

VILLISTAS AGAIN IGNORE NEUTRALITY

Chase Fugitive Across Border and Cause Execution.

DEMANDS IGNORED

Mexican Commander Declared Soldiers Were Ignorant of Line.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 12.—Villa soldiers crossed the international boundary line at Naco, Arizona, today to capture a Mexican who had killed an officer, according to a report from Colonel Brown, who is in command of two squadrons of cavalry at that place, to southern department headquarters at Fort Sam Houston.

Colonel Brown made a demand on Villa officials for the man who had been captured, and while he was talking with Villa officials he heard shots. The reports were that the man had been summarily executed.

"Was a Mistake." Colonel Brown was informed by General Jose Rodriguez, Villista commander, that the entrance into the United States had been made by his men unintentionally because they did not know the precise location of the boundary line. He said the handling of the captured man had been unofficial and that the officers knew nothing of the shooting until it was over.

It is understood there is a gambling house conducted in Naco, Mexico, by an American which is a breeding place for fights. The Mexican officer was killed in a gambling game, according to Colonel Brown's informant as set forth in his report. The act of the Villa soldiers was a violation of strict neutrality which military authorities at Naco, Arizona, have been maintaining. What effect it will have on the official of American military commander at Naco toward the Villistas is problematical.

Mark Boundary Line. NACO, Arizona, Nov. 12.—The boundary line between Mexico and the United States was marked and marked at fifty yard intervals by American flags here today. This action was taken after a Villa soldier escaping from Naco, Sonora, had been pursued by Villa cavalry across the boundary. Col. W. C. Brown of the Tenth cavalry, United States border patrol, arrived at the Mexican border to protest just as General Jose Rodriguez of the Villa forces signalled to the firing squad that faced the prisoner.

It was explained that the man executed was wanted in connection with a shooting affray and that his pur-

OPERA STAR A HEAVY LOSER IN SHIP FIRE

MME. EMMA EAMES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Friends of Mme. Emma Eames de Gogorza, the operatic star, have learned that she lost practically everything she possessed, including a valuable collection of momentous accumulated during her career, in a fire aboard the cruise boat Drome, en route from Paris to New York. Goods enough to fill five vans were lost by the singer.

Several Warrants Today. The grand jury returned a total of 24 indictments yesterday. It was their first report since they began their deliberations. The district clerk's office was busy all afternoon preparing the warrants but they will not be turned over to the sheriff's office for service until this morning. It is thought that all of them are against bootleggers and gamblers, including the recent case of other officials than Chief Burns are affected.

The grand jury adjourned until next Wednesday. Attorney General Prelling and his assistants left last night for Oklahoma City, where they will prepare to take up the railroad rate case in the federal court next Monday morning.

When the grand jury reconvenes it will consider criminal cases that will be presented by County Attorney Ed Crossland, and which must go before the grand jury rather than a justice court. The case against C. A. Sanderson, charged by Assistant City Attorney John Woodard with assault with intent to kill, will not come before the grand jury, it became known yesterday, for the reason that Woodard is in Tennessee and not fully recovered from the injuries he received in his scuffle with Sanderson several weeks ago. Some of the other cases to be considered next week are of more than passing importance and constitute the usual routine criminal prosecutions usually disposed of in the lower courts of the county.

The accusation against Chief Burns charges him with malfeasance in office, in that he permitted bootlegging and gambling joints to run and condoned an alleged "license system" under protection of which houses of ill fame have operated.

An official dispatch to the Mexican consulate received today from the city of Mexico announces that all persons guilty of violating the new decree will be "suitably punished." The mandate applies to the state of Mexico, which is one of the populous commonwealths of the interior of Mexico.

NOTHING DEFINITE IN ANCONA'S CASE

Impression Is Strong That Italian Vessel Was Trying to Make Escape.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Still without definite information concerning the circumstances under which the Italian liner Ancona was sunk, state department officials took no further steps today in the situation.

It is believed details probably will reach here tomorrow. Ambassador Thomas Nelson Page's visit to the Italian foreign office is expected to develop at least whether the Ancona was torpedoed without warning, or whether she was fired at by the vessel after she had stopped. Until definite information is available on these points, representations to Austria will be withheld. The impression is strong in official quarters, based on press dispatches, the vessel tried to escape.

WOMAN'S BOARD HAS BEEN RECOGNIZED

Participate For First Time in Deliberations of Church Extension Board.

OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 12.—The woman's board of home missions was recognized today for the first time in the deliberations of the board of home missions and church extension of the Methodist Episcopal church, now holding its annual meeting here, Mrs. B. B. Street of Washington, D. C., was spokesman for the women delegates.

The woman's board, she said, had raised $342,652 during the last year, an increase of $22,496 over the previous year. Of this amount, she explained, $50,000 in cash and supplies had been contributed to frontier pastors.

An important feature of the session was the decision to provide a special fund for great emergencies. This was the result of a suggestion made by Bishop T. F. Henderson of Chattanooga, Tenn. Surplus revenues hitherto appropriated as they developed will be set aside hereafter for the emergency fund.

