YOUR TOWN

Every citizen is, or should be, proud of his home town. If he is not and does not assist in the upbuilding and development of the city in which he lives, there is something wrong with his anatomy, there is a void in that person's head where brain cells labeled "BOOST" should be overcrowding their allotted space.

Concerted action through a Commercial Club, for the progressive development of a community is recognized by all great cities today as a necessary business adjunct to handle the many problems and propositions coming up for attention. It is a well recognized fact that a city expecting to develop and become a power and be recognized as a leader in any part of a state or community must place itself before the people in a forceful and attractive manner to attract the attention of the world. And millions of dollars are spent every year by cities throughout the United States for this legitimate publicity to the perfect satisfaction of the people who support these organizations.

The work done by a Commercial Club brings returns to everyone in the city, not necessarily direct, but through the continued upbuilding of the business of the city and the country surrounding it; the securing of new industries, assisting farmers to improve their working conditions and in innumerable other ways. This work requires financing and every loyal citizen should be glad to do his duty and share his proportionate amount of the necessary expense. Some there are, in every city who through an unreasonable selfishness, can see no reason for their assisting in this work either financially or otherwise. Some will not join in the work unless their ways are followed or they are given a free hand in dictating the methods to be pursued. Others are only desirous of slipping through without cost, "riding the blind," or "on the rods" as it were, sharing in the benefits and returns resulting from the work of the organization without any cost being assessed to them.

Glasgow is most fortunate in having a large body of most public spirited men who desire that all should prosper together. These men are daily acquiring a competency and it is their desire to see the city in which they are prospering advancing at the head of the great procession of successful cities of Montana. To this end they are devoting valuable time to the work of the Commercial Club, time taken from their individual business. They are contributing loyally and liberally to the fund necessary to properly carry on the work of development for the future greatness of Glasgow. They are unselfish in their loyalty to the city, proud of its prosperity and gladly put their shoulder to the wheel and boost upon every occasion.

Unfortunately the city is also burdened with that other kind of citizen, those who desire to slip by without helping, and who criticize the actions and motives of those who are working hard for the public welfare and development of their home town. These burdensome kind do nothing to help financially, or otherwise, yet are most loud in their proclaiming what should be done. Some are abundantly able to liberally assist in financing the Commercial Club work who affiliate with the Club in the hope of personal returns, and they keep their financial assistance at the lowest possible point to maintain a standing in the organization.

Every citizen of Glasgow should joyously contribute the very most he is able to spend, each individual should stretch his resources to the limit so that the work of the Club can be more equally divided. The Commercial Club has already done great work for the city and it can do more. There are many possibilities for the future development here but it will require hard work and cash to bring about the desired results. The money put into Commercial Club work by the citizen is not in any way a charitable donation, unless one wishes to consider that he is practicing charity upon himself. The money devoted to this work should be charged to legitimate advertising for such is the purpose and use to which it is devoted. Every citizen of Glasgow should consider it a privilege and get behind this work to the fullest extent of his resources both in time and money. It will come back to him in many ways in the years to come. "By Their Works Ye Shall Know Them," is strictly true and the world at large will only know of Glasgow, as it does of other large cities of Montana, by the publicity it receives. Publicity costs money, so everyone pull together and make for a Greater Glasgow, the "GOLDEN CITY."

THE DESCRIPTION OF A MAN

Floyd E. Wilder, president of the New York Printers' League and manager of the mechanical department of "Collier's Weekly," thought so much of the following description of "A Man" that he had it printed for himself: "This article—A Man—so nearly meets the ideal that I wish to pass it on for the good it may do." The article reads:

A man keeps himself clean and neat out of regard for others, but on occasion is ready to get as dirty as work or play may require.

He eats heartily, but only such and so much food as will keep him in most effective working and playing condition.

He forgoes liquor and tobacco whenever they would mean either deterioration for himself or destruction of those weaker than he.

He takes all the amusement and fun he can get without annoyance or degradation of others or enervation of himself.

He works with an eye to his employer's interest as well as his own; but not when he can help it to the point of dullness or chronic fatigue.

He spends freely for what he enjoys, and saves for a rainy day; yet holds all his spending and saving subject to the claim of persons and causes more needy or worthy than he.

He stoutly and bravely defends with all there is in him whatever he stands for; yet would rather be called a coward than do a foolish or foolhardy thing to avoid it.

He looks out shrewdly for his customer, creditor, employer or employee.

He tells the truth in kindness to all who have a right to hear it.

He makes the future as real as the present, and treats present and future, both for self and for others, as one.

He is orderly for the most part, and disorderly on special occasions, as the pleasure and convenience of all concerned may require.

He talks frankly about unpleasant facts when necessary, but keeps silent about them when talk would serve no good social purpose.

He is polite with an inner politeness born of a desire to give pleasure rather than pain.

He has at heart the welfare of all with whom he associates, living at peace with them so far as he can, and fighting fairly when peace cannot be honorably maintained.

He is loyal to his group and his friends when he can be loyal to them without being false to himself.

He thinks little of his attainments, but much of his aims, deriving humility from the former and self-respect from the latter.

He treats in thought, word, and deed all women and girls as he would wish others to treat his own mother and sister.

He is as kind and helpful to those who wrong him as he can be without being misunderstood, and ready to forgive them the instant they repent.

He devotes himself to his friends and companions as so many extensions of himself and takes as much delight in their happiness and success as in his own.

He regards himself as a member and servant of the one social whole, and holds the social claim above individual inclination whenever the two conflict.

