THE CITY IN BRIEF

Loans. The Hatcher Brothers' Corporation have funds on hand for some good city residence loans, on easy terms. They also have funds on hand for good commercial loans to responsible merchants and dealers in the northwest.

Hyslop Captain.

Dr. G. J. Sweetland, physical director of the university, who will have charge of the sports program at the Devils Lake Chautauqua this season, has about completed his schedule of baseball games and will call in his men about the 25th of the month so that several games can be played before the opening of the summer season at the lake. The suits ordered some time ago have arrived at the lake and present a very neat appearance with the red letters on the gray background. Kenneth Hyslop of this city will captain the team. On the Fourth of July two games are to be played, but with whom it has not as yet been decided. Lakota is doing some corresponding with Westhope and Grafton for the same day.

Hooked 44 Fish.

Tom Griffith and L. H. Carter returned yesterday from Lake Bemidji, where they finished the staking out of their cottages located in Grand Forks bay, where so many local people are building. They brought back with them 44 large pike and pickerel, which they assert, were caught in as many minutes. Professor Merrill of the university is having a cottage built in close proximity to the proposed Griffith cottage and with the many other Grand Forks resorters a representative bunch from this city will always be on hand.

Had Narrow Escape.

Hall Trepaner, son of C. P. Trepaner of this city, had a narrow escape from death last night. While walking down street an automobile driven by an out of town man came whizzing by and instead of turning away, Hall seemed dazed and walked directly toward it. He was rolled under the wheels and only good work on the part of the driver saved him from serious injury.

Will Visit at St. Paul.

Albert and Mabelle Madison left last night on a short business and pleasure trip combined to the east. They expect to be gone for two or three weeks and will spend their time at Hutchinson, Minn., and in St. Paul and Chicago. On their return Albert will continue on west, where he has the superintending of a large cattle ranch.

To Kindred.

Mable Lund, one of the state university graduates, was a passenger on the south yesterday afternoon. Her destination was Kindred, where she expects to remain until the opening of the next school year, when she will take a position on the teaching staff of the Willow City schools.

Play With Minot Band.

Earl Cray took the train for Devils Lake this morning. Earl will play with the Minot high school band at the Chautauqua and is going ahead of time to get the Cray cottage cleaned and straightened up.

An Afternoon Picnic.

McIntyre's grove was the scene of a happy gathering yesterday afternoon when Miss Donovan entertained her school children at a picnic. Miss Donovan leaves tonight for Ardoch, where she will spend the summer months.

Notice to Voters.

The polling place for the primary election for the Sixth ward of the city of Grand Forks, N. D., will be at No. 613 N. Fourth street. By order, John Lynch, inspector.

Have you trouble with your eyes? See The Eye Optician.

A Splendid Convention.

The session of the Young People's Christian Endeavor of Pembina Presbytery which closed at Wahalla yesterday, was one of the most successful religious gatherings held in the state for several years. The attendance was large and the interest and enthusiasm remarkably good. The program was full of interest from start to finish and was full of overflowing with good things. The special features were the addresses of Miss Grace Curtis Glenn, for many years a missionary to Japan, and the closing address of the assembly by Dr. J. L. Gordon of Winnipeg. The officers elected for the ensuing year are as follows: President, George F. Rich, Grand Forks; vice president, Rev. McIntosh, Park River; secretary, Miss A. L. Gill, Pembina; treasurer, Miss Lucy Gordon, Langdon.

Looking for Crook.

Chief Lowe has been advised to look out for a man named E. Snyder. He is described as about 40 years of age, weight 190 pounds and 5 feet 8 inches tall. The charge against him is that of obtaining money, under false pretenses, at Carlinville, Ind. He has been traced as far as Crookston, which city he left several days ago.

Premium List Monday.

The premium list of the County Fair association will be ready for distribution on next Monday. They can be procured from the office of Secretary Woods at his office on the second floor of the St. Johns block. The diagram of the exposition building will be ready at the same time and place, and exhibitors will be able to select their locations.

GRAFTERS' RECORDS ARE BARED TO SUNLIGHT

Colonel Wardwell Deals Some Telling Blows to the Quartette.

