Give Me the Baby Give me the baby to hold, my dear— To hold and hug and to love and kiss.

Mrs. Stevens Was Married Here. Mrs. Jean McNaughton Stevens of Towner whose good old Scotch accent is a pleasure to hear and whose cordial handshake is sought by all old vets and their wives was here for the W. R. C. assembly and was one of the most active bodies in the entire delegation.

Give me the baby (Oh, won't you see? Somewhere out where the green of the lawn is turning to gray, and the maple tree is weeping its leaves of gold upon a little mound, with a dead rose near...)

Descendant of Great Grandfather. Musical people will be interested in a little press report from the Kenmare News which states that a well known Kenmare woman, Mrs. G. W. McGlen, has the honor of being the great great granddaughter of the famous composer, George F. Handel, who was born in Halle, Prussia in 1685.

Miss Louise E. Vallacher who has been connected with the Langdon Courier-Democrat for some time and Henry E. Coertz, foreman in the Cavalier County Republican office were married this week at the bride's home in Thief River Falls, Minn., and the announcement came as a happy surprise to their Langdon friends. They will return to Langdon in a few days and will reside on South Sixth street.

To Summer Abroad. Fargo Forum: Miss Ethel Amidon, accompanied by Miss Ohaj Hill of the art department of Fargo college left today for Chicago, where Miss Hill will attend summer school at one of the art institutes. Miss Amidon will be joined at Chicago by Miss Blanche True of Fargo college and will go on to Cleveland, O., and Buffalo. Later they will join a party sailing from Boston, July 1, for Naples. During the summer they will visit in Italy, France, Holland, Switzerland, Germany, England and Scotland, returning home in September. The trip will be a most delightful one and the party will bring with them many new ideas for the college on the hill. Miss Amidon is a graduate this year from the college preparatory course.

Miss Nellie Sinclair and Myron Scott, popular young people of America who are engaged to be married, were married Wednesday afternoon at the Baptist church at that place. The young couple are now enjoying an extended wedding trip through the west but will reside in America on their return.

Kindergarten Luncheon. A very successful kindergarten has just concluded its year's work in Bismarck and the occasion was celebrated with a handsome luncheon served by the ladies of the Mother's club, the organization which supports the school. A large company of guests were bidden and the afternoon was spent in viewing the children's work exhibit and visiting with Miss Bartels, the capable kindergarten teacher. The rooms were decorated in the club colors, blue and white, and so pleased were the mothers with the care and instruction their little ones had received that Miss Bartels was engaged for another term.

Miss Ida Plummer who has been one of the efficient teachers in the Roosevelt school for the past year and made her home with her sister, Mrs. J. S. Hatcher on South Fifth street, leaves this evening to spend her summer vacation away. She will enjoy a several days' outing at Fish Lake and later plans on an eastern lake trip.

The Week's June Brides.

The wedding of Mrs. Ellen B. Cornforth and Byron Moore of Larimore took place yesterday afternoon and was a perfectly appointed home ceremony occurring at the residence of the bride. Rev. Ross W. Adair performed the nuptial service at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the attendants being Mrs. L. F. Mason and the bride's son, Leo Desmond. A handsomely appointed wedding dinner was served and in the evening the couple left for Minneapolis and Owatonna, Minn., where they will spend their honeymoon, returning about July 1 to take up their residence in Larimore.

At Crookston recent announcement of unusual interest is that of the coming marriage of Miss Helen Riedesel of that city and Harold Miesner of Euclid, Minn. The date has been set for Tuesday, June 25. Langdon friends have received announcements of the marriage at Bellingham, Wash., of Miss Vada E. Marshall, formerly of this city, and L. Wesley Christopher of Bellingham. The bride spent a year in Langdon when her brother, Alden R. Marshall, now of Williston, was manager of the McMillan Machine company.

Miss Louise E. Vallacher who has been connected with the Langdon Courier-Democrat for some time and Henry E. Coertz, foreman in the Cavalier County Republican office were married this week at the bride's home in Thief River Falls, Minn., and the announcement came as a happy surprise to their Langdon friends. They will return to Langdon in a few days and will reside on South Sixth street.

