The busiest day in six months

What Stanchfield Says

DON'T FUSS—DON'T FRET—

My $18.00 Suits subtract the fuss and fret from things—and then you save $7.00 which ought to help some. Do you ever notice how many of them you can see in a day in Grand Forks? Well just keep your eyes open and see for once. You can tell at a glance that they are tailor made—no cheap hand-me-downs—but good, stylish up-to-date suits that any man is proud of.

NO CHANCE FOR FAILURE

If you wear one of my 3 for $5.00 imported Madras Shirts—they are simply "visible opportunities" that you don't get every day.

HOW'S THIS FOR HOT.

And still you fellows will persist in sweating and worrying your life away under a "hot hat"—now if you are wise or sensible you would wear a straw hat—those Roswell hats at $3.00 are as "cool as a cucumber" and my Panamas are simply refrigerators on a day of this kind. We have plenty of hot weather coming so "stock up."

FOUND THE LAW WHEN TOO LATE

Council Determined Qualifications of Jarvis Last November.

Considerable amusement is being had in the city over the last desperate move in the case against Alderman Jarvis, the counsel for Borchers having just instituted an ouster proceeding before the council. The facts in the case are that at the election there was on the face of the returns a tie between Jarvis and Borchers, and the council sitting as a canvassing board so decided at the meeting held on November 13. On November 20 the two candidates agreed upon the method of determining the tie by lot as provided in section 47 of chapter 8 of the laws of 1895. Their agreement which was in accordance with the provisions of the law was embodied in a resolution adopted by the council, and the proceedings were had under that resolution resulting in the selection of Jarvis, Borchers having submitted his claims according to law, and lost.

After the matter had been fully determined, the following resolution was adopted:

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that James Jarvis be and he be hereby declared the duly elected Alderman from the said First ward, and that the city recorder of said city be and is hereby instructed to issue a certificate of election to the said James Jarvis as Alderman of said First ward for the term of two years, beginning the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January, A. D., 1906."

The supreme court of Minnesota in the case of the State vs. Churchill, reported in the 15 Minnesota at page 455, says: "The result of the canvass by the board, therefore, is a decision and determination of the election of the person whom they declare to be elected." Inasmuch as the city council sitting as the canvassing board has determined the person elected a layman can see that no legal proceeding of the council can be had which will oust the man so declared elected. The proceeding is being had under section 114 of chapter 8, laws of 1895, which provided that the council shall be the judges of the election and qualifications of its own members. The council has acted in that capacity and declared Jarvis elected, and it has no authority to institute a second proceeding.

Better Than West Side.

The East Side Stars and the Twirlers, two splendid local ball teams composed of the younger players of this city, matched strength on the local diamond yesterday, and those who saw the game say it was more scientific than they have ever seen on the professional diamond on the west side. The score was 9 to 4 in favor of the Stars.

Wanted Attention.

Pattie Sullivan, who is spending a few days at St. Paul, notified Undertaker Sullivan to meet him on his return with the hearse. An effort is being made to comply with the request.

Arneson Sick.

E. Arneson of the Arneson Mercantile company is rather seriously indisposed and is confined to his room. It is hoped, however, that his trouble will have no serious results.

Youthful Lovers.

Ludgard Monda and Mrs. Josephine Foubert will be married tomorrow at the Church of the Sacred Heart. Both parties are past the three-score milestone in life.

Council Tonight.

There will be an adjourned meeting of the city council tonight provided a quorum is present.

Home From Visit.

Mrs. H. Dieken and daughter, Miss Gertrude, have returned from a pleasant visit at Shakopee.

Courting at Crookston.

Attorney Massee is at Crookston today looking after some legal matters.

FINE REPORTS

Machine Representatives Give Glowing Accounts of Crop Conditions.

Glowing reports of the crop conditions all over the state are being brought in by the managers of the different machinery and threshing houses who have recently been out on business trips which were in the nature of tours of inspection. There seems to be but little variation in the reports, all of them being to the effect that crops are bigger and better than ever before.

So far there have been no indications of rust anywhere, but it is a little early to tell very much about it yet as the rust rarely puts in an appearance until the grain is headed out.

A bumper crop, particularly in the northern and western sections of the state is the general prediction.

CONVENTION

"Every man who is entitled to a voice in the convention should be given the opportunity to be heard, and it is my opinion that this will go down in history as the most successful republican convention ever held in North Dakota, in the manner of its being well conducted and void of unfairness and injustice to any one."

