Panama Canal Worker Here Seeking Acreage for Possible Mining

Allen Pinkerton, of Branch, Ark., one of the leading men in the coal mining industry in this section, is in Tulsa this week at-tending to business matters and incidentally seeking some acresge in Tulsa county for coal produc-

Pinkerton is general manager of the Haskell Coal Mining company, the Grand Prairie Coal company, the S. C. Awbrey Coal and Coke company, and the Webb Coal company, offices of which are located in Branch and Fort Smith. These compaies use six of the largest stripping shoveds in use in the southwest. .

Pinkerton was connected with the building of the Panama canal n a supervisory cancelly. On his return to the United States in 1910 he engaged in he coal mining business, in which he has resin at once to investigate closely the different tracts inspected so all obligations of the city to the committee on behalf of the remainded for the unisceptibility of the stracts of an So-acce tract from the Tuisa instead of City or Shawnee, and the company.
