

A STATE FAIR PRIZE WINNER.

Dallas, "The Show Window of Texas Industries"—that's the 1915 State Fair of Texas in an nutshell. The State Fair begins Saturday, October 16, and closes Sunday, October 21.

All of the important activities of the State will be represented as never before—agriculture and kindred industries; livestock and the dairy interests; manufacturing—in fact, a splendid array of exhibits mirroring the progress of Texas and the achievements of her people.

The State Fair will furnish an education so practical and so broad as to appeal to all—and particularly does this apply to the splendid exhibits now being prepared by the University of Texas, the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, the College of Industrial Arts; and other educational institutions of the state.

The girls and boys of the State are interested in judging contests and in the prizes offered for boys' and girls' club work; and in the splendid building housing the textile, culinary and fine arts departments there will be much to interest the women and girls of the State.

County exhibits filling to overflowing a mammoth building; three thousand head of registered stock; twenty-five hundred blue-blooded fowls; ten acres of machinery and implement exhibits; an automobile show of 1916 models; a fine art exhibit valued at more than $100,000; an industrial arts exhibit that will interest the housewife; a superb showing of styles and fashions in women's wear, millinery, jewelry; in fact, something to interest every man, woman and child in the state—this gives some idea of the 1915 Exposition.

Offerings in the livestock department are the richest of any in the country. This year approximately $26,000 in premiums and specials will be awarded for exhibits of cattle, horses, sheep and swine. All of the big organizations in the country with livestock men as members are offering special premiums. Applications for stalls and pens received indicate that the display will be mammoth in proportion.

The dairy and creamery interests will be represented in three divisions—dairy cattle, dairy demonstration and dairy products departments. These three features are of special interest to dairymen and dairy cattle breeders; the awarding of the American Jersey Cattle Club's special premium for the best Jersey cow, get of sire, breeder's young herd, grand champion bull and grand champion female; the twelve days' competitive dairy test for butter fat, and educational displays and lectures dealing with the dairy and creamery business.

A staff of experts from the A. and M. College will spend their time at the Fair giving attention to helping Texas farmers with their home problems. The A. and M. exhibit for the coming Fair is being entirely reorganized.

A PINE WHOOPING COUGH REMEDY.

Mothers, Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey is just the remedy for your children's cold ailments. The fact is that pine is a quick enemy of cold conditions. Its qualities loosen the mucous in the throat, soothe the lungs and open up the air passages. The combination of honey, soothing and pleasant, with the loosening pine quality makes this an ideal cough remedy for children. Each passing year brings for it, new friends. A family of growing children cannot afford to be without it. 25c a bottle.

Section 1. A revision of the general ordinances of said city is hereby ordered, and Russell Brown is hereby employed and authorized to revise, compile and codify all necessary general ordinances of said city and to arrange same in new chapters, articles, and sections, with appropriate titles, sub-titles and numbers necessary to facilitate examination thereof, and the ascertainment of sections referring to the subject matter involved therein; and to prepare and arrange an index thereof and of the existing charter of said city, and when so prepared, to superintend the printing of not less than one hundred copies thereof in book form.

Section 4. All general ordinances and parts of general ordinances which conflict with said "Revised General Ordinances," are hereby repealed; provided, no prosecution now pending and no offense heretofore committed in violation of any ordinance heretofore enacted, shall be affected in any way by the passage and taking effect of this ordinance, or by the repeal hereof of any ordinances or parts of ordinances heretofore existing, but all such prosecution shall be conducted to final judgment, and all such offenses shall be punished under former ordinances in the same manner and to the same extent and effect as if this ordinance had not been enacted and said former ordinances repealed.

INDIAN TERRITORY LEADS

Eastern Part of State Evinces Greater School Interest.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 20.—Statistics adduced from reports in the office of the state superintendent of public instruction show that while the population and area of old Indian Territory and of old Oklahoma are about equal, there are 800 more public school districts in old Oklahoma than in former Indian territory. The average scholastic population of a district in Indian Territory is 195, while in old Oklahoma it is 53. The efficiency of the schools in the latter section is less than where the schools are larger.

