O hand Unseen

O hand unseen per a gentle and kind

touch me in deepest love

When I sought thy guidance though

I was

Inspired by thy power

For nothing heart e'er

To turn about that was thin, don't

Turn back the streams and

Cast out the stars, then will I see

That last the dawn

That last the beauty, too,

For better than ever yet I knew.

Wake me with urgent influence to the sun,

While Sleep's dark summit past,

And when the happy morning is beginning.

Be gentle at last

Descent in morning light

Below the clouds till I behold thee height.

Where thou dost intervene

And bless me with the peace, O hand unseen!

Edward Davison in London Outlook.

Today's Events

Mrs. Joseph Peeler will give bridge for Mrs. Harold Andrew Eickard

Informal

Members of the journalistic fraternity and friends were given the opportunity of meeting Mr. William Allen White Tuesday evening at the home of his brother, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gillette and Mrs. Silvia Nation in Topeka. Mr. and Mrs. Gillette and the latter's mother, Mrs. Nation met their friends in the lovely rose garden of the Gillette home where an outdoor reception environment was attractively created. The honor guest, a genial gentleman, editor of the Emporia, Kan., Gazette, author of noted books and attractive magazine writer, with his wife and son and their intimate friends, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Finney and son, were in the receiving group with their hosts and the moment one of happy greeting was appreciated. The party are motorizing through this portion of the country and will go to Roaring River, Mo., after concluding their visit here.

Bridge

MODEST profits and quick turnovers are much more desirable than a good sized profit once in a blue moon.

That's our doctrine. We want to sell you twice as often, even if the profit on each sale is microscopic.

We want you to come in and compare our values with those of other stores and convince yourselves that we are charging as little as is possible for goods that are backed by our cast iron guarantee.

Whether you buy much or little, your trade is welcome and we know that we will retain your patronage when you have learned our straight forward manner of serving you.