The republicans of Stutsman county are naturally elated over the splendid endorsement they have given the regular republican party at the primaries. While there was strong opposition and a very prominent man in the field against the regular republicans in the person of Alfred Steele of Jamestown as a candidate for governor, the party has held together and given the stamp of disapproval to the attempts to disrupt the party. The younger men of the county are coming to the front. In fact, the organization is controlled by them and they seem determined to secure for this county that which they deem it entitled to by reasons of its party loyalty and results obtained, viz., something besides federal appointments. Stutsman county wants federal buildings they maintain and the republicans here seem to have determined to secure their proportion of the same.

Today's incoming trains will bring the vanguard of party leaders and from then on things will move with a snap and vigor until the day of the convention.

COMMERCIAL CLUB PLANNING A JUNKET

Trip Over G. N. Main Line and Branches Being Planned for Aug. 14—Special Train.

The officers and directors of the Commercial club are at the present time planning a trip over the main line and branches of the Great Northern for the fore part of August and President Lander has mailed to each member a letter in which he sets forth the details of the trip and asks a personal expression as to whether or not the one addressed desires to become a member of the party.

The Great Northern has promised to furnish a special train, consisting of an engine, baggage car, two sleepers and a diner and in order to secure the train it will be necessary for at least fifty of the club members to avail themselves of the proffer. The total expense, covering all items, it has been figured out need not exceed $65.

As now planned, the excursion would leave this city at 9 o'clock of the morning of Tuesday, August 14, and return on Saturday night the 18th inst. The junket is to include a trip over the main line as far as the Montana border and over the following branches, Lakota-Sarles, Devils Lake-Starkweather, Churchs Ferry-St. John's, York-Dunselth, Rugby-Bottineau, Tower-Maxbass, and Granville-Sherwood.

The idea in view is that of acquainting the members of the club with conditions as they exist in that part of the state which is tributary to Grand Forks. Next year it is hoped to cover "Soot" territory and possibly part of the Northern Pacific. In addition to the business advantages of such a trip, the members of the party would also have an opportunity for enjoyment of social pleasures.

President Lander wishes to hear immediately from the club members.

A CAMPAIGNER

Major Hamilton, Long Time G.

O. P. Worker, Home From Washington.

Major John G. Hamilton, one of the most successful and experienced campaigners the republican party of this state has ever had, for several years an assistant sergeant-at-arms in the senate at the national capital, arrived home from the east Sunday morning. Major Hamilton is confident of republican supremacy in North Dakota in the years to come, as in the years gone by. He has been in charge of every campaign in this state since 1892, accepting one, in 1896, and is a member of the state central committee.

He and Col. Frank Hansen who, by the way, touts himself as a democrat of the deep-dyed sort, had a good natured tilt Sunday evening at the Rex.

"Bryan will be our next president," conjectured the colonel.

"Not on your tin type," hurled back the major. "I'll not see a democrat president during my lifetime."

"Then I won't die until I do," warbled the colonel. "That man Bryan is the real thing."

"Oh, I don't question his ability or smarts, but the principles upon which he stands are not acceptable to the general mass of the people."

"When Cleveland was president," volunteered the colonel, you couldn't sell a 5-cent cigar—it was 10-cent straight or the two-for-a-quarter variety.

"I think you are right," replied the major, "but the republicans could have jobs."

"That's the only way the democrats will ever have a chance to win," was the major's parting salute, and by way of retorting the colonel's cigar "story," he bought a 10-cent straight.

NEW MANAGER

Reported Billy Hanrahan Will Assume Control of Local Ball Team.

Billy Hanrahan, the popular Grand Forks man who has been playing baseball with the Maroons at Winnipeg, has been released by the manager of that team to the local club and it was currently reported on the streets this afternoon that he is to assume the management of the Grand Forks ball team and that "Chuck" Chandler will also join the aggregation.

Should this report prove truthful the fans will undoubtedly be well pleased. Manager McNeil could not be located this afternoon, but it is believed that the report is O. K.

TO BOOM TAFT FOR PRESIDENT.

Associated Press to The Evening Times. Greensboro, N. C., July 9.—Secretary of War Taft has arrived here to deliver an address tonight to the republican delegates and party leaders gathered here for tomorrow's state convention. According to rumor the occasion is designed to mark the formal launching of the Taft presidential boom. Whether or not this rumor has any substantial foundation it is certain that its circulation has aroused a lively interest among politicians. Mr. Taft's visit has aroused much enthusiasm and it is said to be on the cards for some ardent supporter to offer a resolution in tomorrow's convention endorsing the secretary of war for the republican presidential nomination. It is believed, however, that friends of Vice President Fairbanks and of other republican leaders who might be considered among presidential possibilities possess sufficient influence to prevent the state convention from committing itself to any particular candidate.

