed and all have refused to take the work and dispense liquor for the state. The last man to be appointed was a citizen of Thackerville. Like the others, he has refused to do the work. The supplies for the Love county agency are in Marietta but are stored in the jail building.

Will Teach at Bowles.

Miss Ethel Nelson, daughter of P. H. Nelson, has closed a contract with the school board at Bowles, a few miles west of Marietta, whereby Miss Nelson will have charge of the school at that place this winter. Miss Nelson has always taken the lead in her classes both here and at Oklahoma City. She attended the normal school this summer and her first years work as a teacher will be a success.

JUSTICE TO AN INDIAN

HERMAN LEHMAN, ADOPTED COMANCHE, TAKES ALLOTMENT.

SPECIAL ACT BY GORE

Bill Was Introduced By Senator Gore To Award Lehman An Allotment By Special Act—Story of Capture and Life.

Lawton, Okla., July 28.—Herman Lehman, adopted member of the Comanche tribe of Indians today selected his allotment as provided in the act of May 30, this year, introduced by Senator T. P. Gore of this city, awarding Lehman an allotment by special act. He selected as his claim a quarter section several miles east of Davidson, and one of the best pieces of farming land in the big pasture.

With the selection of allotment by Lehman comes the announcement that all members of the Comanche tribe born after the last allotment, shortly prior to the sale of pasture lands, will shortly receive allotments, and when this is done the remainder of the lands unsold will be opened to white settlement and sold to the highest bidder. Indian Agent Lieut. Ernest Steinkamp was today notified of the selection made by Lehman, and it is understood that immediate steps will be taken for the allotment of the latest born Comanche.

Attempt was made by a chief named Packer during his recent visit to induce the government to cancel all unsold lands of the Comanches to be allotted to unborn members of the tribe as their numbers increase, but it was thought best by the department to place the lands on sale, open them for white settlement and hold the money for the tribesmen.

The special act of congress granting to Herman Lehman an allotment was passed upon request from the Indians, in view of the fact that he is an adopted member of the tribe. His farm was turned over to him today in fee simple.

Like a story of fiction, it is told by Herman Lehman, who for eight years in his youth, was held captive by the Indians of the southwest. Of his capture and some incidents of his captivity and restoration, he tells:

"It was on the 16th day of May, 1870," he says, "that while playing in the field near the house, with my little brother Willie, 8 years of age, my sister Caroline, still younger, and my baby sister, that we found ourselves surrounded by hideously painted, savage Apache Indians led by the noted warrior, Chisatoatoo. They captured Willie, fired several shots close range at Caroline as she ran toward the house, and chased me some distance before capturing me. I fought desperately, but was soon tied tight and fast on a vicious pony, while Willie was put on another pony in front of a big Indian, and we were off in an instant, for by this time the men at the house were ready to open fire on the Indians. Several times my pony left the others, but as my hands and feet were tied I could not guide him, and each time he elected and caught up with the crowd. But one time we went for six days and nights almost entirely without food or water, and most of the time in a sweeping gallop.

"I was severely tied with my face down, each hand and each foot being tied to separate stakes, while one end of a rope was placed around my neck and the other end fastened to a stake or bush. If I groaned or complained, an Indian would beat me and pull my hair. I was so bruised by the old piece of a saddle on which I was forced to ride, and so torn by new quills, chapparal and cactus thorns that I was almost a living hell. As my clothing had all been torn off when I was captured I was sunburned into a blister nearly all over. In the running fight Willie was forcibly thrown from his horse by an Indian who jumped up behind him. He hid in the tall grass among some rocks till all was quiet. Already half starved and famished he wandered about for three days and nights often in great danger of wild beasts. Finally, while lying prostrate from exhaustion, he was picked up near Kickapoo Springs by an old freighter, and in about two weeks returned to his home.

Lehman's mother sought out General McKinzie and found that her son was among the captured. The boy, after considerable correspondence was returned to his parents under military escort of three soldiers.

"That was in 1878, when I was 19 years of age," he said. "At that time I could not speak the Apache and Comanche languages. I didn't know my own name in the name of my parents. I knew my father was dead but I remembered seeing him buried. I could remember the form and features of my mother and some of my brothers and sisters, but did not know the name of either.

"Besides being greatly injured physically by exposures, tortures and wounds, while with the Indians my chances for making a living were greatly impaired by my long association with the Indians. I realize, as few others do, the habits and inclinations formed in youth by such long association are very difficult to get rid of. I realize more and more as I grow older that I am tied and fettered and in many ways rendered helpless by these unfortunate associations."