It is noted that some districts on the west side of the state have but ten or twenty pupils and proportionately small taxable values. The school spirit is said to be better on the east side.

ACCIDENTS UNDER NEW LAW

Oklahoma Compensation Statute Only Became Effective Sept. 1

Oklahoma City, Sept. 20.—Up to this time the state industrial commission has received reports of about 150 accidents under the compensation law. This law became effective Sept. 1. The board has over 2,500 copies of policies in effect under the law and the outlook is that all the industries in the state that are to come under the law will be represented in the files of the commission by the end of this month. So far no compensation has been paid under the law.

LAUDS NEW ROAD LAW

Engineer Sees in It a Way to Reduce Construction Graft.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 20.—Discussing the work that is to be done by the county engineers under the new highway law, W. P. Gibson of Muskogee, a civil engineer, who is one of the board of examiners for the county engineers and also a member of the citizens' committee of the state capital commission by appointment of Governor Williams, said:

"The new road law is an efficient and practicable statute. Under it the state can begin construction of permanent highways. The county engineers are the most important factors in the scheme of road building and the selection of good men is necessary. That is what the committee of examiners is doing.

"An engineer's training and skill is of first importance. Equal to that is his honesty and integrity, as the money to improve and maintain the highways will be largely under his control.

"As an illustration of the idea, I recall an incident in which a high school class recently undertook as a part of the chemistry work to analyze the material in the paving of a so-called asphalt street. After many tests they were unable to find any trace of asphalt. They looked up the specifications under which the street was paved and discovered that the caption of the specifications contained the word asphalt in large print, while the body of the specifications did not contain the word at all. This pavement was a gross swindle and fraud upon the property owners."

THE COTTON SITUATION (By Henry Clews & Co.)

New York, Sept. 20.—A strong and active market was witnessed in cotton futures during the greater part of last week, all options scoring new high levels. Pessimistic crop advices continue, those from Texas especially being particularly discouraging. Reports from that state are to the effect that the crop generally is in a bad condition, while in the southwestern section the outlook points to a practical failure. It is not surprising, therefore, even in the face of recent favorable weather conditions, that the trade generally is disposed to discount a bullish crop condition report for the current month. There is some talk of a condition as low as 65 per cent as against the last government report of 69.2 per cent. Not alone here at home, but in other cotton growing countries, the crop outlook is far from satisfactory. Recent advices regarding the situation in Egypt are decidedly unfavorable, the latest being to the effect that the crop there is fully 30 per cent less than last season. Although these reports, naturally pointing to a small world supply for the coming year, have acted as a sustaining influence, the real backbone of the market is the strong spot situation. The demand for cotton, both in Liverpool and at home is steadily growing. Notwithstanding the fact that no announcement has yet been made regarding the proposed foreign credit arrangements, exports continue to increase, and so far this season over 250,000 bales have been shipped, against 32,000 bales a year ago. Of course, any comparison with last year's figures is not particularly enlightening, as the cotton export trade then was almost at a standstill, yet the figures of the current season are well ahead of the most optimistic earlier predictions and are undoubtedly indicative of a growing demand. That the domestic demand for cotton is constantly expanding, is evidenced by the recent report of the census bureau, which shows that in August of this year 464,486 bales of cotton were consumed in the United States. This is almost 20 per cent more than was consumed in the same month a year ago. Linters used were 55,899 bales.

or an increase of 114 per cent. Altogether the basic conditions in cotton appear to be sound, and while present prices have in a measure discounted a short crop and an increasing world's demand, still, higher prices would appear to be warranted in the long run, although the market has now reached a position where, owing to the extent and rapidity of the advance, a reaction may be expected at any time.
