Hoover Says Boost in Price of Coal Would Only Hike Cost of Fords $1.50 Per Car

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Aug. 29.—Reiteration that Henry Ford was "not bluffing" in his decision to shut down his big automobile plants here on September 16, as part of a fight against what he terms a "holdup" on the part of coal brokers and denial of various reports that other than the Ford plant, were cited to refute the action, were made today at the Detroit manufacturers' offices.

A report from Louisville that when the 75,000 Ford workers in the plant were released on September 16, Ford would advise them to take employment with the railroad in an effort to break the railroad strike, was denied emphatically. The statement was termed "ridiculous." There may be individual cases of Ford workers accepting the lack of employment, but the statement was made today at the Detroit manufacturers' offices.

Business Best Ever.
Another report that met emphatic denial was that lack of business figured in the decision to close the plants. Figures were cited to refute the statement. It was stated, "we were four weeks behind in orders for Ford cars and three weeks behind in orders for Lincoln cars. We had only just caught up on orders for tractors."

The decision to suspend operations came, it was reiterated, at a time when the Ford company was doing the greatest business in its history. Production figures showed $100 cars being turned out daily against orders for 5,200 a day. It was pointed out.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Present coal prices would only add $1.50 to the price of Ford cars, Secretary Hoover declared today in expressing the hope that the Detroit automobile manufacturer would not find it necessary to close his plants because of the price of fuel.

Hoover said he noted that Ford considered $1.50 a ton a reasonable price for coal, and that the Detroit manufacturer could obtain it now at $4.50. Fluctuating on the basis of 1,400 tons of coal used a day, Hoover estimated that even under present prices the increase per Ford car could be only about $1.50.

Legislation now pending, Hoover added, probably would provide price control machinery that could go into operation within a few days of September 16, the date set by Ford for shutting down his plants.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 29.—The statement of Secretary Hoover that present coal prices would add but $1.50 to the price of Ford cars was characterized at the Ford offices here today as a "trivial and playful statement" for the head of a government department to make in a situation as serious as the present one.

It is quite in keeping with everything that has been going on in Washington in the present situation, it was added.

"Does Hoover think we should turn over to the profiteers from $7,000,000 to $10,000,000 that would be represented in the increased cost of coal?" was asked.

The normal daily consumption of coal by the Ford plants here ranges from 3,500 to 4,000 tons a day.

Unless the Ford company receives coal from an unexpected source, it will close all its manufacturing departments in the district September 16.

CHILEAN STEAMER LOST
Hundred and Fifty Persons and Crew of Italia Missing, but No Details Available on Reported Wreck.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—A cable to the marine department of the chamber of commerce today from Santiago, Chile, reported the loss of the Chilean steamer Italia off the coast of Peru. The steamer was said to have been carrying 150 persons and the crew. The vessel was missing, but gave no details.

The Choros Islands, mentioned in London reports, are barren, rocky islands jutting out of the water off the Chilean coast, according to mariners familiar with the waters. The Chilean coast rises almost perpendicular landward and offers small chance of rescue to stricken sailors.

No word of the disaster has been picked up by naval radio stations on the Pacific coast. It was stated at headquarters here. It was explained that a large range of mountains prevents the comparatively small station at Valparaiso from making itself heard any farther north than Balboa.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—One hundred and fifty persons were reported missing today following the sinking of the steamship Italia off the Choros Islands, according to a dispatch received here today. The Choros Islands are a small group in the Pacific off the Chilean coast.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 29.—The steamship Italia of the New Orleans South American Ship company with about thirty passengers aboard was reported missing here today. The ship was last seen on the morning of August 28, when it was reported to have been lost. The Chilean steamer Italia also was lost in that vicinity. It was said, and the names may have become confused.

statement. He was in their home for about 10 days and during that time he heard of the girl's ambition to become a great singer and her desire to come to this country to realize her ambition. He said, "the girl said, wanted her to go into a convent. Hoke promised to help her should she come, and it was to meet that obligation," he said, that he went to New York the other day, observing somewhat caustically that it was too bad that he couldn't make an attempt to fulfill an obligation contracted so long ago without starting his relatives and having his motives impugned. He said that upon going east he had told the whole story to his brother and sister, living in Tulsa, and that his feelings toward Miss Giovetti were only the most friendly and his motives of the best.

