MURDER SUSPECT TAKEN IN NEW YORK

Frank Constantine, Wanted for Slaying Mrs. Gentry, in the Toils.

STORY OF ATROCIOUS CRIME

Associated Press to The Evening Times. Chicago, July 26.—Frank J. Constantine, alleged murderer of Mrs. Louise A. Gentry, is under arrest in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. It was announced today by Assistant Chief of Police Schuetler that Constantine had been captured but he refused to reveal the name of the town in which the arrest occurred.

Constantine was recognized by a woman who at one time lived in the apartment building in which the murder was committed on January 6 last. She reported to the authorities at Poughkeepsie that the man was Constantine, and he was at once arrested.

Sheriff Hoffman of Dutchess county, N. Y., telegraphed the local police that he is holding Constantine, saying that the prisoner did not deny his name, but claimed he is a brother of Frank J. Constantine.

The murder of Mrs. Gentry was one of the series of crimes against women which was committed early in the year, which aroused public indignation. No motive for the crime has been discovered as Constantine and Mrs. Gentry were alone in the apartment at the time.

The first intimation given of the crime was by Mrs. Gentry herself, who fell down a stairway to the door of a physician on the floor below. Opening the door he found Mrs. Gentry lying against it with her throat cut from ear to ear.

A. W. Gentry, the husband of Mrs. Gentry who is a prosperous business man, offered large rewards for the arrest of Constantine, and many men were arrested in various parts of the country, but all were later released.

TWO RUN DOWN ON G. N. TRESTLE

Occupants of Railroad Velocipede Struck at Neche and One is Killed.

THE OTHER JUMPED FOR LIFE

Special to The Evening Times. Neche, N. D., July 26.—A fatal accident occurred last evening at a mile north of this city on a Great Northern trestle, when a velocipede, shoving two tinders, crashed into a railway velocipede on which two men, one of them W. H. Anderson, a track inspector, were riding. Anderson was instantly killed, his head being cut in two, while his companion escaped by leaping off the bridge to the ground below.

The dead man and his companion, it appears, came to this place early last night from Gretna, and upon completing the mission upon which they were sent, started upon the return for Gretna. When they were about the center of the trestle, Anderson's companion called attention to what he believed was an approaching train. Anderson answered that he was a railroad man and could tell by the signals displayed that the train was going the other way.

KING CURIOUS TO MEET MR. BRYAN

Expressed Request for the Meeting—Peace Conference Discussed, the King in Accord.

Associated Press Cable to The Evening Times. London, July 26.—William J. Bryan, who was introduced by Ambassador Reid, was received by private audience by King Edward at Buckingham palace today.

The visit was paid at the king's personal request, his majesty having notified Reid that he desired to meet Bryan. The interview was quite informal and was marked by the pleasing cordiality which the king is accustomed to show Americans in whom he is interested. Only the king, Mr. Reid and Bryan were present. The conversation largely turned on the subject of peace and the conference of the inter-parliamentary union, with the objects of which the king showed himself thoroughly in accord. Subsequently the king received some eighty members of the inter-parliamentary union in the throne room, Congressmen Richard Barthold of Missouri; T. E. Burton of Ohio, and Rockwood Hoar of Massachusetts representing the American group.
