

TO STOP SPITTING AND HALT DISEASE

Anti-Spitter Campaign to Be Launched in Tulsa This Week by Tuberculosis Association.

40,000 CASES IN OKLAHOMA

Three Thousand Will Die This Year Unless Steps for Relief Are Taken Immediately.

DO NOTS

- Don't spit on floor or walks. Don't swallow your spittle. Don't cough in another's face. Don't breathe with your mouth open. Don't sleep with your windows closed. Don't kiss anyone on the lips. Don't neglect a cough or cold. Don't use patent medicines.

There are 3,000 deaths in the state of Oklahoma every year from tuberculosis. There are 40,000 deaths from the white plague every year over the United States. There are eight to ten million cases of tuberculosis in Oklahoma, and unless immediate measures are taken, 3,000 of that number will die before another year has passed.

The most effective method of stamping out disease is to prevent it, and the Tulsa Tuberculosis association, with this thought foremost, will this week conduct an anti-spitter campaign—a campaign to educate Tulsa to the immediate and appalling danger that lies in careless expectoration upon floors and sidewalks.

Not a Harmless Habit. For human spit is the most effective carrier of tuberculosis germs that is known. Spitting appears to be a harmless habit, and for many years it has been looked upon only as an uncleanly act against the laws of common decency.

Now it has been definitely established that it is something worse—that it is the means of communicating tuberculosis germs from one person to another. The careless spitter may believe confidently that he is free from tuberculosis—that his spitting would be no harm. Yet statistics gathered from post-mortem examinations show that from 75 to 99 per cent of the entire population of the United States is now or has been at one time afflicted with tuberculosis. The disease may not have manifested itself in any apparent form, but scientists have proven beyond doubt that the germs are dormant, and that the strongest, healthiest persons are carriers, transmitting the disease to persons who have weak lungs or who are worn out from overwork.

Those Sidewalk Spitters. Not until late years has the seriousness of spitting been known. As a means of transmission of disease it is almost as effective as for a person afflicted with tuberculosis to breathe the directly into the face of another person.

The campaign this week is to be one of education, that Tulsans may be brought to realize the enormous danger which lurks in spitting whether on the street, in the office or in the home.

The Tulsa Tuberculosis association maintains a free dispensary at Eleventh and Main streets, where there are now under treatment and advisement more than 70 patients afflicted with tuberculosis. Those patients who are unable to buy articles that are needed, are provided with free milk and other supplies, and are watched carefully by competent local physicians who are giving their time to the work. One paid nurse is maintained, and she devotes her days and a part of her nights to caring for those who are unable to care for themselves.

The association gives free examination and free treatment; it is bending every effort to the suppression of tuberculosis and the saving of human lives. Lives that are being as precious to those who are afflicted as your life is to you.

CLEVER BUSINESS TIPS BY WOMAN BANK CASHIER

CHICAGO, March 29.—While some women may palpitate with joy over the latest divorce scandal, dig deep into the level columns of the newspapers and pore long and often over the women's page, Miss Lily M. Hansen, Chicago's only woman bank cashier, passes up this brand of "light" reading, feverishly scans the stock and market reports devours every word of the daily financial page and "gets more fun out of watching the stocks jump up and down."

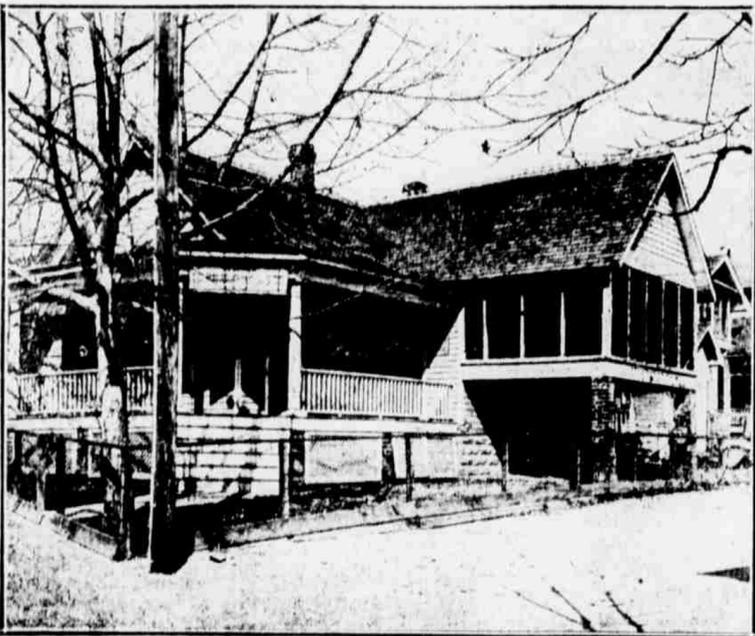

In ten years Miss Hansen has come up from stenographer to one of the chief executives of the Kinzie State bank, with full charge of the office and full responsibility for all the bank's activities.

