Hon. Alex. Hughes writes that he will leave Washington for Bismarck in about ten days.

Walter Bragg has just returned from Helena. He reports people half crazy with the gold mine fever.

A large number of Dakotans have gone south as far as Washington this winter—for their health.

Twenty two filings were made at the land office yesterday, including a number of tree claims near Williamsport.

Brunsmann's band has been engaged at an expense of $50 to furnish the music for the series of dances to be given by the Governor's Guard.

Messrs. Whitley & McNeal yesterday sold for Mr. Smith, of Bragg, Smith & Co., to Messrs. Gillespie & Morrell, twenty-two lots in the city of Steele.

A Minneapolis commercial traveler who makes a trip throughout Dakota every sixty days states that Bismarck is the liveliest and best city in the territory.

J. A. McLean came as far west as Fargo on yesterday's train from the east. He will devote a few days to the indictments now pending before the grand jury.

The TRIBUNE was in error in stating that there would be a recruit drill at the armory last evening. It was postponed on account of the concert held there until this evening.

The suggestion made by a correspondent that Sibley Island be set apart as a public park is a good one. It is covered with a fine growth of timber and is two miles long by half a mile wide.

H. J. Whitley will leave on Sunday for a six weeks' visit to his old home in Michigan. He will talk "Dakota" during his absence and will undoubtedly turn a number of colonies Dakoteward.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Clark, of Sterling, mourn the loss of a four-year-old child which died Wednesday of cholera infantum. The funeral will be held from the Catholic church of this city on Friday.

Information has been received that Alexander McKeezie has had a summons served upon him in Washington to return to Fargo and give testimony in a case now before the United States Court.

Four pages of the 10,000 copies of the TRIBUNE special illustrated edition are already printed. But a few advertisements will be received for the remaining pages and they should be handed in at once.

Major E. M. Fuller has the honor of having been elected Tuesday as representative from the Mandan Lodge I. O. O. F. of this city to the Grand Lodge of that order to be held at Mitchell in May next.

The first prominent act of Mr. Wade, the new sheriff of Emmons county, was the successful pursuit and capture of a wife. After this exhibition of courage and bravery lawbreakers had best beware!

The ladies' aid society of the M. E. church will meet at the residence of Mrs. N. L. Griffin, corner of Front and Fifth streets, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. It is the desire of the society that all the ladies of the church and congregation attend.

The members of the city council are indignant at the telephone company for removing the telephone from the engine house without cause or previous notice. The council may retaliate by ordering all telephone poles removed from the streets.

The TRIBUNE wishes to correct an impression that the county accounts are not all right. The books have been checked and no errors thus far discovered. A simplified and more perfect system of keeping accounts is however to be adopted in the future.

The Chicago Tribune is the authority for the statement that E. R. Wadsworth, late general agent at Chicago for the Erie, is to be tendered an important position in the Northern Pacific service. The office formerly held by Mr. Wadsworth is to be abolished.

Some Indians who began the habit of going into the office of a law firm to warm have had the door forever closed against them. An Indian is not the most pleasant and agreeable object in the world when he begins to thaw out and act on the offensive.

Yesterday the Bismarck U. S. land office received a request from a Fort Buford man asking for information relative to Washington Territory lands. Another correspondent propounded thirteen questions and ended by writing: "Tell me everything and anything you can think of."

No housekeeper who has flavored a cake, pudding or cream with Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts, will ever return to the use of the cheap flavoring extracts that flood the market. One trial will satisfy that for purity and delicious natural flavor Dr. Price's are alone in the market.

Governor Ordway has informed Commissioner General Morehead, of the world's fair at New Orleans, that Dakota will make an exhibit of her mineral and agricultural resources and he could safely say that their exhibit of natural curiosities, such as petrified wood and bodies of mammoth pre-historic animals, would be of marvelous interest.

The Bosman Evening Courier says the large folding doors at each end of the Bosman tunnel are kept closed, except when trains are due, in order to keep the water inside from freezing. All trains now run through the tunnel and thereby save two miles and an hour in time. As soon as the railroad company finish the ballasting necessary, trains will run through the tunnel at the usual rate of speed.