Miss Giovetti, he said, came to this country with a passport good for only a year. Of the proceedings when the board of inquiry met at Elsie Island and pending the girl's landing, he would say nothing, saying as his reason that the meeting was a secret one. When through his influence he had obtained permission for the girl to enter the country, he shook off the reporters, too, Miss Giovetti with him and struck out for the west. He brought her with him as far as Perry, he said, coming on to his home from there by automobile rather than wait for a train, while Miss Giovetti went on to Oklahoma City. Just what she was going to do he did not make clear, but said that she might possibly go to McAlester to seek the counsel of the Italian consul there.

MAN WOUNDED BY RELATIVE DEAD

C. W. Young, Shot on Street by J. H. Lee,
Succumbs at Hospital

C. W. Young, 39 years old, an electrical worker employed by the W. H. Young Electric company, who was shot by his brother-in-law, J. H. Lee, about 10 o'clock Monday morning at Third and Main streets, following a quarrel between the two men, died at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday night at the local hospital. Lee, who has been confined in the county jail since the shooting, was not informed of Young's death, as he was asleep when the report reached the jail, and the jailer decided to wait until morning before breaking the news to him.

The shooting was the result of a family quarrel growing out of alleged improper relations between Young and Lee's divorced wife. Young's wife, who is a sister of Mrs. Lee, denied that her husband was guilty of the association.

Although Young was conscious during the afternoon preceding his death, he was unable to make any statements relative to the shooting or matters leading up to it. The body was removed to an undertaking parlor pending funeral arrangements.

the disastrous fire which broke out in the Argonaut two years ago resulting in the flooding of both mines, the closing of both mines for a long period and heavy damage suits, brought by the respective mine owners, the opening was closed. Peter Aecker, shaft foreman, who led a crew of eight men volunteers, into the depths of the mine yesterday to attempt to battle with the seething flames, told the story of the fight. The men directed their effort toward heading the smoke back down the shaft so as to enable them to get at the point where the flames are burning. They succeeded in reaching a point about 60 feet below the first smoke level to the 2,600-foot level. This was still three hundred feet above the fire. Then a five hundred gallon tank filled with water was sent down the shaft to this point and released. As the volume of water was dumped down the shaft the smoke and gas "boiled" as Aecker expressed it, and seethed upward, forcing the rescue crew back to the 2,600-foot level.

Faint hope that the entombed men may be still living arises from the report that a cave-in had occurred in the mine and in this cave the burning away of the timbering.

house might be called upon at short notice to put itself on record in the matter. Representative Johnson, republican, South Dakota, announced his intention to offer tomorrow an amendment to the administration coal bill which would give the president the authority he was said to desire to properly other members of the house indicated that they would submit amendments with the same purpose in view, although congressional leaders generally predicted no such legislation would be passed for the present.

As explained at the White House, the president's attitude is that the administration's hold on the situation would be measurably strengthened if it had as a foundation the potential power to take over a single railroad or a system of carriers, a single mine or a series of mining properties, which had been shown clearly to have failed to render the needed service of what they were capable.

Harding, it was declared, believed today that the bituminous coal industry was working out its own problems under the impetus of the practical settlement reached at Cleveland, and held further that the anthracite strike would be settled shortly on a basis which would permit the hard coal mines to return rapidly to production. Should this forecast be borne out by developments, it was said at the White House, the railroad tangle would be left as the only industrial knot of first importance and in this regard the administration policy, as outlined today, was said to be consistent on a strict enforcement of existing laws which guarantee safety of life and property and maintenance of necessary public service.

The house interests commerce committee in reporting the Winslow bill for federal coal control, announced that the proposed for a federal fuel agency had been definitely abandoned and that "the president is in accord with this conclusion."

SNEAK THIEF ROBS A HOME

Guest of Mrs. C. C. Layman Loses Two Grips of Clothing.
Sneak thieves entered the residence of Dr. C. C. Layman, 802 Seventh street, early last night while the family were away and stole wearing apparel worth several hundred dollars belonging to Mrs. L. M. Shelters, of Muskogee, who was visiting at the Layman home.

Mrs. Layman and Mrs. Shelters went to town about 8 o'clock, expecting to be gone only a short time. The lights were left burning in the house. It is believed the thief saw them depart and then entered.

Two grips of clothing and an expensive cape were stolen, all belonging to the guest. There were several silk dresses in the grips. Nothing else was missing from the Layman home and it is believed the thief was frightened away before he had time to ransack the place. The police were notified.

DANVILLE, Ill., Aug. 29.—Four bombs were hurled this morning at the shops of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad here, in what is believed by the authorities to have been an attempt to injure or kill 375 workers and guards housed in one of the buildings.

One exploded near the coal chute, one tore a hole in the roof of the building and one damaged the side of the same building. Every window was shattered by the terrific concussion.