[Pembina Pioneer Express.] The Republican voter in this county will next Tuesday be called upon to choose between two sets of delegates to go to the Republican state convention in Jamestown in July, which convention will select candidates for state offices. In the selection of these delegates there is more involved than the personality of the men. On both sides there are good citizens, personally unobjectionable, who are representative of the county and their respective localities.

But it must not be forgotten that they are sent to Jamestown, not as private citizens, but to express the opinion of the voters of this county. It is not a question whether this friend or that neighbor shall be honored with the compliment of your vote, but whether when he gets to Jamestown he will represent you and your locality in his choice of candidates. What do these different candidates for delegates stand for? That is the only question that should influence you when you cast your ballot.

One half of the delegates names printed on the ballot stand for the history of North Dakota and all that history implies, in progress. No new state in this union has a better record. There is not a citizen or the state but is proud of that record and proud of the standing of his state among the states. These candidates propose a continuance of this progress.

The other half of the thirty-two, stand for a change in the administration of the affairs and government of the state. What that change may be can best be forecasted by the personal records of the men who seek to make the change. Not the local delegates—they are honorable, but mistaken, men who will later discover their errors, but the record of the men whose schemes our local insurgent delegates are expected to further and assist in accomplishment.

There are four of these and they form a quartette, each of whom have fallen in the same political slough and from which they expect to crawl over the heads and bodies of such people as our local insurgent friends whose names appear on the ballots in this county. Each of these have the common disposition of being ejected from, or falling to, get, fat and high political office. Otherwise they have no likeness either to or for each other. In most cases they have vilified each other in the past and now have come together only through common misfortune.

First (the least), the unspeakable Major Murphy of Ward county. A political "boss" of the most repulsive type who narrowly escaped the penitentiary last winter on a charge of forging road district overseers' receipts, and who is still under bonds for a second trial.

Second, "Governor" Joe Devine, who takes three salaries for one man's work and stole parts of a half a dozen Thanksgiving proclamations from governors of other states and passed them to the people of North Dakota as his own.

Third, Hon. Bursleigh Spalding of Cass county. Mr. Spalding has been in congress from this state. His most notable service was to vote for the free importation of Manitoba wheat for the Minneapolis mills, thereby decreasing the demand for the wheat from North Dakota farmers. Personally he was one of the representatives that voted himself mileage from Washington to Fargo and back, during the closing of one term of congress and the opening of another, which journey took place, in his imagination, in the space of time that it took the speaker to strike his gavel twice on the desk in front of him. One session opening as soon as the other closes.

Fourth, would-be but never-was and never-will be "Governor" George B. Winship. Mr. Winship's forte is that of an "honorable." The domination of the "boss" is his fetish. He has evidently learned the lesson of the bosses by his habits of slumming with them in the sinks of iniquity. For he has had no other associates in the political arena for his life-time except the men whom he now denounces as thieves and robbers. And now comes the Grand Forks Times with what it claims to be documentary evidence that this "honorable" this "immaculate" is a party to the creation of a printing monopoly through which the state made to pay exorbitant prices for its public printing and the proceeds shared among the members of the trust. The procedure was as follows:

Under the plea of patronizing home institutions a law was passed by the legislature that all public printing and supplies of that sort must be purchased by the state and the counties in the state, of printers and binders within the state. The facts are that at the time when the law was passed there were only four printing establishments in the state that could furnish the bound books and ruled blanks needed. Hence, it is easy for the reader to draw his own conclusions as to the parties who were interested in getting the "patriotic" law passed. Then these four concerns formed a trust and pooled the profits. In a signed agreement printed in the Times, the Herald company agrees to pay to the other members of the monopoly thirty-six per cent of the proceeds of the share of printing that came to it through the acceptance of its "letter" or "bid" against the bids of the other members of the same monopoly. Of course, under such circumstances the amount of each bid was arranged by the parties at interest beforehand, and the share of printing that each should do and divide with the others was also agreed to.

We do not know how extravagant the bids were to the state, but we know that under the law the state had no other thing to do but to accept such bids as the members of the trust figures as the members of the trust chose to make, and if the Herald could afford to give away thirty-six per cent of the proceeds to the others, then after keeping a profit for itself, the price to the state could not have been a very small one. That is, of this honorable quartette

A Little Money Goes a Long Way