After a few days country life, John Yegen has returned from his farm on Apple creek. Mr. Yegen owns the famous Salisbury farm, and it is feared that he will raise so many turkeys next year that the other farmers will be unable to sell him any for his city trade. Mr. Yegen says everything looks well at the farm, but the fears the peach crop will be light next season.

"The Bismarck TRIBUNE is still harping on 'the noble edifice.'"—[Sioux City Journal.]

If you could stand here and gaze upon that noble edifice as we can, Mr. Journal, you would wonder that we do not harp on it a great deal more. Such a stupendously magnificent free gift to a people was never before heard of in the annals of this great country. A thousand harpers scattered about its towering and ponderous walls could not do it justice.

Mandan Pioneer: Papers were served on the Northern Pacific railroad company by Lawyer Rice yesterday, in a $20,000 suit brought against the road by George S. Adams, of Dickinson, for personal injuries received while jumping from a switch engine at the latter place.

He is a genial, pleasant gentleman, and ships goods to Bismarck because, as he says, "it is bound to be the best city northwest of Minnesota."

If housewives will make sweeter, lighter, and more digestible biscuits, cakes, etc., with Dr. Price's powder than can be made with other kinds, is it not an incontestable proof of its purity and greater excellence? Give Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder a trial in the oven and we will warrant it to give perfect satisfaction.

Capt. Stephen Baker, U. S. A., formerly stationed at Bismarck, and who yet retains large property interests in the capital city, arrived last evening from a four months' tour of Europe. Capt. Baker left Bismarck in September, and contemplated making a tour of the continent with J. K. Wetherby, but arrived there ahead of him. He left Mr. Wetherby a few weeks since, en route to Italy, and states that he is enjoying himself and will arrive home about April 1st.

About this time every year the following item is a good reminder of the duty that the people of Bismarck owe to others: "Every citizen should constitute himself a committee of one to extend aid and courtesy to those who come among us in search of locations or as casual visitors. Especially those who start in some needed branch of business should receive attention and encouragement. Oft times the man who will hesitate, will cast his lot with a town whose citizens give him a cordial reception, for it makes him feel that he will be welcome, and with many this feeling is needed to remove the almost universal repugnance to starting in a strange town."

The masquerade party and supper to be given by the officers of Fort Lincoln occurs this evening, and those fortunate enough to secure an invitation are sure to attend. Ambulances for the convenience of those who have no conveyances will start from the postoffice this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Persons who desire to avail themselves of this transportation so generously tendered by the officers of the post will please notify Capt. Wright at the United States signal office before 11 a. m.

Lieutenant Alexander Ogle, Seventeenth infantry, came up from Yates Tuesday. Alexander is one of the pioneer soldiers of the far west. He came, many years ago, from his home in the mountains of Pennsylvania to the wilds of Dakota. During the Sioux campaign of 1876 Alexander was adjutant general of the forces in and around Fort Lincoln, including the great stronghold and key to the situation, Fort Clarke, or as it was afterwards called, Fort Gurley. Upon many nights Alexander and the writer have chased the Sioux over the hills around Fort Lincoln, and always captured the enemy in the club room, concealed in a black bottle. Then and there we destroyed him, wiped him out as it were. Since those days Alexander has taken upon himself a wife and instead of chasing Sioux he walks the floor at night singing his old army song, "Go to sleep, my baby darling." Alexander says the one pair he has now are worth more than any two pair he ever set behind. The Lieutenant is quartered at the Sheridan.

Mr. A. C. Jordan, associate editor of the Minneapolis Tribune, arrived last evening, and made arrangements whereby his paper will hereafter receive complete telegraphic reports from Bismarck, the capital city of Dakota. The Tribune has received a new perfecting press and new type, and has formed a combination with leading eastern journals, whereby it secures the use of a special wire to all important news centers at and east of Chicago. In return for this service a part of the Tribune contract is that it shall furnish to the eastern newspapers in exchange the news of the entire northwest.

