Frank Derrig, cashier of the Pioneer State Bank of Glentana and Jos. A. Whetstone, editor of the Glentana Reporter were in the city yesterday transacting business. They left last night for the north. Mr. Whetstone stated that several prairie fires had occurred recently in the vicinity of Glentana, there being one yesterday that burned to the outskirts of the town. Much fine range was destroyed.

Leo Coleman returned the first of the week from his trip to Helena in a Studebaker. Mr. A. W. Mahon accompanied Mr. Coleman on the trip but remained in Helena. A careful record was kept of the oil, gasoline, and water used and it was found that on the 540 miles to Helena, the car made an average of 14 1/2 miles to the gallon of gasoline, and only one gallon of oil was used and one quart of water. This is an exceptionally good record over the roads to Helena and speaks well for that make of car.

It is now estimated that there are 150,000 sheep feeding on this end of the reservation. During the past two weeks sheep have been brought to Nashua from many different localities, where they have been in winter quarters. It is understood that another 100,000 will go onto the reservation in the near future. This year looks unusually good to sheep men as the price of wool and sheep alike is already record-breaking. But the time of the sheep man is limited so let them acquire a fortune while they have such an opportunity.—Independent.

Fred Weigel and Jim Aichele lay claim to being the champion fishermen of Glasgow. Monday afternoon they were trying their luck with the rod and line at the dam and had caught several small fish when Mr. Weigel, who was holding the pole was suddenly jerked almost into the river by a fierce pldl at the other end of the line. Valiantly he hung on and fight as the fish might, the man on the pole proved himself the master and with the aid of Jim Aichele towed the fish down the stream to the dam where Aichele hypnotized the fish and made him go along with them. They stopped fishing after their fight with the monster and set off for the city, their shoulders bowed beneath the enormous weight of the "king of the Milk". They were the center of many an admiring group on the streets and never tired of telling of the fight they had to make in landing him. Several stories have been told since then casting suspicion on the veracity of their statements but they have each other's word for it that it happened as it did.

HOLDUP ON VIADUCT

Cash Moore, son of R. J. Moore, was held up while crossing the viaduct in an automobile Wednesday night and robbed of $20.00. He was on his way to the north side and when crossing the viaduct he saw a man step out from the sidewalk in front of the machine. Thinking it was someone who wanted to ride, he slowed down, but the stranger pulled a gun and told him to throw up his hands. No trace of him has been found, as yet, but the authorities have a good description of him.

A veteran talking to his great-grandson, a little lad of eight or nine years, remarked:

"Nearly a generation and a half ago, my head was grazed by a bullet at the battle of Chickamauga."

The little boy looked at the old man's head thoughtfully, and said:

"There isn't much grazing now, is there sir?"—Chicago Record-Herald.
