

STATE LAUNCHES WARRING'S TRIAL

Man Charged With Murder of Wife Sits Unmoved at Hearing.

FEELING EBBS LOWER

Sheriff Believes It Safe to Lodge Prisoner in Poteau Jail Cell.

McAlester, Okla., July 30.—Sitting beside his two small sons and betraying no emotion, Ed Warring heard five state witnesses give the testimony, which held him for trial on a charge of murdering his wife by giving her poison at their home in Loving, LeFlore county, early this week.

Warring, a well known farmer, was arrested Wednesday following the receipt of a report from the state chemist declaring that traces of poison were found in the liver and stomach, which had been sent to Norman for examination.

When arraigned before E. H. Green, justice of peace Friday morning for preliminary hearing, Warring pleaded not guilty and the state placed five witnesses on the stand. Dr. E. Bevels, of Poteau, who performed the operation and Dr. Edwin DeBarr, state chemist, who made the chemical analysis of the organs were the chief witnesses for the state. Doctor DeBarr declared that there were traces of strychnine in both the stomach and liver.

The sudden death of Mrs. Warring, which occurred at Loving, aroused suspicion and the body was exhumed in order that an analysis of vital organs might be made.

When he was arrested Warring was spirited from the Poteau jail to the state penitentiary at McAlester. Feeling was running high over LeFlore county and officials feared that an attempt would be made to lynch him.

Warring did not take the stand during his preliminary hearing. He was held without bail for trial in the district court. Feeling has subsided, Sheriff F. C. Carter declared that he thought Warring would be safe in the Poteau jail.

Sapulpa Notes

SAPULPA, July 30.—Chief of Police Jack Wisdom, made the following statement today to correct an article that was printed in this column Wednesday morning: "There was a mistake made in the report that was given out from the police station last Tuesday night concerning the death of D. D. Cochran, colored. The first report that came to me was that Cochran died from drinking poisoned lake, but the next day the report reached me that Cochran died from heart disease." Cochran is known in Sapulpa as a respectable citizen among the colored people. He leaves a wife and two sons. He had been ill for two years prior to his death.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to the following: Harry Gilliam 25, Tulsa, and Miss Densie Lee, 20, Tulsa; Fred Knap, 21, Bristow, and Miss Gladys Grooms, 18, Bristow; James Culler, 18, Drumright, and Miss Mable Sayre, 20, Drumright; William M. Varner, 24, Preston, and Miss Beale Fisher, 16, Preston; John L. Wilks, 50, Sapulpa, and Mrs. Willis H. Edwards, 40, Sapulpa.

James Henderson, colored, received a surprise this morning at the result of a case in the court of Justice C. E. Pittz. Henderson swore out warrant against John Hays, colored, charging him with taking $120. Henderson said that Hays held him up at the point of a gun and took the money. Upon investigation, Justice Pittz learned that the two men had been gambling at the home of Charles Hughes. The case of robbery against Hays was dismissed and he was fined $25 for carrying a gun. Henderson was told that he was charged with gambling; he was released on $50 bond and his case will be called next Friday.

Harry Gilliam and Miss Densie Lee of Tulsa learned after many hours of waiting and searching that a couple cannot get a license in one county and be married in another. They came to Sapulpa yesterday afternoon from Tulsa and procured a license. Then they returned to Tulsa to be married. They were refused by several ministers and justices, and then they decided to return to Sapulpa. They caught the last car and went to the home of Justice A. E. Pittz. Justice Pittz donned a bathrobe and went out in the hall. The taxi driver, George Meeker, and a man by the name of E. H. Lindsay, who was passing by, were called as witnesses and the ceremony was performed.

Some Things That Every Man Should Know

With clothing prices where they are today, a man can't afford to step into the first store he comes to and take the first garment offered him. There's too much at stake. He ought to realize now, if he never did before, that there's a vast difference between clothing stores, the merchandise they deal in and the values they give.

If he wants to buy intelligently and get the utmost possible value for his money, he should know that by coming to this Live Store for something to wear he is coming to the undisputed headquarters for style and quality, and is dealing with the greatest value-giving institution in the field of men's wear.

He should know that the Curtis Brown Co., are the largest spot-cash dealers in Good Clothes in Oklahoma; that our cost of doing business is the lowest ever known in our line, and that all the advantages we gain through big buying and low expenses go to our customers in the form of lower prices.

Every man ought to know these facts. Then let him buy wherever he pleases. He can't plead ignorance if he pays more than Curtis Brown prices or gets less than Curtis Brown values, but he still has the privilege of coming here the next time. Our latch string is always out.

Real Values!

Clothing our specialty; values our hobby! But value at Curtis Brown's means more than price alone. Curtis Brown value always implies its twin fashion. They always go together like bread and butter or salt and pepper. Curtis Brown value means making your dollar go farther—it means that those who follow the Curtis Brown banner get right style, good service, long wear and a good, round dollar's worth for every dollar spent.

Without Fireworks!

Fireworks consist of a flareup, a blinding light, a loud report and a burntout piece of worthlessness. Too many "values" are just like that. There is a flareup of good value for the first to come—the rest get left. Curtis Brown values are like an arc light burning brightly day in and day out. When you see Curtis Brown values advertised you can expect MORE values rather than FEWER, when you come to look.
