BISMARCK, MONDAY, NOV. 18, 1878.

The Jamestown Alert is getting to be quite a readable paper. It copies liberally from THE TRIBUNE.

MR. HOAG says the Republican is the best local paper north of St. Paul.—Fargo Republican.

What a lie! THE BISMARCK TRIBUNE looks down modestly from that position.

YANKTON may squeal a little over the establishment of the Bismarck Ways, but the scheme here was not started until it was definitely ascertained that Yankton was practically dead.

TAKEN as an enterprise, the conception and completion of the Bismarck Ways rank anything ever done in the Territory. Upper Missouri boats are now sure of safe quarters in a safe town.

It is now pretty clearly established that the provocation for Christ's crucifixion arose from his effort to make his Jerusalem weekly newspaper please everybody in the town, and at the same time to collect his outstanding bills.

Here thieves are still at work up the river. Five head stolen a short time ago have been recovered.—Dakota Valley Homestead.

In another column we publish the official returns for the city and county. A careful perusal thereof will develop the fact that a large number of responsible citizens were defeated by an equally large number of other responsible citizens.

Mr. Hayes' sudden conversion from his Southern policy was not unexpected. The repudiation of his bid for votes by the Southern states taught him the value of his "policy," and it was not unnatural that he should fire the useless article under the stove.

You wouldn't Kickapoo Indian, would you?—Stanford Advocate. Nor Cheyenne bricks at him?—Burlington Hawkeys. Nor Sioux him for damage?—Black Hills Times. Nor Crew over him when he is whipped?—Black Hills Herald. No; we'll lice-on with the poor Man-d-n you.

SPEAKING of the election of George Peoples to the mayoralty of Bismarck, a number of Territorial papers announce that he was a candidate on the "people's ticket." This is a ludicrous blunder. Peoples is a straight out Democrat, ran on the straight Democratic ticket, and was elected by a handsome majority.

A CORRESPONDENT wants to know why we don't print the President's Thanksgiving Proclamation. If Rutherford B. Hayes knows of anything on God's earth for which we ought to be grateful since he took hold of the country, he can afford to pay for publishing his proclamation at the regular rates.

If there is any species of sneak thieving a little meaner than any other, it is to pirate, without credit, news which a paper has spent money and labor to obtain. The credit line does not cost much to set up, and the paper that will refuse to give it is as contemptible as the overcoat thief. These observations will perhaps hit around pretty generally, but they are more especially intended for that literary wism-man, the Philadelphia New Northwest.

If Tom Scott is sick, as recently reported, then God help the country when Tom Scott is well. At the meeting of the National and International Commercial Convention in Chicago, Scott gobbled the whole outfit and secured an indorsement of his Texas Pacific steal. It is unfortunate that the local papers, generally so enterprising, should have neglected to state how much he paid per delegate for the job.

It is with pain that THE TRIBUNE notes a disposition on the part of the Minnesota papers to grow bitter over the elections in that state and abuse each other. This is all wrong. Why cannot editors dwell together in harmony and peace? You should follow the example of THE TRIBUNE, gentlemen, which occasionally chastises, where sparing chastisement would spoil the child, but always in a dignified and fatherly manner.

It is suggested by the Fargo Republican that THE TRIBUNE "let up" on the Eatonsville Gazette (alias the Fargo Times). THE TRIBUNE has never attacked the Times nor does it propose to. If there is anything we dislike it is a newspaper controversy, and there is nothing that can induce us to enter upon one. But when the Times or any other paper of youth and inexperience departs from the way of the righteous and becomes heedless of the admonitions of the Lord, it becomes a duty, which THE TRIBUNE will faithfully discharge, to spank it soundly and bring it back to the fold.

