

LATE TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

By Associated Press Service to The Evening Times.

MORE THAN A CENTURY OLD.

Associated Press to The Evening Times. London, March 17.—Professor Manuel Garcia, the famous teacher of singing and probably the most celebrated centenarian in the world, received many cards and notes of congratulation today on beginning the second year of his century of life.

GROVER CLEVELAND'S BIRTHDAY.

Ex-President Enters Upon His 70th Year Tomorrow. Associated Press to The Evening Times. Princeton, N. J., March 17.—Former President Cleveland enters upon his seventieth year tomorrow.

NAME ON EGG BROUGHT HER A HUSBAND.

Associated Press to The Evening Times. Louisville, Ky., March 17.—A dispatch from Glasgow, Ky., says that Miss Esther Lyons of that city and Barney Friedman of Norfolk, Va., are to end a most romantic courtship with a wedding today.

EVACUATION DAY CELEBRATED IN BOSTON.

Associated Press to The Evening Times. Boston, Mass., March 17.—The customary celebration of the evacuation of Boston was held today. The observance of the day was confined mainly to the South Boston district.

COLONEL HALL RETIRES FROM THE ARMY.

Associated Press to The Evening Times. Washington, D. C., March 17.—Having reached his sixty-fourth birthday, the age limit for active service, Colonel John D. Hall of the medical department of the army, was placed on the retired list today.

A TEST BY FIREMEN.

Explosives Burned to Ascertain the Danger. Cartridges Explode with Insufficient Force to Do Much Damage—Interesting Experiment. An interesting experiment was made a few days since at the convention of firemen at Duluth.

READY-MADE HOMES ARE ALWAYS IN DEMAND.

People of democratic tastes, who like to "live in a house," but not in a lonesome one—solve the problem easily and to their profit by renting furnished rooms to pleasant people. Isn't it better to live in a good house, with a few lodgers who pay your entire rent for you a little toward your household expenses, than to live in a small apartment, alone, with expenses that grow harder and harder to meet?

pressure and thus allows the gases to escape at a relatively low pressure. The escaping gas expands its energy in tearing open the shell rather than in throwing the bullet forward.

Philippine "Conants." The standard silver coins being used in the Philippines are known as "Conants," having been named for Charles A. Conant, who was sent to the islands to prepare a coinage system.

Sanitarium and Sanatorium. These two terms are frequently confused. "Sanitarium" is from sanitas, meaning health, and is correctly applied to a healthful place, a resort for convalescents.

CARRIAGE OF CHARLES X. Walls of Coronation Coach Presented to Museum by Widow of Builder. Paris.—Mme. Ehrler, widow of the famous coach builder of the Tuileries under the third Napoleon, has just presented to the Museum of Decorative Art the four walls of the carriage used by Charles X. at his coronation.

AGENTS WANTED. We are manufacturers of a new and improved line of furniture. We have a large stock of goods on hand and are now seeking agents in all parts of the country.

THE GREAT M'EWEN COMPANY. In a Grand Display of Magic, Mind Reading and Hypnotism. Prices, 25c-35c-50c.

THE GREAT M'EWEN COMPANY. In a Grand Display of Magic, Mind Reading and Hypnotism. Prices, 25c-35c-50c.

THE GREAT M'EWEN COMPANY. In a Grand Display of Magic, Mind Reading and Hypnotism. Prices, 25c-35c-50c.

THE GREAT M'EWEN COMPANY. In a Grand Display of Magic, Mind Reading and Hypnotism. Prices, 25c-35c-50c.

THE GREAT M'EWEN COMPANY. In a Grand Display of Magic, Mind Reading and Hypnotism. Prices, 25c-35c-50c.

THE GREAT M'EWEN COMPANY. In a Grand Display of Magic, Mind Reading and Hypnotism. Prices, 25c-35c-50c.