Mr. Jordan is now on an extended tour, arranging for such service, and the liberal terms paid and the number of agencies established, will secure for the Tribune the most complete review of northwestern news. The Tribune will also make a special feature of collecting in the east news of special interest to the northwest, and its circulation will largely increase. Mr. Jordan has been for fifteen or twenty years in the newspaper harness, and ten years ago assisted Col. Lounsbury for a few weeks in conducting the weekly TRIBUNE. He has not been in Bismarck since that time, and naturally notes many changes. That portion of the city now known as Fisher's addition, was once filed upon as a claim by Mr. Jordan, but after investing $2 in the enterprise, he abandoned it, and now naturally regrets his action. Mr. Jordan expects to return east this morning, but an effort will be made to induce him to spend the day in making a note of the wonderful advancement in growth and civilization of the capital city.

Real Estate Sales.
Every day, as spring approaches the sale of real estate increases and there is already a large inquiry that will soon lead to a brisk demand. Yesterday Mr. H. J. Whitley sold sixteen lots in Steele, six to Mr. Charles Renard of Pittsburg, Pa., and ten to a New York gentleman. This closed out the last of the lots in Steele, Whitley & Clock's addition which was put onto the market one year ago. Since that time Mr. Whitley alone has sold nearly $36,000 worth of lots from the addition and they have all now passed into second hands at increased prices. Messrs. Whitley & McNeal also sold yesterday a quarter section of land near Williamsport.

The Visit to Mandan.
About fifty gentlemen and twenty-five ladies boarded the special train for Mandan Tuesday night to accept the invitation so kindly extended to them to participate in the opening of the roller rink in that city. All took their skates with them, and immediately upon arrival proceeded to the rink, where they were tendered free admission. An hour or two were pleasantly spent in the fascinating amusement, about twenty-five having put on skates while the remainder joined the interested spectators. But few Mandan people were present, and scarcely half a dozen dared venture upon the frolicsome rollers in the presence of their guests, evidently preferring to take their first tumbles in private. The Mandan rink has a fine, hard-wood floor, but is so much smaller than the Bismarck rink, that the Bismarck skaters could not do themselves justice. It is said that the Mandan people during the summer will erect a rink as large or larger than the Atheneum.

Valley City Times: A letter from E. P. Wells has been received by B. W. Benson, in regard to a suggestion as to the advisability of a meeting of the territorial committee, at which the place of meeting of the territorial convention for the election of delegates to the Chicago convention shall be settled. So far Huron seems to be in the lead, and being central between the two sections, may get the prize.

St. Paul Globe: There is a great deal of gratification felt in North Dakota at the information recently received from parties who have called upon President Harris and General Manager Oakes, in New York, to the effect that these gentlemen intend to inquire closely into the needs and interests of the people along the line of the Northern Pacific, and make tariff rates that will be entirely satisfactory to the country through which it passes, and aid in the development of the agricultural resources with emigrant rates that will not deter settlers.

The Pioneer Press says: General Emigration Commissioner Groat, of the Northern Pacific, is getting out a sheet containing notes and comments from newspapers on the Northern Pacific country. It will contain a summary of Gen. H. V. Boynton's letters to the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, Col. E. P. Mitchell's letter to the New York Sun, an extract from Henry Ward Beecher's Thanksgiving Day sermon, and statistics and items of interest pertaining to Minnesota, Montana, northern Dakota, Idaho, Oregon and Washington Territory.

The Polo Game.