STANDARD HAD TIP

ASSURED THIRTY DAYS PREVIOUSLY THAT THE BIG FINE WOULD BE SET ASIDE.

Chicago, Ill., July 28.—That the Standard Oil company had the assurance 30 days ahead of time that its fine of $29,210,000 would be set aside by the appellate court was the common talk of La Salle street today.

An influential member of the board of trade and a pillar in financial circles, who, the day previous, had said to friends that he could furnish the names of Chicago brokers who had profited by this knowledge, turned white today when the subject was broached.

"My God!" he said. "I can't talk! I can't talk! It would ruin me!"

But he did talk. He would not give the names of the ten or fifteen local brokers who were able, in some mysterious way, to assure their clients that a golden moment had come, but he said there were such brokers.

"How long before the decision do you think Standard Oil men knew the fine was to be reversed?" the broker was asked.

"Do I think?" he said, with emphasis. "Thirty days."

"How much was it worth to that company to have a foreknowledge of this decision?"

"From $20,000,000 to $25,000,000," he replied.

"How do you know there was such a leak?"

"Look here," he said, "do you know anything about the movement of the market from the noon before the appellate court decision was made public until the moment of its announcement? No? Listen."

"That noon, before the decision, mind you, the market fell off a little. There were sales. Flocks of stock thrown into the market. It stood like a ribbon of steel—not a waver, not a dent. Every share was absorbed like a flash. Five thousand shares—or 25,000. It was all the same. Right up to the moment when the decision was made public property, when a sustaining of Judge Landis'

RICH RED BLOOD

NATURE'S SAFE-GUARD AGAINST DISEASE

Pure, rich blood and a free circulation is the surest protection against the diseases and disorders which are constantly attacking our physical systems. The healthy circulation of the blood prevents the entrance of disease germs, and filters out of the system everything that is not necessary or beneficial to the growth and development of the body; all life's forces are kept up by it, and every organ, nerve, tissue and bone is dependent on the blood for its nourishment and strength.

Healthy blood is filled with millions of little red corpuscles. These minute particles furnish its rich, red color, and are the carriers of nutriment and health to the different parts of the body; in other words the very life and vitalizing essence of the circulation. The destruction of these corpuscles by disease germs weakens and pollutes the blood, and anemia, with its attendant evils of pale, chalky complexions, weak, run-down systems and malarial conditions, or perhaps some more definitely marked disorder, is the result.

Frequently the blood becomes infected with acid, fiery humors, and Eczema, Acne, Tetter, or some other skin disease or affection makes its appearance, and is kept up with its itching and disfiguring symptoms. An excess of uric acid in the circulation causes a fermentation of the blood, and Rheumatism, with its pains and aches, is established in the system, there to remain, unless the poison is driven from the blood. Old Sores and Ulcers are likewise dependent on bad blood. These places are kept open and in a state of irritation by the drainage of pollution which the blood is continually discharging into them. In fact there are few ailments which cannot be traced to impure or diseased blood, and our only safeguard is to keep the circulation in strong, healthy condition.

In all blood troubles S. S. S. has proven itself a perfect remedy, and is universally recognized as the greatest of all blood purifiers. It goes down into the circulation, and removes all poisons, humors and taints, and makes this life-stream pure and health-sustaining. It purifies and strengthens weak, deteriorated blood, supplies it with the healthful properties it needs, and establishes the foundation for good health. As a tonic S. S. S. has no equal, and will be found especially adapted to weak, run-down systems.

One of the greatest points in favor of S. S. S., is that it does not contain a particle of mineral, but is made entirely of the extracts and juices of harmless, healing, cleansing roots and herbs. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, and all other blood troubles, are permanently cured by S. S. S., and so thorough is its work that no trace of the disease is left for future outbreaks.

S. S. S. is for sale at all drug stores. Book on the blood and any medical advice desired will be sent free to all who write.

THREE MILLION DOLLARS.

City of Gainesville Makes Enormous Sales of Liquor.

"The city of Gainesville," said an Ardmore man yesterday, "is one of the most fortunately located cities in the south. It is on the border of a prohibition state, and the annual sales of wines and liquors in that town aggregate the enormous sum of three million dollars. Electric signs display ing the names of 'Dripping Springs,' 'Hill & Hill' and other varieties and brands of whisky are placed in conspicuous places and one to enter the town might think he was in the heart of the distillery district of Kentucky." The interurban line is also building out of Gainesville and the old town is moving forward by leaps and bounds.
