of business has been given the railroads. What has been proposed is that an investigation shall be made and then and then freight rates allowed. Now we have the fulfillment of this promise will be to the railroads in a week.

The get-around of the railroads of the country for the year ending June 30, 1916, were 56 million dollars more than the last year of the year of 1915. This indicates a good thing that the railroads of "our" country have not necessarily been higher rates. The water is railroad work, the transportation is railroad work and management, may come it that the "border" is to be done by the most in rail street, you get millions for slight or even millions better to railroad management, as in the New Haven instance, instead of the shippers bearing the burden, so the shippers farmers or manufacturers or other men.

For two years the interstate commerce commission has been having made a physical valuation of the railroad property in the United States upon the actual value and not upon their inflated value as listed and freight rates to be decreased and lowered. The question of just and fair freight rates is already being carefully investigated by the commission and will be investigated by congress when it meets in December. The railroads are going to be allowed to charge just freight rates and their successful operation is of so much value, so necessary to the well being of the country that so good business man, farmer, merchant, miner or manufacturer, is going to begrudge them the right.

The position and the arguments of the republicans exemplify and prove their total inability and continued refusal to view the farmer in his true position in American life—a business man that there is a producing and in his business as to secure a financial place in the business as to whether as a shipper and as a receiver of freight be stable in the same class as the other shippers and receivers.

And a main fundamental difference now between the two parties is that the democrats under Wilson have recognized the farmer's real status, and have passed the way for his prosperity.

WONDERFUL GROWTH OF KENDALL COLLEGE. Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 30.—Dr. Charles Evans has increased the attendance at Kendall college 50 per cent in less than two months.

When Dr. Evans resigned his position as president of the Central State Normal, great were his expectations of the future of Henry Kendall College of Tulsa, but little did he dream of the wonderful achievements reached at Kendall in the last few days.

The school is a year in advance of Dr. Evans' expectations, already the people of the state must take off their hats to Kendall as the fourth school in 1916 state in size. The enrollment of the school is 500 per cent above that of the same time last year, and registration is continuing every day.

What do the people remember? The work of Dr. Evans in building up the Ardmore schools, and well do the people of the entire state remember his work in making C. H. N. R. the second normal school in size in the entire United States.

The good people of Edmond reluctantly gave up the man as did the people of Ardmore when he was drawn into the field of normal school education. But Dr. Evans was a bigger field, a field where he could build up a school second to none in the southwest, and by it a second time left a host of friends and is at this early stage making the people of the western part of the state up to progressive education. In this new field the Ardmore man is able to carry out educational ideals that have long been his dream, his hand is free and with the numerous men of Tulsa of his side he is able to build in the western part of the state a school similar to Oklahoma University in the west. Already the state schools are feeling the effect of Kendall in the western part of the state. One of the first acts of the new administration was to secure the co-operation of certain oil men in Tulsa, who have furnished the college with a loan fund of many thousands of dollars to be loaned to worthy students. And this is being taken advantage of by the student body of the north of the state. Many who went to Kendall expecting to have to take advantage of the loan fund have been able to work their way through by doing work in the day.

It is remarkable to note that Kendall has drawn a larger per cent of the normal school graduates, having nearly a score of the last year graduates from the Central State Normal school, where Dr. Evans was president last year. Several Ardmore students are attending Kendall this year, among them being Miss Grace Jones and G. J. Williams, who are also teaching a part of the day.

PROGRESSIVE LEADER OF CONNECTICUT

WILLIAM H. AVIS QUOTES ROOSEVELT'S LETTER AS TO PROGRESSIVE PARTY — AVIS SUPPORTS WILSON.

The industry as well as broadest to progressive principles, involved in the proposed public reorganization between Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft, which has been planned at a spectacular campaign and to Candidate Hughes is emphasized in a statement just issued by William H. Avis, progressive leader of Connecticut.

Mr. Avis, one time political opponent of Mr. Roosevelt and now an ardent supporter of President Wilson, calls the attention of progressives throughout the country to a letter written to him by Roosevelt on May 4, 1912, which is reprinted with Roosevelt's present affiliation was Taft, Woodrow Wilson, Charles Crane, Charles D. Johnson, Barnes, and other republican leaders in support of Mr. Roosevelt. In this letter now made public for the first time, Mr. Roosevelt wrote in part as follows:

"The progressive party stands today precisely where the republican party stood in the days of Lincoln, when it was the progressive party of the nation. It is as idle to talk of our amalgamating with either of the old party machines as it would have been to talk of Lincoln amalgamating with Bourbons Democrats or the cotton kings of that day. We stand alone today for our platform, we believe in applying the principles of that platform to party management as well as to government. There is no place in our vision for the free, for the man who represents the alliance between privilege and power and profits in politics. I firmly believe that there are literally millions of progressives among the rank and file of the republican and democratic parties and that these men will sooner or later realize that they can do nothing where they are and the only way they can effectively fight for social and industrial justice for political and economic freedom, for equality of opportunity, is by joining the progressive party."

Directing attention to the paragraph in the letter referring to the man who represents the alliance between "privilege and power and profits in politics," Mr. Avis says: "If Mr. Roosevelt really believed today what he said in 1912, then progressives can never renounce his attitude when he wrote the letter and his attitude at the present time. For the same and that which he repudiated in 1912 and the year which controls the republican party today are one and the same. On the other hand the democratic party, under Woodrow Wilson's leadership, has incarnated practically all of the principal planks of the progressive party in the democratic party's platform, as well as having legislated into law many progressive measures. The republican party, on the other hand, through its presidential candidate and standpat leaders, is even now advocating the reputation of those very progressive measures."

and on the lawn, and have not found it necessary to use the loan fund money.