Some Drop. "When a person once gets started on the downward path he rarely ever stops until he strikes the bottom," said the speaker who was pleading for moral uplift.

"That's right," interrupted a member of his audience, who was swathed in bandages and who walked with a crutch. "I know from experience."

"Ah!" exclaimed the speaker, "here is an example of my assertion. Pray, my good man, would you tell me what was the cause of your downfall?"

"Ready, I don't know," was the reply. "It might have been trouble with my carburetor or my gasoline may have run out. All I know is that my engine stopped on me four thousand feet above the clouds."

CHIEF OF POLICE BURNS SUSPENDED

Grand Jury Returns Accusation and Recommends Removal.

FIRST INDICTMENTS

Twenty-four Warrants Are Issued Against Alleged Offenders.

FOLLOWING the return of a grand jury accusation against Chief of Police Foster N. Burns yesterday morning District Judge Conn Lynn issued an order temporarily removing that official from office. No indictment was found against Chief Burns. The latter, it was said last night, will relinquish his office today and prepare for a trial in the near future. He believes that he will clear himself of the charges contained in the accusation and in the meantime will be content to become a private citizen.

It is probably that some action will be taken by the city commission this forenoon with reference to the appointment of a temporary head for the police department, pending the outcome of the Burns case.

BUSINESS METHODS FOR THE COURTS

Chicago Jurist Makes Extraordinary Speech Before a Des Moines, Iowa, Club.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 12.—Judge Harry Olson, chief justice of the municipal court of Chicago, speaking before the Oden club of Des Moines tonight, said:

"The secret of administering justice efficiently under modern conditions is business management for the courts, which means concentrated personal responsibility, publicity, freedom to initiate forms and methods of administration and to adopt scientific methods."

ATTORNEY BOONE IS FOUND GUILTY

Jury's Verdict Fails to Set Punishment; This is Third Trial for Tulsa Lawyer.

Special to The World. MUSKOGEE, Nov. 12.—Robert J. Boone, prominent attorney of Tulsa, was found guilty in district court today of embezzling $1,894 of the funds belonging to Robert J. Glenn and held in trust by him as guardian for his daughter, Elm Glenn.

The jury failed to assess punishment, leaving that to the court. It was Boone's third trial on different charges, the first being a mistrial and the second resulting in a twenty-four hour imprisonment. On this trial the jurors took twelve ballots, eleven of them standing two to two for conviction. On the question of punishment nine of the jurors voted to give the attorney five years, one voted for two and a half years, one voted for thirty days, while the twelfth voted for twenty-four hours.

Robert J. Glenn, the guardian in the case, is the man for whom the famous Glenn fund was named and the money embezzled came from oil runs from that fund.

Boone took the verdict of the jury with stoicism but Mrs. Boone paled. It was several minutes before she regained her composure.

Resume Court-Martial Monday. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—Further postponement of the court-martial of Lieut. Col. Lewis E. Gooder, judge advocate to the western department was ordered today because of the failure of Lieut. Edgar S. Gorell to reach here. He was to have appeared as a witness for the defense. The court-martial probably will be resumed Monday.

Hospital Authority Dead. DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 12.—Dr. Wayne Smith, superintendent of Harper hospital and an authority on hospital management, died late today. Death was caused by apoplexy. Doctor Smith was 39 years old. He came to Detroit from St. Louis, where he attained national reputation as superintendent of the Lewis City hospital.

FIVE MAKE ESCAPE FROM KANSAS PEN

Life Prisoners Are Among Those Who Participated in Delivery.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 12.—Five convicts escaped from the Kansas state penitentiary at Lansing tonight by breaking through the roof of the cellhouse with an iron bar and letting themselves down outside the wall by a rope of sheets. William La Trasse, the train robber, was the leader in the escape, when prison officials believe was accomplished through aid from the outside.

No trace of the escaped men had been found at midnight and early reports that they had been surrounded near the Missouri river proved unfounded.

La Trasse was convicted of holding up and robbing a Missouri Pacific passenger train near Kansas City on Christmas day, 1910. With him escaped Glenn Davis, serving a life term for murder; Charles Bauman and Roy Brownson, convicted of burglary, and Frank Miller, who recently killed another convict at the prison.

Convict Kills a Sheriff. CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Nov. 12.—In a pistol duel between two officers, each firing two shots at Beeville, near here, today, Sheriff Will Holland of Beeville was killed by C. P. Edison, city marshal of Beeville. Edison surrendered to officers. He refused to tell the cause of the fight.

A FOOL AND HIS MONEY.

New York's Craze for Dancing—As Seen by a Crook.

An amazing and startling story entitled "A Fool and His Money" appears in the November American Magazine. The story relates the confessions of a 60-year-old crook who has earned a dishonest but comfortable living for thirty years. Following is an extract from what this man has to say regarding the dancing craze of New York city:

"How many hundreds of tango parlors there are in New York it would be hard to tell offhand, but it is sufficient to say that even some of the most old-fashioned hotels have had to meet the craze for dancing. Middle-aged and old men and women, who had been content with evenings at their clubs or at home with best-seller novels, or at the theater three years ago, dance every afternoon and night, going from one place to the other, seeking change of music and surroundings and worshipping at the feet of the latest professionals who have achieved fame."

