North Dakota Fairs Are The Best Places to Exhibit Live Stock Profitably

Secretary W. B. Richards of the North Dakota Livestock association in state more than to have a good, large out with a circular to the members of that association, boosting for the livestock exhibit at the various state fairs and urging that the livestock men get busy and make the exhibit this year the greatest ever. In the circular Mr. Richards says:

"I trust you are planning to exhibit at the leading fairs of the state this year. I know of nothing which will advance the live stock interests of the North Dakota Livestock association in state more than to have a good, large exhibit of livestock made by the North Dakota breeders."

Mr. Richards then quotes extracts from the letters received from two South Dakota exhibitors who are interested in both the fairs and the live stock interest. The first exhibitors says:

"After having visited your fair, I feel there is no place in the country where it will pay a breeder better than to show at the North Dakota fairs, as there is a great field for the sale of registered stock." The other exhibitor expresses himself thus:

"The South Dakota exhibitors should, however, show with you for two reasons—first, your state is the very best field outside of their own for placing their stock. This I know from experience and you can depend upon my word being with you again this year. In the next place if they will get their herds out for the early fairs they will be in better condition for the September fairs and most of these breeders need to fit their stock better than they are doing."

Secretary Richards continues:

"The secretary of the fair who received the letters from which I have quoted, writes as follows: These statements are in such marked contrast to the attitude of many of our state breeders that I hand them to you, as an official of their organization, for your consideration and in case you care to, you may submit them to the consideration of the members of your organization. We can build up some great fairs in this state, if the state breeders will take an interest and do their share. If our state breeders do not show their live stock we must get it elsewhere. The quotations given you herewith show how some of the outsiders feel with regard to this fair. I have similar letters from others who were here last year. I am for North Dakota and for North Dakota people, but if the North Dakota breeders will not help us, I do not feel that we are to blame if outside breeders who do come in and show, get all the business."

"I submit these statements for your consideration and I trust you will give them careful consideration. This year

I am convinced that the officials of the Fargo and Grand Forks fairs are making every possible effort to do their share to encourage a large exhibit of live stock. I believe they are going to do their part and it is up to you breeders to bring out a good exhibit even if you have to do it at some immediate financial sacrifice."

AMUSEMENTS

A Splendid Show.

The biggest array of vaudeville talent of the highest order that has ever been presented in one company is the approaching engagement for four nights commencing Wednesday, May 29, with Saturday matinee at 2:30 at the Metropolitan theater, of the great Albin-Avolo aggregation of world-famed stars which is headed by the well known incomparable humorist, magician and illusionist, Albin, who this season offers a $50,000 production of bewildering mysteries and illusions which have never before been shown. Included in the company supporting the great Albin are the following well known artists: The four Avolos, two ladies and two gentlemen, who are the acknowledged premier xyphonists of the world, and who render a program of popular and classical selections including the "Avolo March," the recent composition of Charles Avolo. Then there are the three Stratton brothers, Scotland's own singers, dancers and bagpipers; the fascinating four Allen sisters in a delightful series of songs, dances and costume changes; Mlle. De Vallance, the beautiful phenomenal contralto; the popular humorist and mimic, Tom Brantford, also known as the "Human Band;" Colby and Miamie, the globe-trotting ventriloquist and dthe dancing doll; the little Arab, Onetta, the dervish whirlwind and novelty artist.

This company has been booked for a tour of the John Cort circuit of theaters and is indeed a pretentious organization giving an entertainment of two and one-half hours duration that has evoked favorable comment from the press in all the cities thus far visited.