THE GREAT M'EWEN COMPANY. In a Grand Display of Magic, Mind Reading and Hypnotism. Prices, 25c-35c-50c.

THE GREAT M'EWEN COMPANY. In a Grand Display of Magic, Mind Reading and Hypnotism. Prices, 25c-35c-50c.

THE GREAT M'EWEN COMPANY. In a Grand Display of Magic, Mind Reading and Hypnotism. Prices, 25c-35c-50c.

THE GREAT M'EWEN COMPANY. In a Grand Display of Magic, Mind Reading and Hypnotism. Prices, 25c-35c-50c.

THE GREAT M'EWEN COMPANY. In a Grand Display of Magic, Mind Reading and Hypnotism. Prices, 25c-35c-50c.

THE GREAT M'EWEN COMPANY. In a Grand Display of Magic, Mind Reading and Hypnotism. Prices, 25c-35c-50c.

THE GREAT M'EWEN COMPANY. In a Grand Display of Magic, Mind Reading and Hypnotism. Prices, 25c-35c-50c.

THE GREAT M'EWEN COMPANY. In a Grand Display of Magic, Mind Reading and Hypnotism. Prices, 25c-35c-50c.

THE GREAT M'EWEN COMPANY. In a Grand Display of Magic, Mind Reading and Hypnotism. Prices, 25c-35c-50c.

Paris.—Mme. Ehrler, widow of the famous coach builder of the Tuileries under the third Napoleon, has just presented to the Museum of Decorative Art the four walls of the carriage used by Charles X. at his coronation.

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Paris.—The little town of Brailleur, in the north of France, has within the last few days been the scene of a singular incident. The premises of a petty marine store dealer had become such a public nuisance to the neighborhood from accumulations of rags of several years' standing, that strong complaints were made to the police, and as the owner refused to

Advertisement for O. Young Furniture. Includes text: 'We Are Manufacturer's Agents And Can Sell Furniture', 'In large quantities at wholesale prices and thus save the middle man's profit.', 'We especially desire to figure with hotel keepers who contemplate furnishing their houses with a complete new outfit.', 'We Can Save You Money', 'We will take our chances in securing your order in competition with anybody anywhere.', 'After you have secured prices elsewhere, come to us, or write us what you want, and give us a chance to show you that we mean business.', 'O. YOUNG Complete House Furnisher Grand Forks, N. D.'

5 Nights Commencing Monday, March 19

THE GREAT M'EWEN COMPANY. In a Grand Display of Magic, Mind Reading and Hypnotism. Prices, 25c-35c-50c.

THE GREAT M'EWEN COMPANY. In a Grand Display of Magic, Mind Reading and Hypnotism. Prices, 25c-35c-50c.

TWO NIGHTS Thursday and Friday MARCH 15, and 16

NANCE O'NEIL

IN TWO SUPERB PRODUCTIONS SUPPORTED BY ANDREW ROBSON

THURSDAY EVENING FIRES OF ST. JOHN

FRIDAY EVENING MAGDA

PRICES, $1.50, $1.00, 75c, 50c Advance Sale Opens Wednesday

TIME CARD OF TRAINS GRAND FORKS

SOUTH BOUND. Depart. No. 8—to St. Paul, Minneapolis, and the East. 7:25 p.m. No. 156—to Red Lake Falls and Fertile (daily except Sunday) 3:15 p.m. NORTH BOUND. Arrive. No. 7—to Grafton and Winnipeg. 7:50 a.m. No. 155—from Red Lake Falls and Fertile (daily except Sunday) 10:25 a.m.

W. B. SINCLAIR Agent

Table with columns: Train No., Arrives, Departs. Includes routes to Larimore, Devils Lake, Minot, Havre, Spokane, Seattle, Portland, Hillboro, Fargo,ergus Falls, St. Cloud, Minneapolis, St. Paul, and other locations.

Do It Now. Is a good creed, and with the aid of Want Advertising in The Evening Times you are usually able to practise it.