With the exception of the evening of the masquerade party a larger audience never assembled in the roller rink than the one of Wednesday, attracted by the announcement of the first public contest between the two polo clubs of this city. The hall was filled at an early hour and at 8 o'clock the spectators were requested to retire to the gallery and stage in order that the two clubs might have the entire floor for the contest and to prevent accidents. The game consists in having a wicket or gate at each end of the hall which is guarded by the respective clubs, and a ball started from the center of the room must pass through one of the wickets to score the first point in the game. The club whose gate the ball passes through loses. The struggle of the opposing members to drive the ball through one gate and prevent its being driven through the gate which they guard is interesting and exciting. The "Jewells" and the "Clippers" were the opposing clubs last evening and there was of course great interest manifested in determining which should win the first game of the kind ever played in Bismarck. The ball was buffeted about for some minutes, at times being completely lost in the struggling knot of skaters but at last was driven by the Jewells through the gate guarded by the Clippers. The second inning resulted in the same way, and the game being the best two out of three, the Jewells were declared the winners of the game. The third inning was however played for the amusement of the spectators and resulted in a victory for the Clippers. The members of the winning club are: John Bain, captain; James Maenider, Tag Wilson, E. W. Donahue, H. H. Palmer, Harry Wetherby, Fred McIntyre and B. Race.

A Curious Letter.

Register Rea of the United States land office gets a good many curious letters regarding applications for land. Among the number is the following received yesterday:

LITTLE MISSOURI, D. T., Feb. 3, 1884.

J. A. R.—Dear Sir: I, Adolph Eysand, do hereby apply to enter under section 2289 of the revised statutes of the United States, Medora township 31 Marquis de Mores neighbor containing 160 acres going up the river.
Yours, &c., A. EYLAND.

The following pupils in the Central Public school in the grade taught by Miss Sara Thornton were perfect in attendance during the month of January:

Lillie Blumenstine.

James Atwell.
Jessie Taylor.
Bea Schreck.
Blanche Hussey.
Elsie Davis.
Bertha Davis.
Sophie Edberg.
Burr Kress.
Lee Kress.
Louie Schreck.

A Deserved Compliment.

The skating of little Miss Eda Wakeman attracted a great deal of attention at the roller rink last evening. She is an accomplished as well as a graceful skater.—[Mandan Pioneer.]

This is a deserved compliment to a sweet little maiden. It has been but a comparatively short time since little Eda first attempted to skate, yet she can now move swiftly about the rink and keep pace with the older skaters, and move, too, with an easy grace that pleases every one who sees her. It will not be long ere she will tax the skill of some of the experts in the more difficult movements.

Proved Up.

The following persons made final proofs at the United States land office yesterday:

Fred C. Stevens, of Carrington, on the southeast quarter of section 10, town 146, range 67.
Christ Hendrickson, of Carrington, on the northwest quarter of section 34, town 146, range 67.
Knut B. Olson, of Carrington, the southeast quarter of section 8, township 146, range 67.
David T. Davis, of Sykeston, on the northwest quarter of section 18, town 147, range 69.

A Denial.

BISMARCK, D. T., Feb. 5, 1884.
TO THE EDITOR: Knowing that you are anxious to defend the right on all occasions, and give blame where blame is due, I wish you to be kind enough to insert the following contradiction of a report that is circulating around town to the effect that I, the undersigned, was the one to give information to the officer in command at Fort Lincoln, in reference to the taking and cutting of wood on Sibley Island. Now, I take this opportunity of contradicting that report and emphatically deny having had any communication whatever with any person either civil or military, and defy anyone to prove the above named accusation. Hoping you will be kind enough to give this the prominence it deserves in your next issue, I remain sir,

Yours respectfully,
THORNTON MARBLE.

Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Bismarck M. E. Church is centrally located on the corner of Fifth and Thayer streets opposite the court house. It was erected by the untiring efforts of Rev. J. M. Bull in the year 1880. It is a large commodious structure of the gothic style of architecture with corner tower and steeple. At the time it was built the society was small, and were unable to finish and furnish the interior as was intended, although the citizens rallied grandly to their support. This has necessitated a rest for a couple of years, the society worshipping in it in the meantime in its unfinished condition. During the interval the ladies of the congregation have not been idle, but from time to time have held societies and given entertainments for the purpose of completing the church as originally designed. They have succeeded so well that already the unfinished ceiling and rough walls under the magic touch of the fresco artist and knight of the paint brush are becoming things of beauty, and it is to be hoped that in the no distant future the entire edifice will be so finished and furnished as to compare favorably with any church in the northwest. The first Methodist minister appointed to Bismarck was Rev. Geo. W. Barnett, of the Minnesota conference. This appointment was made September 24, 1878, and continued for one year, when he was changed to St. Charles, Minn., and Rev. J. M. Bull appointed to Bismarck. At this time there was an organization of fifteen members worshipping in the city hall. Rev. Bull was continued the full pastoral term of three years, being abundant in labors and endeavoring himself to the hearts of the people, while with hands and brain he toiled to erect a suitable temple of worship. His successor was Rev. J. C. Rhodes, a transfer from the Erie conference, Pa., who, on account of the illness of his wife, remained but nine months. This left the pulpit vacant till November 1st, when the present pastor, D. C. Plannett, of the Erie conference, was secured as a supply. Since that time regular services have been held every Sabbath, and the congregations show considerable increase. A series of revival meetings have been in progress since the close of the union services following the week of prayer, in which there is marked religious interest.

The regular services are as follows: Preaching every Sabbath at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath school at 3 p. m., under the management of Harvey Harris assisted by an able corps of earnest officers and teachers. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. There is also a prayer service on Sabbath morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by C. H. Phelps. To all these services the public generally are cordially invited.

A well organized ladies' aid society meets every Friday afternoon, of which the pastor's wife is president, Mrs. W. H. Francis, vice president, Mrs. M. E. Bow, secretary, and Mrs. E. C. Ford, treasurer.

The singing of the congregation is conducted by Mr. S. A. Bushman, as chorister, and Miss Kate Dingeman, as organist.

The officers for this year are as follows: Stewards, E. S. Pierce, Harvey Harris, L. O. Wilson, and E. C. Ford. Trustees: W. H. Francis, J. P. Dunn, E. N. Corey, J. W. Jackson, E. C. Ford, Geo. A. Thomas, E. S. Pierce; all of whom gladly unite with the pastor in giving a hearty welcome to strangers.

The Party.

The first of the series of parties given by the Governor's Guard last evening was not largely attended, although a very large number of tickets had been sold. There has been so many social entertainments of late and so many are announced for the near future that the business men felt content last evening with purchasing a ticket and not participating in the festivities. It is a pleasure to be able to announce that financially the party was an immense success, and also that the comparatively few who attended the party declare that the music, the floor, the management and everything was perfect and the enjoyment of the evening could only have been increased by a larger attendance. Many who purchased tickets contemplating attending the masquerade ball at Fort Lincoln tonight, and for that reason only rested last evening. Undoubtedly the remaining three of the series of parties will be largely attended.

To the Public.

A mysterious, questionable and almost unknown secret organization, sailing under the high sounding title of the "Knights of the Mystic Star Chamber," has falsely published what purports to be article IX of the declaration of the principles of the Knights of Labor. As an officer and member of that order I desire to denounce the purported quotation as false in every particular. The declaration of principles of the order and the constitution and by-laws may be inspected to prove the assertion above made. Article IX of the declaration of principles of the knights of labor reads:

"The abolition of the contract system on National, state and municipal work."

The above, or anything else published or upheld by the knights of labor, cannot be construed to represent such principles as are quoted as a part of our creed by the mystic star chamber. Furthermore, I desire to enquire as to the origin and membership of this self-concocted order. None of the Bismarck members of labor organizations ever heard of any other lodge of knights of the mystic star chamber except the Bismarck lodge, and extensive correspondence has failed to secure any information from any one who has ever heard of the order. If it has a membership outside of Burleigh county, will the organization that has sent forth the malicious and untruthful statement name a few of the members? The knights of labor will not admit mystic characters into membership. Can the mystic star chamber members say as much?
B. F. GLIDDEN,
Organizer for Dakota.

The Friends.

Mr. R. T. Bentley, a member of the estimable community of Quakers at Sandy Springs, Md., says he was severely affected by rheumatism in his right hand. Mr. Bentley applied St. Jacobs Oil, the great pain cure, and by its continued use, in a short time, was completely cured.