Voice Culture.

Mr. J. A. Evans, late of Royal academy, London, and late leading tenor of well known opera companies, will give singing lessons by mail. Summer address, Willow City, N. D.

JAMESTOWN TO GET CONVENTION IN 1907

N. D. Baptists' Convention Adjourns Sunday Evening—Appointments Made.

The North Dakota State Baptists' Convention and Ministerial union which has been in session during the past three days, came to an end on Sunday evening. The convention was probably the most successful and most interesting of any of that denomination ever held in the state.

The closing day's exercises began with public worship at 10:30 a. m. in the first Baptist church. Rev. C. A. Cook of Bloomfield, N. J., preached a powerful sermon on "Christian Stewardship." Special music was rendered by the choir and by Mrs. Dr. Pierce, who sang "The Plains of Peace." The main thought in Rev. Cook's address was that God is the owner of all property in the earth; that man is his guest and as such has the right to use the property but not to abuse it or make use of it solely to his own selfish ends.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock there was another service at which the speakers were Rev. A. J. Brastad of Lisbon; Rev. W. H. Walker, Langdon, and Rev. S. Batchelor, Cooperstown. At the evening service there was first a program of songs and special music by the choir with solos by Mr. Paul Gladstone and Miss Pauline Allen. These were followed by an address on the "Effect of the Law and the Operation of Grace," by Rev. Jos. P. Jacobs of Kansas City. Rev. Jacobs is a powerful and practical speaker.

At the evening service a resolution of sympathy for Dr. T. M. Shanfelt, former Baptist missionary for this state, now lying very ill at his home in Huron, Mich., was introduced by Rev. L. B. Crosby of Crystal and adopted by a rising vote of the congregation.

The choosing of Jamestown for the 1907 convention was practically unanimous. Rev. Tilden, pastor-elect of the First Baptist church at Fargo, was selected to preach the annual sermon and Rev. Casper H. Frye of Calvin, N. D., was named as alternate.

Before the adjournment of the convention the following committees were named:

State Missions—Rev. L. B. Crosby, Crystal; Rev. B. L. Carlson, Fargo; Mr. C. T. Whitten, Cooperstown.

Home Missions—Rev. W. H. Walker, Langdon; Rev. S. W. Hovey, Jamestown; Mr. William McIntosh, Cavalier.

Foreign Missions—Rev. R. A. MacMullen, Minot; Rev. M. B. Critchell, Fairmount; Mrs. E. J. Babcock, Grand Forks.

Publication Society—Rev. E. P. Johnson, Rolla; Rev. Olaf Breiding, Bethel; Mr. Sidney Clarke, Grand Forks.

Christian Education—Rev. Frank E. R. Miller, Grand Forks; Rev. A. J. Brastad, Lisbon; Rev. F. W. Stanton, Bismarck.

Tolerance—Rev. S. Batchelor, Cooperstown; Mr. J. K. Fairchild, Cavalier; Mr. R. B. Griffith, Grand Forks.

Obituaries—Rev. W. K. Sherwin, Cando; Rev. N. J. Lee, Fargo; Rev. A. Van Tassel, Bathgate.

Program—Mr. W. H. Aymer, Page; Rev. Myron Cooley, Fargo; Rev. Frank E. R. Miller, Grand Forks; Rev. R. A. MacMullen, Minot; Rev. S. W. Hovey, Jamestown.

Christian Stewardship—Rev. S. Batchelor, Cooperstown; Rev. Frank E. R. Miller, Grand Forks.

The convention adjourned late Sunday evening and today most of the delegates who remained through the Sabbath, returned to their respective homes.

AID FOR FAIR

County Board Agrees to Half Mill Levy to Assist the County Fair.

The board of county commissioners late this afternoon agreed to the request of the directors of the Grand Forks County Agricultural society, proposing the county fair, that it make a levy for the purpose of aid, as it is provided under the laws of 1905 it may do.

The board will order a levy of one-half mill on the assessed valuation. This will provide a fund of about $5,500.

The fair directors will at once let contracts for the new buildings and other contemplated improvements.