It is an ancient gag, but it seems to stand Mr. Pott, of the Eatonsville Gazette, (alias the Fargo Times) in good stead, to slander the people of a neighboring city and then sneak behind the skirts of two old and eminently respectable citizens. On his own responsibility Mr. Pott announced that great frauds had been perpetrated at the election in Bismarck. When snatched up to answer for his charge, he lays it upon the broad shoulders of a pair of citizens renowned for their age and respectability, but neglects entirely to mention their names. The thinosity of this class of journalism is too apparent to need comment. Go to, Mr. Pott, you are an ass.

THAT pesteriferous blot on American journalism, the Chicago Times, fulminates a screed on Judge Kidder's declaration of his intention to work for the admission of Dakota as a State, and takes occasion to spill its constitutional meanness on the people of the Territory. It asserts that Kidder is operating in the interests of a few hungry office seekers, and objects to a State organization, because the delegate would then have a representation in the Senate. The simple fact that the Chicago Times doesn't wield an ounce of influence in the whole United States, does not excuse its rabid attack on 125,000 respectable people, while its puerile arguments against the admission of the Territory serve to show up the best that can be said against such a scheme.

MR. POTT, of the Eatonsville Gazette, (alias the Fargo Times) doesn't think a question has been fairly discussed until he has lied on all sides of it. In a recent issue he claimed that Stoyell had dragooned 250 votes in Bismarck. In his last effort to perpetrate a newspaper he contends that two of the "oldest and most respectable citizens" of Bismarck have informed him that one ward of this city, entitled to only ninety votes, cast 300. Mr. Pott does not appear to comprehend that Stoyell ran in the county and didn't get a vote in the city, and consequently was the last man interested in the dragooning of one ward. Every citizen of Bismarck is acquainted with this fact, and consequently Mr. Pott misrepresents when he says he received any such information as he purveys to the public. Marry, come up, Mr. Pott, and add the element of consistency to your yarns if you expect us to put faith, even unto a grain of mustard seed, therein.

WITH magnificent recklessness the Yankton Press and Dakotian has been biting at the heels of the various respectable newspapers of the Territory, and claiming that Bartlett Tripp bought some of them outright, to secure his own political ends. It commenced on THE TRIBUNE, and when the lie was slapped back in his face, it opened a similar attack on the Roscoe Express. The Express denied it indignantly, whereupon the Press and Dakotian printed a bogus letter purporting to have been written by one Arthur M. Jones, proclaiming that he saw the money paid by Mr. Tripp to Mr. George P. Lanning for the use of the Express during the campaign. Upon this Jones comes to the front, denounces the letter as a forgery, and Lanning follows up with a terrible array of proofs that the whole business is a malicious libel. Thoroughly frightened by the facts, the Press and Dakotian sneaks into its hole, apologizes profusely, and howls for mercy. Such journalism as that practiced by the Press and Dakotian is making Yankton obnoxious to the whole Territory, for a decent community wouldn't tolerate it for a moment.

News and Notes.

The President has fixed November 28th as the day for Thanksgiving.

San Francisco is agitated over the proposition to institute hogging for crime.

Yankton is all torn up over the elopement of Mr. Al. Benedict and a Mrs. Hendershot.

A fellow named Jesse P. J. DeBeck, a teacher in one of the Cincinnati schools, has been bounced for insulting his lady pupils.

During the month of October the Northern Pacific Railroad company sold in the neighborhood of one hundred thousand acres of land.

A St. Louis man got a divorce from his wife, married his daughter, and now sends word from jail to know what the charges are against him.

The suffrage strikers are at it again, this time down in Indianapolis. They have organized a convocation and are making fools of themselves as usual.

A special train on the New Brunswick and Bangor Railroad ran off the track near Lawrenceville Thursday night, and two persons were burned to death and a number seriously injured.

Jerry Collins, sentenced in St. Louis in 1873, to be hung, and whose sentence was subsequently commuted to imprisonment for life, has grown tired of solitude, and writes to the Governor of Missouri insisting on being hung.

Round's Printers Cabinet, published by S. P. Rounds & Co., of Chicago, is at hand. Typographically it is one of the handsomest journals in the country, while its contents are of incalculable value to every newspaper man and printer.