Here are a few of the tips Miss Hansen volunteers for the girl who wishes to be a success in business:

Never lose your temper. Be courteous to everybody. Swallow your pride when rudely reminded that you are holding down a man's job. Never get angry. And when your judgment is questioned by a man, smile sweetly, but say nothing.

Ice Delays Steamer. ST. JOHNS N. F., March 29.—The steamer Digby, bound from Liverpool with airplanes and aviators for the proposed trans-Atlantic flight, was unable to put in here today because of ice floes, and is proceeding to Halifax.

Tulsa Tuberculosis Association's Free Dispensary On Eleventh Street

Although the free dispensary of the Tulsa Tuberculosis association at Eleventh and Main streets is entirely too small even for present needs, it is one of the most important factors in the state of Oklahoma in preventing and curing tuberculosis. Local physicians are devoting much of their time at the dispensary and charge nothing for their services if the patient is unable to pay. One paid nurse is employed and she spends her time between the dispensary and in ministering to the afflicted at their homes, which are often only hovels or tents.

JUSTICE CAN LOOK OUT WINDOW IN SOME CASES

OAKLAND, Cal., March 29.—Maybe justice can't always be blind, particularly where a pretty girl is concerned, but it can look out of the window while poisoning the scales. That was the course taken by a local police judge in the case of pretty Priscilla Dean, whose love for pretty clothes is believed to be the reason for her being in court on a charge of writing checks whose only value is the smile and the charming manner with which she tendered them. The police judge sat grimly looking out of the window while the prosecutor made an eloquent plea for leniency. The judge continued to gaze out of the window as he replied to the prosecutor. He said good looking women who errred were too often given the best of it. This judge turned from the window and looked at Miss Dean. There was a pause. "However," he continued, "I believe the defendant should be granted probation provided the terms are rigid."

EXPECTS TO LIVE TO 120 BY FOLLOWING NATURE

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 29.—Hubert Leigey, 90, a hermit in the Clearfield mountains in western Pennsylvania, is believed by his friends to have found the fountain of youth. In the seasons not marked by snow or frost the young aged man roams the mountains barefooted in his bare feet. He has never shaved and his beard extends almost to his knees. He knows the secret of vigorous life. Nature has few mysteries which he does not possess. He heals by the laying on of hands and extracts medicinal secrets from the barks of hemlock, pine and oak and from the wild flowers, plants and weeds. Leigey plants only enough grain and vegetables for himself. He will not hoard. He gets his meat from wild game and he is said to be a crack shot with a muzzle-loading rifle. He says he can hit the eye of a hummingbird at 100 yards and the hides of deer and bear he makes what clothing he needs. Old residents say he has never had a day of sickness.

THIEVES ROBBED HOME OF J. E. MILLIGAN SATURDAY

Thieves broke into the home of J. E. Milligan, 227 West Eleventh street, about 10 o'clock Saturday night by removing the screen from one of the side windows and got away with a suit of clothes, an overcoat, a diamond brooch, six smart pins, a ladies gold watch and a $25 Colt automatic pistol, the total loss being over $200. The police were notified immediately after the theft was discovered and Detective Brauns was sent on the case. No arrests had been made at a late hour last night.

Will Receive Women.

Mrs. Charles M. Martin will be hostess at the reception for women at the Country club Wednesday afternoon.

MAINE MAN'S ROMANTIC CAREER ENDS IN DEATH

ROCKLAND, Maine, March 29.—A life of romance and adventure was brought to a close when Charles A. Harriman died here. He served in the United States navy, held the long-distance poloist record in 1881, was a Texas ranger, served as a deputy marshal under Governor St. John in the Kansas prohibition campaign, was wounded in the battle of Wounded Knee, in which killing wounded in a battle over a card game in Butte, Mont., served as a marshal in Birmanwood, Wis., became a Maine farmer, was an organizer for time workers, led the memorable tin strike here, became an evangelist, opened a mission, and was active in democratic politics. Only a few weeks before his death he left what proved to be his deathbed and cast his ballot in a municipal election. He is survived by his second wife and five children.

Dr. Dutton Dead.

ATLANTA, Ga., N. J., March 29.—Dr. Samuel Dutton, 49, author, educator, humanitarian and a leading exponent of the league of nations, died suddenly here today. Heart trouble caused his death. The dead man was superintendent of the Horace Mann school at New York and a member of the faculty of Columbia

RELATES VIVID TALES OF HOSPITALITY OF FRENCH

ATLANTA, Ga., March 29.—"What the French people in the villages did for us doughboys is something I will never forget," said Sergeant C. M. Dinkins, of the One Hundred and Eighteenth infantry, who is now at Fort McPherson waiting for a broken wrist to heal. "One night a pal and I spent the night with some peasants, and we found out the next morning that they had given up their food for us and slept on the hay. I know that was done time and again by the villagers to make the American soldier comfortable. You can imagine how it made us feel after this to see town after town with those little homes so ready to extend a welcome, crumpled into heaps. Sometimes there would be a few people left in a village who had to find living places in cellars or houses with a side blown off. And in these groups of women and old people you would occasionally see a little child with an arm half gone or a foot missing or the light shut out from the eyes."

