Throwing Paper Wads At Prayer Meeting Is Cause of Tragedy

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 8.—As a result of a fight over throwing pin-head paper wads in church, one man is dead today and another dying at Rover, Mo., a village near here. Foda Willard, 24-year-old farmer, was shot through the heart by Will H. Kenter, his former "crony," police charge, while the latter is dying from stab wounds inflicted by Willard.

The wad throwing occurred at a prayer meeting in the Rover church. Its sequel occurred today when Kenter, also a farmer, entered the village. "You'll see some marks in a minute," Willard remarked to friends as Kenter approached him.

Authorities charge Willard then attacked Kenter, stabbing him in the back twice. Kenter, after shouting for help, drew a revolver and fired one shot through Willard's heart.

THE NEW YORK WINTER GARDEN "PASSING SHOW"

More elaborately and tastefully mounted than any theatrical production in the world, and with one of the most remarkable casts of stars and headliners assembled in recent years, "The Passing Show" comes to Convention hall Sunday night, February 13.

In two acts and 15 rapidly placed scenes this gigantic spectacle from the New York Winter Garden takes first place as the most satisfying and spirited of all musical entertainments, not only in the extraordinary collection of talent assembled, but in scenic splendor and originality and variety of content. "The Passing Show" overtops all former Winter Garden achievements. The tremendously large and entertaining mirth and melody melange became a sensation the night it was produced in New York, and during the year it played at the Winter Garden, the management estimated that nearly one-half as many people as did see would have seen it, had the capacity of the Winter Garden been greater. The brilliant cast of principals includes Roy Cummings, Will Philbrick, Klein Brothers, Edward Basso, Edward Cutler, Helen Carrington, Alexandra Dagmar, Dolores Suarez, Billie Shaw, Peggy Brown, Florence Cummings, Clara Lord, Thelma Seymour, Bobbie Boles, Victor Bosart and Jack and Frank Hall, not forgetting the famous Winter Garden chorus—the world's greatest gathering of beautiful women. Seats now selling at Quaker Drug Store, 25c to $1.00 to $4.00. Phone Cedar 2276 for reservations.—Advt.

CLUBWOMEN HEAR MISS ALICE TALK

Heavy Representation of New Voters Guests at Town Club Lunch

Women representative of almost every club and organization in the city were in attendance at the monthly meeting and luncheon of Tulsa Town club held at noon yesterday in the sub-story of Hotel Tulsa, and addressed by Miss Alice Robertson of Muskogee, recently elected to congress from the second Oklahoma district.

Miss Robertson, who only recently returned to the southwest after spending some time in Washington preparatory to taking up her residence there during her term of office, was introduced by Mrs. Preston C. West, the wife of a Tulsa attorney and for many years was Miss Robertson's neighbor in Muskogee.

"Miss Robertson's life has been one of service to the church, to the state and to her country," Mrs. West said, "and the reward which she has received at the hands of the voters of Oklahoma, is a meager one in comparison. Sawoka, her beautiful home has been acting as a center of activities for good and she is the friend of every man or woman who needs a friend." As the daughter of a pioneer preacher, Miss Robertson has been identified with the upbuilding of churches, schools, and women's interests for more than a score of years.

Miss Robertson in her speech said: "While many of us have missed the sweetest experience in woman's life, motherhood, we can all be a power for good in some other avenue of life."

Miss Mathilde Aich presided at the meeting. The luncheon committee personnel included Mrs. Tulsa Kirby and the Misses Marybe Baker, Lena Seltner and Caroline Baker, Mrs. Minnette Hodges and Misses Wessie Griffith, Rena Fowle and Aich acted as a committee representing the club, which accompanied Miss Robertson to Tulsa university in the afternoon.

Resolution Similar to One Offered in House by Admitte Introduced by Senator Sherman.

By Associated Press Staff Wire. OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 8.—Senate resolution number 9 directing the oil and gas committee to investigate the pipe line companies and the cause of reductions in the price of crude oil was introduced today by Senator Sherman, republican. It covers the same ground as the resolution introduced in the house last week by Representative Admitte.

Bills for censorship of motion pictures and regulation of the possession and transfer of motor vehicles were introduced in the senate.

The house passed the senate child-labor bill by a vote of 48 to 23, with 10 absent. A motion to reconsider was made by Trevelyan, republican, followed by a motion to table, by Beck, republican. The chair declared the motions out of order and a vote will be taken on them tomorrow.

When the senate again took up the governor's deficiency certificate, debate waged hot, each section being given separate consideration.

The New York Winter Garden "Passing Show"

There has never been anything like the public interest shown over any attraction, such as there is over New York Winter Garden "Passing Show," which comes to Convention hall Sunday night, February 13.

Superlatives are generally reserved by the wise reviewer to fit extraordinary productions, either in the way of acting, singing, dancing or staging, but all were used up long ago in describing the productions that come from the New York Winter Garden; so one is at a loss to know how to express the proper amount of praise for the "Passing Show," which delighted hundreds of thousands of theater goers in New York and is doing the same thing on the road. "Passing Show"—that's all—means the only thing left to mark the very acme of spectacle. "The Passing Show" is fifteen divided into two acts and fifteen scenes; everyone of them is a spectacular marvel of stupendous proportions, both as to conception and as to staging.

This "Passing Show" is the seventh production of its series, the first having been made by Messrs. Schubert in 1917; each succeeding edition surpassing its predecessor in ingenuity and originality. One of the best recommendations for the "Passing Show" is that the book and lyrics were written by Harold Atteridge, who has been the librettist of the New York Winter Garden since its opening. Of the chorus, too much cannot be said. The Winter Garden producers seem to have tried—and with astounding success—to make this "Passing Show" ensemble the most beautiful that has ever graced any stage. Seats now selling at Quaker Drug Store, prices $1.00 to $4.00. Phone Cedar 2276.—Advt.

Convention Hall Feb. 14. The name of Raoul Vidas shines like a rising star. It has attracted the gaze of music lovers of two continents by the mere brilliancy of his playing. It is "the violin" in its most human of all the instruments that express the soul of music. The violinist is best in the singer in human appeal. In the qualities which give to art its most enduring expression Raoul Vidas holds high rank among the famous violinists of his day. But his qualities still more remarkable, for a boy of eighteen. Creative ability, a rare faculty of interpretation and a wealth of poetic enthusiasm are crowned and controlled by a mastery of technique and maturity of judgment that give him a unique place among the younger virtuosi of the violin.—Advt.