A Jerseyman, James I. Beach got into a row over a game of cards in a St. Paul saloon Friday afternoon, and in the melee shot and killed Alexander Hamilton. Beach was pretty well pounded up, but claimed that the whole business was an accident.

The National Yellow Fever Committee have prepared a report in which they claim that Bronze John is not indigenous to the atmosphere of any part of the United States, but is caused by importation. As a remedy they propose a rigid National Quarantine.

The Georgetown, Leadville & San Juan railroad, with a capital stock of $5,000,000 divided into 5,000 shares of $100 each, to run between Georgetown and Leadville, on the southern boundary of Colorado, has been incorporated, with Jay Gould, Sidney Dillon and Russell Sage, Fred L. James, of Boston, and W. R. H. Loveland, C. C. Welch and E. L. Berthold, of Colorado, incorporators. It is designed to continue this route into New Mexico and Arizona.

From All Over.

The Seventh cavalry left Bear Butte on the 12th inst. and will probably reach Fort Lincoln to-morrow or next day.

The telegraph line from Bismarck to Deadwood via Keogh, will be completed to-day and messages by the military line will be sent at fifty cents for ten words instead of two dollars and fifty, the price charged on the old line.

S. H. Emerson says he did not give the oyster supper spoken of in the last issue of THE TRIBUNE, but went on the invitation of Capt. J. C. Barr, and wants to say that he was obliged to excuse the captain on this first occasion, on account of other pressing engagements. Capt. Barr says that Mr. Emerson did give the supper, furnished the cook, provided the grub and ate it himself.

What Peake Saw.

[Moonhead Advocate.]
The Rev. Mr. Peake visited Bismarck Friday and saw many signs of business activity there. There were steamboats at the landing which go 1,260 miles up the Missouri and into the Yellowstone. Capt. Moore and son, of the Eclipse, are pleasant gentlemen and have some Pittsburg acquaintances in this vicinity. They are about going into winter quarters. The Captain is quite confident that an abundant supply of coal may be obtained up the river. Coal from that region is used on the boats at the present time. A long train of covered wagons arrived on Friday evening from the Black Hills; 300 miles to the south west, to take back winter supplies for the miners.

The Effect of Sinews.

[Yankton Herald.]
The election of Ansley Gray, of Bismarck, to the Territorial House of Representatives will add much to the character and respectability of that body at the coming session. He is a gentleman of culture, extensive legislative experience and his constituents can depend upon it that the interests of Northern Dakota will be safe in his hands.

Examining the River.

[Helena Independent.]
Messrs. A. M. Holter, T. C. Power, A. Kleinschmidt and others are preparing for an observation trip down the river to the Falls. The boat for this voyage is nearly completed, and will be launched and manned within a few days. This is the third party this fall sailing on a similar mission.

Shake.

[Brainerd Tribune.]
Robert Macnider, formerly of this place, is elected to the Territorial Legislature from Bismarck. Congratulations, old boy.

Delicate and Delicious.

The Pet Rose, Allata Bouquet, Yang-Yang Musk Rose, and all of the odors made for the handkerchief and toilet by Dr. Price, are not only very delicate and delicious, but fragrant and persistent. Dr. Price's Unique Perfumes are certainly as sweet as the flowers from which they are made. Sold by W. A. Hollenback.

A grand free lunch served every night at the Minne-ha-ha Saloon and so it will continue to the end.

Stimpson has now on display the best stock of Holiday goods ever offered in Bismarck. Give him a call.

For Sale Cheap.

First class household furniture, consisting of black walnut bed room set, bedstead, bureau, and wash stand, chairs, elegant sofa and easy chair, ebony and gold finish, raw silk and plush covered never used; two Ingrain and stair carpets, new Cook stove, nearly new, and other householding articles; also canary bird cage. Enquire of J. K. Wetherby, at law office of Flannery & Wetherby.

For the "Pride of Bismarck" Cigar, step into the Minne-ha-ha Saloon.