"Few well-to-do or fairly well-to-do men know with whom their wives are tangoing or fox-trotting, and few wives are wise to what their husbands are up to. In the best of the dance parlors provision is made for partners, so that there is no longer the tragedy of the wallflower. As there is generally a surplus of women patrons, the dance parlor managers employ well-dressed and skilled young men to meet the situation. For the sake of the thrill they get from the modern and sensuous dances, many women, some of them of the richest and best families, trust themselves to the arms of utter strangers, and it is there that the gentlemen of the underworld are today enjoying an advantage they have never before enjoyed. The dance has let down the bars."

Had Signed the Pledge. The artist was painting—sunset, red, with blue streaks and green dots. The old rustic, at a respectful distance, was waiting.

"Ah," said the artist, looking up suddenly, "perhaps to you, old nature has opened her sky-picture page by page? Have you seen the lambent flame of red leaping across the vivid east; the red-stained, sulfurous islets floating in the lake of fire in the west; the ranged clouds at midnight, black as a raven's wing, blotting out the shuddering moon?"

"No," replied the rustic, shortly; "not since I signed the pledge."

Red Robinson, patrol pusher, was sending the safety wagon over the pavement last night at any speed required, according to the importance of the call. The patrol is completely equipped in every detail. On either side of the windshield is a searchlight on a revolving basis, which aids greatly in pursuing robbers and men of similar unlawful pursuits. It's a wampus cat for looks and a demon for speed.

Sympathy went out in abundance from every officer at headquarters late last night when Patrolman Mahoney sent a penniless woman to the station from the Frisco depot. She was Mrs. F. E. S. Smith and came here from Siloam Springs, Ark. With her was her 2-year-old boy. Neither had eaten since they left the Arkansas town early yesterday morning, she told the officers. They were taken to the Salvation Army and given food and rest.

"Me the best Injun in these parts. Me no had man. Me no shoot up heap bad Injun. Me peaceful and stay by the law. Once in while me take some drink or two." This was the record recited in fast time by John Hoppe, big Indian buck, who had become friendly with quite some grand jury contractors. He was placed in an auto-locking cage by Jailor Lee Pullen. His double-faced record was still in operation several hours after his incarceration, which slightly or more disturbed the equanimity of his fellow roomers.

Last Night With the Police

F. F. Frazey was rather happy last night. Despite the fact that F. F. was the first prisoner to have the honor of riding in the new "Public Safety" hauler his spirits were about some half hundred degrees below zero and falling rapidly. At midnight a medicine man was probing black and blue spots which made his face look like a checkerboard. His left "look-out" was badly dimmed and the "chinney" of the right lamp was badly "sausage'd." Otherwise he was in good shape. He was arrested on the main stem yesterday afternoon between First street and the Frisco tracks by Detectives Falton and Overby. His abnormal condition last night was greatly abnormal and at the time the officers found him, who his antagonist was he would not tell—he couldn't remember about it.

The Black Maria—the new one that cost this box of municipal taxpayers some three thousand cart wheels, was in use last night for the first time. This new hoodlum is there with all the requisites of such a vehicle, besides some sixty odd miles of speed.

A Store That Is Different

Our Policy of Square Dealing

Our Definition of Service

Every man in this store has to be "Square." We judge a man to be square when he is honest, truthful, sincere. The "Bosses" and the Salesmen in this store have to be square every day in the week and every minute of the day.

Misleading statements, false representations, cunning business tricks, will never be tolerated in this store. And where every man is strictly on the square, you can't get anything but a square deal. That kind of principle can't be beaten.

On this principle we are building our business. Nothing on earth will make us deviate from this spirit of square dealing, and when every man in this store knows that all the people he works with, and works for, are absolutely "square," you are sure of benefits that result in satisfaction and we are sure of your lasting friendship and continued patronage.

Any act that is contrary to our "on-the-square" idea, or any act that disturbs your business dealings with us, we term business insanity. To avoid both, we and our employees are men who keep the promises we make to you.

We want you to KNOW that every nickel, every dollar, you spend with this store buys its full value, in quality, style, service and satisfaction. Although it costs nothing it is worth money to you to know that you can't come in this store without getting a square deal.

We promise you that each and every article in this new store is dependable, chuck full of quality and priced at a fair square margin of profit. We guarantee each and every purchase to give you entire satisfaction or you may have your money back without argument.

of Chickasha, president of the association, L. H. Phillips of Bartlesville vice-president, and H. A. McCauley of Sapulpa, chairman of the executive committee. They were instructed to agree on a successor to Harrison and report to the executive committee.

Accordingly the committee is said to have agreed upon Thomas, and when the executive committee is called together again the contract with him will be made, provided the selection meets with the approval of the members of the executive committee. Thomas is said to be well qualified to fill the place. He has had experience in a clerical capacity and although his time has expired as state senator from the Lawton district, he will still sit if an extra session is called, if it is held before he takes the new place. Senator Thomas has been threatening to run for governor or United States senator, but the $5,000 a year job will probably put him on the shelf for awhile.

Withdraw from French Market. NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Robert H.