Miss Elsie Brine of Kulm who has been a popular student at the university surprised her schoolmates by becoming the bride of Attorney Fred Larson of Kulm Wednesday afternoon immediately after the commencement exercises. Rev. J. K. Burleson performed the ceremony and the couple left that evening for Kulm where they will reside. Mr. Larson is a university graduate and while here became a member of the Delta Sigma Rho fraternity.

The marriage of Miss Agnes M. Fowlson and Clyde W. Fisk of Hunter was a pretty home wedding of Wednesday, the event taking place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Richardson in Hunter. Rev. L. D. Cook officiated and after the wedding dinner the young couple repaired to the cozy home which the groom has recently built and furnished.

Miss Nellie Sinclair and Myron Scott, popular young people of America who are engaged to be married, were married Wednesday afternoon at the Baptist church at that place. The young couple are now enjoying an extended wedding trip through the west but will reside in America on their return.

Alice Draeske Entertained. Fargo Forum: The Eta Beta Phi club was entertained at dinner last evening at the home of Miss Alice Draeske on Twelfth street north. Dinner was served at 7 o'clock from a prettily laid table, attractive in the club colors, gold and white. Streamers in these colors were fastened with bows of ribbon from the chandelier and extended to the table. The place cards were cleverly arranged in white and gold and the guests were required to decipher their names to find their places. Miss Madge Cannon was the guest of the evening. Favors were sticks of candy in the predominant colors tied with dainty bows of ribbon. A delightful surprise was sprung when the guests found charming invitations under their plates from Miss Grace Grubbs to a box party at the Orphanage, which followed the dinner. The evening was a very pleasant one and will probably be the last of the season.

Guests from Rochester. Miss Frances Madden and Harold Madden will arrive today from their home at Rochester, Minn., and for two weeks will be guests of Miss Margaret Murphy at the home of her parents, Mayor and Mrs. M. F. Murphy, on Reeves avenue.

M. P. A. Social Session. The Modern Protective association will meet in regular session at the K. P. hall this evening at 8:30 o'clock and a social session will follow the business hour. Members are privileged to invite their friends to the social hour and refreshments will be served.

Married Beneath the Flag.

St. Paul Pioneer Press: Beneath a large American flag—the design of which her great-grandmother had perfected 134 years ago in her home in Philadelphia—Miss Anna Saterthwaite last evening became the wife of Herbert Lynn Foster in Minneapolis. Near by stood the young woman's father, it had always been his wish that his daughter marry on Flag day, devoted to the memory of the day the Continental Congress adopted the flag his great-grandmother, Betsy Ross, planned.

Mendelssohn and his wedding march were forgotten at the Fremont Avenue Congregational church. As the bride party entered the edifice the strains of "The Star-Spangled Banner," played to slow march time, greeted them. While the ceremony was in progress thirty young women, members of Virginia Dare chapter, D. A. R., occupied seats in the front row.

Mrs. Foster is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Satterthwaite, 3018 Emerson avenue. She is a lineal descendant of Betsy Ross on her father's side.

Handkerchief Shower for Bride.

Miss Florence Secord was the recipient of a delightful pre-nuptial honor last evening when Misses Gertrude Adams and Grace Carter entertained with a handkerchief shower at Miss Carter's home on Belmont avenue. The house decorations carried out the cupid theme in red hearts and cupids and a cleverly written poem told the honoree where to find the collection of dainty gifts which had been hidden until the proper time. A dainty refreshment service brought the happy evening to a close and the guests from each of whom Miss Secord received a dainty handkerchief included Misses Gertrude Lankin, Sadie Barnard, Barbara Henry, Floy Jackson, Jennie Buckingham, Lillian Paulson, Viola Cooper, Mathilda Ruetad, Gertrude Currie, Maude Begg and Mrs. Earl Duckworth.

Mrs. D. A. Dinnie Here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dinnie have as their delightful guest to entertain until after the festivities of the Elks convention next week Mrs. D. A. Dinnie of Minot, whose friends will be glad to hear that she has quite recovered from her recent illness. Mrs. Dinnie was accompanied to the city by her mother, Mrs. Delaney, who has spent the winter in Minot and this afternoon went on to her home at Arvika. Her daughter accompanied her but will return to this city after a day or two.

Reception Tonight.