Fort Yates Correspondence.

It has been currently reported here that the young ladies of the capital city are to hold a Leap Year ball in the near future, but according to the present outlook on the reservation it will in a few days hence be extremely difficult to find a sufficient supply of the "batch" element in and around Bismarck to make up a nickle yam-yam party, much less a leap year ball, unless, forsooth, the enterprising young ladies of Dakota's metropolis import a considerable number from our eastern and more favored cities, and prevail on a few New York and Philadelphia dudes to come west to promenade the outskirts of your city for the purpose of scaring the squaws away. Two hundred and thirty-one dark eyed, pigeon-toed brunettes, dwelling near and in the vicinity of Standing Rock are demanding permission to visit the banner city and compel the batchelors to do their duty, their whole duty, and nothing but their duty in regard to the interests of Bismarck. Moreover, they will have no backsliding in the matter. Each and every one will have to take to himself a wife. The agent has requested me to write and let you know how the case stands, for he can't hold them back much longer. He is in a terrible dilemma. If he allows them to go he will be torn asunder by the white ladies who are trying to rope in a partner for life; if he holds them back he will be scolded by the squaws who are indignant at his trying to impede the march of civilization. Our "ladies" here having heard that there was a number of unmarried men in Bismarck, a list of which was published in the TRIBUNE some time since, hunted up the paper and proceeded in a body to the interpreter, Louis Primlan, ordering him to explain the whole article under pain of an instant proposal. Casting a glance over the motley crowd, he was only too glad to do anything they wished if they dropped the proposal.

When he came to the name of "J. B. Adams, a mainbrace of the TRIBUNE," Lone-Eyed Nellie, second rib of Sitting Bull, champion coffee-cooler and beef-mangler of the great Sioux nation, picked up her ears and demanded to know what a "mainbrace" was. When duly explained she was observed by Sway-Back Susan, the other rib, to steeled silently out of the assembly and lasso her blanket, which had been playing hide-and-seek with several others on the sunny side of the council hall. She was heard to mutter, whilst buckling it on, that she would allow no mainbrace of an influential paper to continue outside of the holy bonds of wedlock, and if the pale-face women were chicken-hearted and feared to propose, she who had whacked the old man around for the last twenty-three years feared no crusty old "batch." Even if he was bald from the tip of his nose to the nape of his neck, he had at least the side-whiskers yet.

Since then she has not been seen. The government sent a squad of police to hunt her up, but she cannot be found. Yankton Bill, crossing the Cannon Ball, saw the imprints of a moccasin in the snow, but as she wears her heels pretty well forward on the outside, he could not tell whether it was Lone Eye Nellie going north or some bandy-legged galoot going south, but is inclined to believe it was her. We are anxious to learn if the Twinkler has twinkled his last twinkle; if so, Sitting Bull has decreed that he and his whole band should wear the festive robe for six weeks, and abstain from cooling white men's coffee for the space of two hours, Fort Yates time.

But revenue a nos moutons, as the French say. After Louis Primeau explained the article thoroughly and disappeared behind several soap boxes, where he knew they dare not follow him, the squaws held a meeting and the following resolutions were passed without one dissenting voice:

WHEREAS, God, in His infinite wisdom, has decreed every fourth year a leap year, and civilized nations have decided that young ladies can, with perfect propriety, demand the hand and heart of any single gentleman without their assent to refuse; and

WHEREAS, The Bismarck TRIBUNE, having the interests and population of our capital city at heart, doing all in its power to further the former and increase the latter; be it

Resolved, That we, 231 brunettes, of all sizes, ages, conditions of life and pigeon-toedness, wend our way to Bismarck and corral all the batchelors in and around that famous city.

Two more squaws, Good-Wood Mollie and Toe-Nail Peggie, have left to a reservation. They are supposed to be in quest of Messrs. R. B. Mellon and Lee Eisenberg. "CATKA."

[NOTE.—Mr. Adams, of the TRIBUNE, was called east last evening on important business. He left on this morning's train.—Ed.]