Hobson Here Today. Richmond P. Hobson, who speaks at the First Presbyterian church at the morning hour, is also scheduled to deliver an address at Boston Avenue Methodist at 3 this afternoon.

TULSA WILL MISS THE REV. MASSEY

Departure of Tulsa Pastor to Birmingham Shows High Opinion in Which He Is Held Here.

The Rev. Albert Massey, pastor of the First English Lutheran church, will preach his farewell sermon to his Tulsa congregation today. His resignation has been accepted and he will leave immediately for Birmingham, Ala. to take the pastorate of one of the seven Lutheran churches there. His new church, in a downtown district of Birmingham, has one of the largest congregations in the city, and is planning material additions as well as extensions to its scope of influence.

During his two years in Tulsa, Pastor Massey has built up a popularity that is hardly equaled among the ministers of the city. By his interest in civic affairs, his activity in war work, his open-mindedness, his willingness to contribute his energy to every good cause, and by his able sermons, he has made a place for himself in the affection and esteem of Tulsa, and he will be missed. The Rev. Massey fills a place in civic affairs. Our loss is Birmingham's gain," said C. B. Douglas, secretary of the chamber of commerce. "We need leaders of his type in Tulsa and we will miss him," said E. E. Buchner, secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

The Rev. Massey has been our friend and the Salvation army will feel his loss keenly, said Adjutant Ross Goblenz of the Salvation army. These statements are merely typical. Hundreds of similar ones could be compiled from all classes of Tulsa's population.

WOMAN SELLS $50,000 IN WAR SAVING STAMPS

ST. LOUIS, March 29.—The War Board of Religious organizations has presented Mrs. John A. Sullard, of this city, with a gold medal in reward for her services in selling war saving stamps. She sold $50,000 worth of stamps in three months.

Escaping Prisoner Is Halted by Policeman

The alley connecting Second and First streets, between Main and Boulder, was the scene of another shooting about 11 o'clock Saturday night, when Buck Taylor, arrested on the charge of being drunk, tried to escape from the police.

Taylor ran out of the side door of the station and started north down the alley. Detective Brauns rushed out of the door and fired one shot, which got results.

When brought back to the jail Taylor was shaking and trembling, and said that he had been shot. He later told the police that he was just trying to give them some excitement.

WILL CALL GERMAN ENVOYS TO VERSAILLES FOR PEACE

PARIS, March 29.—As soon as the text of the peace proclamation is accepted by the great powers, the German plenipotentiaries will be instructed to proceed to Versailles, where they will be housed in a hotel commanded by the city. Preparations for their accommodation will take three weeks, and it is not believed that the meeting of the allies and plenipotentiaries of the allies and associated powers can be held before the day after Easter.

St. Against Him.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 29.—The Montgomery traffic bureau has filed with the interstate commerce commission a complaint against Walker D. Hines, federal railway director general, the L. & N. N. O. & N. E. and other railroads charged with discrimination against this city on the matter of sugar rates.

Mrs. Locke Dies.

CHESAPEAKE, March 29.—Mrs. Adele G. D. Locke, widow of the Rev. Clinton Locke, prominent Episcopal clergyman, died today. She was nearly 80 years old, had been presented at the courts of both England and Spain and aided Lady Bessford of England in organizing the first Bessford club.

We Challenge a Comparative Demonstration in Your Home With Any Talking Machine You Care to Select

If you are considering the purchase of a phonograph you can have no greater assurance of lasting satisfaction than to hear it just as it sounds in your own parlor.

Better still, have not only one, but two or three competing instruments sent to your home, on approval, that you may compare them impartially and without the persuasion of interested salesmen.

We'll Send The NEW EDISON

So heartily do we welcome this comparison that we'll gladly send Mr. Edison's great new musical instrument, with a selection of Re-Creations, to your home on approval. Arrange with any talking machine representative to do the same. We'll give you a list of artists who have made records for both. Play them side by side—and judge. We ask no better opportunity than a direct comparison of the New Edison with any talking machine, right in your own home.

If you can't visit our shop, just phone or write.

Advertisement for Bohn Syphon Refrigerators. The word "Bohn" is to refrigerators what "Sterling" is to silver. No housewife questions the real value and economy of sterling ware—no housewife who knows questions the superiority of BOHN Syphon Refrigerators. WHAT you may regret your refrigerator purchase we earnestly recommend a careful comparison of various "makes," including the Bohn Syphon. If you can, obtain the essential points of merit in each, together with its record of achievement. Such an investigation cannot help but convince you of the superiority of the BOHN over any and all refrigerators on the market. Ask us for a demonstration.
