London without its fantastic fogs will be a disappointment to many. Through the fact that the American army gag mask proved to be most trustworthy fog eliminator under these conditions, it is believed.

ch Lloyd George has introduced greater concentration of gas. It must the constitution of a parliamen-also be remembered that the absorbary commission to inquire into the ents in the army respirator, which freent condition of the industry, filter out the poison gas, are especials will asseredly become the main cially designed for the gases used in assue when the commission reports, blood George himself will not give any decided lead on the question. If it were left to a vote of the present himself of common today there would be an everwheiming decision against mitigralization. Furture and as a matter of fact do not protect against the most common industrial gases as, for example, it luminating, natural, producer and biast-furnace gases. But an attempt may made to take the decision out of is hands of parliament. Labor is cry dissatisfied with the present

The laber party claims that if it had representation in proportion to the number of votes recorded at the election it would have twice its actual number of members in the house of commons. Speakers all over the country are advocating direct action in view of what they call this failure of political action. It is quite possible that Lloyd George will be fared by the serious problem of a strike undertaken in order to force the hands of the house of commons. To the orderly British mind this in itself would be revolution and English opinion as a hole would be firmly set against any such departure from constitutional methods, especially while the conditions of peace are still uncertain. Officially the war is not over until peace be sized. war is not over until peace is signed. commodities.

Returning Yankees Loud in Praise of Welsh Hospitality

LONDON March 1.—When the world-touring Yanks who have spent part of their time in Wales get home they'll carry back to the U. S. A. a fine impression of Wales and the hospitality of the Weish

"Never had a better time in my life," says the Yankee sailor after he has been invited into a Weish home. The Weish are charming in their homes. Almost without exception every member of the fam-liy can sing or play a musical in-strument. But while music is ennobling to the soul, there's a surer way to get the full-fledged approbation of the Yank—and that's through the stomach.

And my, how those Weish peo-ple can cook! Then, too, things were a bit more plentiful there were a bit more plentiful there than in England, so between good music, cordial people and plenty of good things to eat the boys are going home with their official O. K. on Wales and all that's Welsh. Sunday is a favorite time for entertaining the Americans. Every Sunday from 50 to 75 are sent out by the Y. M. C. A. to have dinner and spend the afternoon.