CHORUS GIRLS. Associated Press to The Evening Times. New York, July 9.—The investigation of the district attorney's office to discover the motive for the killing of Stanford White by Harry Thaw is bringing to the office of the prosecutor many young women of the stage. The Broadway theatrical district has been flooded with subpoenas. Many chorus girls have left the city and others remain at their homes to avoid subpoena servers. Two young women from the district attorney's office has been particularly eager to interview are Paula Desmond and Gertie Grant. It is alleged that these young women were followed and annoyed by detectives who had been employed to watch White.

BRIQUETTE TEST "HE-LIES-BLACK" A COMPLETE SUCCESS REAL SLAYER OF CUSTER

A New Industry Opened in North Dakota—Reports of Babcock and Stewart.

A series of tests of the Stewart coal briquette has been completed at the University of North Dakota. Prof. E. J. Babcock in charge has completed his report, which considering the inferior grade of lignite used in the briquettes and the high grade of the soft coal tested, is a signal victory for the inventor and means much to the state as it opens up an industry that heretofore was handicapped because of unnatural conditions and made our vast coal fields practically valueless save for local markets at the mines. Prof. Babcock's summary of the stove test says that in each case combustion took place readily but was rather more marked in the briquette. In briquette test No. 1, with open drafts the stove was red hot from fire pot to stove pipe within 25 minutes after the fire was started. The flame was of excellent quality, there being less smoke than with the soft coal and there was no objectionable odor. The briquettes being somewhat porous burned rapidly and intensely, no doubt more rapidly than they could if formed under greater pressure, in which case they would be more dense. The combustion of the briquettes is excellent and they hold their form until the fuel is practically all burned out when they will drop down to a fine ash when shaken or touched with a poker.

There is a slight tendency in the briquette to coke and this no doubt helps to hold them together.

The fact that the briquette holds up so well during handling and burning shows a great advance over the unbriquetted lignite.

It was at the time of the world's fair in Chicago that Rain-in-the-Face attained no little notoriety as the man who had killed Custer.

"He made head big money, too," remarked an Indian from Standing Rock. "Just how Rain-in-the-Face made 'big money' is well known to many visitors at the big fair, and many a tenderfoot today treasures some piece of garment that Rain-in-the-Face wore 'on the day he killed Custer."

But while Rain-in-the-Face was in Chicago gaining wide spread notoriety the real slayer of Custer was living in the wilds of Montana, afraid to return to his home on Standing Rock reservation.

"He-Lies-Black killed Custer," said Ben Gillard, a squaw man who has resided on the Standing Rock reservation for thirty years.

"He was an uncle of mine," remarked an intelligent redskin. "He has described the battle to me."

It was not until four years ago that He-Lies-Black dared to return to his home on the Standing Rock reservation near Grand River. He died two years later and it was only relatives and friends who were well known to the Indians that he had not fired the shot that killed Custer.

Rain-in-the-Face owed me $13 when he died," remarked Ben Gillard. "He was not popular on the reservation and it was well known to the Indians that he had not fired the shot that killed Custer."

He-Lies-Black was satisfied that Rain-in-the-Face should take the credit for killing Custer, for he feared that should it become known that he was the real slayer, he might be punished and it was in fear of punishment that he remained away from his former hunting ground for twenty-six years.

The Indians did not want to kill Custer," said Ben Gillard, who has often heard the story of the famous battle told by eye witnesses. "They simply had to kill him. The Indians tried to make him understand that they wanted to spare his life, but he apparently thought that his life was to be spared only to save him for torture later."

"Everyone who knew He-Lies-Black speaks well of him. He was a brave fighter and rarely spoke of his exploits either on the hunting ground or battle field. In all of the engagements which the Indians had with the soldiers thirty to forty years ago, He-Lies-Black took an active part. He returned to his old lodge at Grand River four years ago an old man, broken in health, but the light of battle shone in his eye occasionally and it was at such times that I have persuaded him to recount his experiences on the field of battle. It was at such a time that he told me of the killing of Custer. Afterward the story was confirmed by Good-Voiced-Eagle, who resides at Bull Head station and who is one of the survivors of the followers of Sitting Bull who participated in the Custer massacre."

Sunday Games. At Calumet on Sunday the local team went down to defeat before Hancock by a score of 4 to 3. Calumet made 9 hits as against 7 by Hancock while each team erred but once. Morrison and Leahy battery for losers and Hopkins and Stewart for Hancock. At Houghton the home team won from Lake Linton by a score of 2 to 1. The teams made 7 and 9 hits respectively and Houghton erred six times as against three misplays for the Lakes team and Smith for Houghton and Balliett and Kurke for the Lakes.