This evening the members of the choir and music committee of the First Methodist church will gather at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Paulson on Belmont avenue to bid farewell to two of its members, Miss Kathryn May Sturtevant and George C. Gladness, both of whom will wed soon and go west to make their future homes. The church people much regret the departure of both these talented young people but will endeavor to make this evening's event one to be long cherished by them.

Guests of Mrs. Bangs.

Delightful guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tracy R. Bangs on South Fourth street are Mrs. J. W. McDonald of Minneapolis, Mrs. J. W. William Blaker of Minot. Mrs. McDonald is a former resident of this city and her many old friends will cordially welcome her and make her stay a most pleasant one. Both ladies will be Mrs. Bangs' guest for a week or more.

Was on Toast Program.

At the alumni banquet for the Fargo high school graduates given in that city last evening Miss Beatrice Olson of the high school faculty, a former university girl and well known in this city, was one of the speakers in the toast program. The feast was served at 7 o'clock at the Pirie cafe with covers laid for 200 and a ball followed.

Visited With Her Brother.

Mrs. W. A. McCoy of Langdon who came down to attend university commencement has been the guest of her brother and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. F. F. Fletcher of University avenue, for the past few days. Mrs. McIntyre's youngest brother, Ernie E. Fletcher, was admitted to the bar before the supreme court in this city last Saturday.

Here for the Summer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Floyd Stevens of Ithaca, N. Y., were here last evening while enroute to Inkster where they will spend a part of the summer vacation with Mrs. Stevens' parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Bemis. They will also spend some time at Minot as guests of Mr. Stevens' mother, Mrs. J. D. Van Fleet, and in the fall will return to Cornell university where Mr. Stevens is an instructor in Sibley college.

Templetons Going to Lake.

Judge and Mrs. C. F. Templeton and their family will enjoy a month at Lake Bemidji again this summer. They have leased the Kennedy cottage at Deerpark, Minn., where they will spend the summer enjoying cottage life. They have a summer home at the favorite resort and plan to thoroughly enjoy the outing.

Returned From Vacation.

Miss Grace Vikoren, stenographer for the Grand Forks Realty company, returned last evening from a pleasant week's vacation visit at Langdon where she was the guest of Misses Viola and Bertha Elstad.

To Attend Conservatory.

Petersburg Record: The Misses Edith Anton and Victoria Bull expect to go to Grand Forks next Sunday evening to enter the conservatory of music. They will take a six week's course in piano study.

Guests from Barnesville.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Wohlwend of Barnesville, Minn., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Evanston of North Sixth street while attending the G. A. R. and W. R. C. conventions.

Lady Elks to Entertain.

Next week when the Elks from every city in the northwest will be the guests of the Grand Forks lodge it will be the duty of the Lady Elks to entertain their wives, for almost everyone, who is fortunate enough to be so blessed, is going to bring her with him. The ladies are entering into the enthusiastic spirit with as much determination as the gentlemen and mean to give the ladies a hearty, cordial welcome, and the very best kind of a time while they are here. Their definite plans will be completed by tomorrow evening and will undoubtedly consist of a "get acquainted" reception, an auto ride and a few other little affairs to fill in the time that will not be otherwise occupied by the big program. They are hoping for good weather and if they have it there is no question but what they will do their share in their prettiest manner.

Left for West Today.

Miss Mary Lane said farewell to her Grand Forks friends this afternoon and left for Portland, Ore., where she has accepted a position as stenographer in the office of the superintendent of transportation on the Spokane, Portland and Seattle road. Her departure is much regretted by her many friends in the younger set and all hope that she will return for frequent visits.

Guests From Larimore.

Misses Laura and Gladys Smith arrived this morning from Larimore and will spend a few days here consulting physicians. Miss Laura Smith was compelled to give up her school at Inkster recently on account of having lost her voice and though several days have passed it has not yet improved.

Visited at Bismarck.

Miss Elizabeth DeKay and her sister, Miss Eugenia, who has been teaching at Carrington the past year, have returned from a pleasant few days' visit with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Woodward, at Bismarck.

Miss Lyons Here.

Miss Nona Lyons, a former well known university girl, arrived this morning from Larimore and will visit until tomorrow with friends.
