

BANK'S SOLUTION
UNEMPLOYMENT

Florida Financial House Opens Bureau for the Jobless

IS STABILIZING LABOR

Establishes School of Training to Fill the Vacancies Caused by War Draft

BY H. C. HAMILTON.
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept.
20.—Merchants and farmers of this section of Florida—known the world over mainly as a winter resort—declare there is no business depression for them, and one of the reasons, the chief one, in fact, is that T. T. Reese, president of the Florida Bank and Trust company, has seen to it that the city's labor is kept busy.

The only employment bureau operated by a bank in the United states is what the people of West Palm Beach and Palm Beach call Mr. Reese's venture. Whether this is accurate, Mr. Reese himself was unable to state but he did say he did not know of any other similar agency for absorbing a community's labor.

The idea was born just after the armistice was signed. Mr. Reese told a representative of the International News Service. There came news of many men out of employment, and Mr. Reese wanted to help employed and labor to get together —with the bank and consequently increase in deposits. More than 500 men have been placed in positions since the venture began, and it is still in operation.

Most of the positions filled were those of stenographers, bookkeepers, boat captains, pilots, engineers, cooks, butlers, landrises, housekeepers, landscape gardeners, caretakers and mechanics of all kinds.
The latter class is in great demand and keeps the bank in constant touch with the huge number of winter residents of this section.

Three-Fourths Make Good.
Mr. Reese makes it a point to personally interview every person "placed," before that person takes up his new duties, and the record shows that more than three-fourths of the men and women have made good. The figures are accurate, because most of them opened accounts with serious impression it makes on a man to be placed in a position through a bank," said Mr. Reese.

"We believe here that the free employment bureau, if adopted generally by the banks, will go a long way toward solving employment problems."

Venture Successful.
The employment bureau in reality is an offspring of a previous venture. When the war began to take Mr. Reese's stenographers, cashiers, tellers and other employees he had to cast about for men to take their places, and he found the market short, so he established a night school in the bank, and with himself one of the instructors, began to give free instruction in these professions to young people. Seventy-two young men and women responded to his first call for pupils. Eventually he used up all the material at hand and had taught stenography, bookkeeping, typewriting, etc., to all those available. Having filled the market with the potential workers he employed as many as he could and then started out to find positions for others. The venture was so successful that he resolved to do what he could to find places for others.

The night school has been discontinued, but Mr. Reese said he stands ready to renew it if occasion demands. "He is a competent telegraph operator, stenographer and bookkeeper," professions through which he passed during his rise to his present position.

WAS BODYGUARD
FOR A. LINCOLN

Hero of Many Battles Spends 95th Birthday
In Reminiscences.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Major Junius Thomas Turner, veteran of four wars, who commanded a bodyguard which escorted President Lincoln from the White House to the Soldiers' Home here, is ninety-five years old and ready to die.

"I am drawing to the close of my career," the major remarked casually on his ninety-fifth birthday anniversary. "I have no qualms about death. As a matter of fact, I'm perfectly indifferent about the whole thing—don't care whether I'm living or dead—but I wouldn't commit suicide."

Major Turner's first visit to Washington was during the administration of Andrew Jackson, and he remained in the capital long enough to witness the inauguration of Martin Van Buren. Washington was a dirty little city back in a mud hole in those days, and the major wonders sometimes at the transformation that has taken place in the span of his own life.

The major's record of active participation in four wars is believed by him to be unequalled. He served in the Mexican war, 1846-48, the Rogue River, Oregon Indian war, 1855; Confederate tribes of Oregon and Washington Indian war, 1855-56; and the Civil war. He was awarded the title of colonel for his bravery in the Civil war, but has never ac-sumed the rank.

"I'd rather be a major—I've got rank," he explains.

When Major Turner served as commander of President Lincoln's bodyguard, he became acquainted with Abigail, the famous Civil war photographer. Brady gave him a photograph of Lincoln, and when the president's carriage broke up Turner asked the executive to autograph the picture, which Lincoln did.
The photograph now hangs in the headquarters of Grant Post, G. A. R., in Washington.

Envy your friend's sound sleep won't get you the sleep you need. Watch what he drinks and ask him the reason why

You can't help noticing the man who comes down to the office in the morning with ruddy cheeks and clear sparkling eyes —full of energy, and eager for the tasks of the day.

He is physically "fit"—and can do twice the amount of work the average person can do, without becoming fatigued.

If you go out to lunch with this man you'll notice that probably he avoids coffee, though he may drink Postum—the well-known and delicious beverage, coffee-like in flavor.

This is the secret of his superb health. He isn't putting the drugs from coffee or tea into his system three times every day.
As a consequence he sleeps like a healthy baby all night. His sleep refreshes and rests him.

He has perfect control of his nerves.

Do not delay another day in starting back on the road to robust health. The rich, coffee-like flavor of Postum will surprise and please you.

Order Postum from your Grocer today. Drink this hot, refreshing beverage in place of tea or coffee for ten days and see what a wonderful difference it will make in the way you feel.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water.
Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.