This paper regrets very much the fact that in places, hard feelings have arisen over some of the hotly contested base ball games, between teams of neighboring towns. Base ball is today, the cleanest sport in the world, and the only thing that will ever develop it into anything else will be the kicking, wailing and double-crossing methods used by some few people who endeavor to make the towns' base ball team a financial proposition from a betting standpoint. Any man, with red blood, is apt to back his home team for a few simoleons or so, just for the sport of the thing, but the man who bets a lot more than he can afford to and then, after trying to "fix" the game and fails and drops his "wad" is the one who sends up the long howl after the game is over, shouts "rotten" and accuses the ball players of double-crossing. We believe that nine hundred and ninety nine ball players out of every one thousand will use every effort, every minute of every game, to win for his team and when a team is unfortunate enough to lose out, after a hard fought contest, the man that kicks is nothing short of a fester to the great American game and deserves nothing short of a blunt invitation to go plumb to the place where the games that he can "work" thrive in abundance.

"Oh mother, how I wish I was an angel!"

"Darling, what makes you say that?" "Oh, because then, mother, I could drop bombs on the Germans." —Liverpool Mercury.

There are said to be 365 ways of telling a woman in the Irish language how nice she is, which explains why most Irishmen are either policemen or politicians.

A business meeting of the Congregational Ladies' Aid will be held at the home of Mrs. E. A. Hubbell on Wednesday, June 23rd. A good attendance is requested.

Testerman-Manship

Grover Testerman of Coburg, Mont. and Miss Mattie Manship of Indianapolis, Ind., were married at the Methodist Parsonage by the Rev. B. F. Meredith, Wednesday afternoon.

Notice to Degree of Honor Members. The social meeting that was to be held with Mrs. Shannon has been postponed for this month. By order of

Chief of Honor, Mrs. E. A. Hubbell.

The ladies aid of the Methodist church met at the church last Wednesday where they were entertained by Mrs. Walker and Miss Clark. It was a very pleasant meeting, many members being present. The Aid has arranged to have a food sale on Saturday at the St. Clair Jewelry store. All members of the aid are requested to be present at the next meeting as there will be a short program and there is much work to be done.

Peachy-Gray

Mr. Frederick A. Peachy, of Berkenhead, England, and Miss Grace M. Gray, of Glasgow, Scotland, were united in marriage by Rev. A. U. Baer on Friday evening in the Congregational church.

The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and plants. Miss Pearl Steneke acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Donald Pippenger was best man. Miss Martha Pippenger carried the ring on a small cushion and little Irma Shoemaker assumed the role of flower girl.

The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Mendelsohn's wedding march where about fifty of their friends were assembled.

After the ceremony the happy couple went to their new home on Fourth Avenue North where a bountiful wedding supper was served.

Tuesday Bridge Club

Mrs. J. L. Slattery was hostess to the Tuesday Bridge Club Tuesday afternoon at her residence on the south side. All members responded to roll call, after which the afternoon was spent at bridge, Mrs. Chas. Stafford receiving the first prize and Mrs. E. N. Hill the second prize.

This being the last meeting of the series, the special prize donated by Mrs. T. C. Penny of Butte to be given to the ladies holding the first and second highest scores for the last four meetings was awarded. Mrs. G. T. Plant, had high score and received a dainty hand embroidered table cover and Mrs. C. C. Storing, with second high score was awarded a cook book. The pleasure of the afternoon was completed with the service of a dainty two course luncheon, presided over by Miss Belva Humphrey.

Jones-Jones

The marriage of Mr. Lyman E. Jones and Myrtle F. Jones both of this city was solemnized at 9:00 a. m. Monday, June 14th at the home of the bride, 840 Second Avenue South. The double ring ceremony was used. The bride's mother, Mrs. Lillian G. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. St. Clair witnessed the ceremony.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bridal couple hurried to the railway station, hoping to escape the showers of congratulations and rice that their many friends had in readiness for them. The path seemed clear for them to board the train unnoticed but their presence on the depot platform was finally discovered, and amid showers of rice they were started on their honeymoon.

They will spend a few weeks at Boulder Hot Springs and also visit in Great Falls and Butte before returning to Glasgow where they will make their home.

The young couple have the best wishes of their host of friends in the city for health, happiness and prosperity in their journey through life.

Mrs. McFarland Entertains Art Club Wednesday afternoon the Sunflower Art Club was entertained in the beautiful home of Mrs. B. A. McFarland, corner Fifth Avenue South and Fourth Street. The roll call was responded to by the naming of well known artists of the world, and the roll call showed fifteen members and four visitors present, the visitors being Mrs. Jones, Mrs. K. H. Keith, Mrs. F. K. Amundson and Mrs. Gath.

The program of the afternoon consisted of two splendid papers by Mrs. Dan McKay and Mrs. H. A. Yotter. The subject of the former being "The Six Greatest Paintings of the World," the latter was "Magazine Covers and their Artists." These papers were followed by an impromptu musical program in which Mrs. W. Walter Hurd, Mrs. W. E. Rhodes, Miss Madeline Parker and Mrs. K. H. Keith participated. A very delicious three-course luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Amundson, Mrs. Gath and Miss Parker.

The next meeting of the Club will be held at the home of Mrs. W. A. Baynham, corner Fourth Avenue South and Fourth Street.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Coleman Surprised

One of the most enjoyable gatherings in the north country this spring, was a surprise party on Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Coleman, by their neighboring friends on Saturday evening, June 12, at their ranch fourteen miles north of Glasgow. Sixty two people attended. Dancing commenced at 9 o'clock and continued until 5:30 the next morning and those not wishing to dance, enjoyed playing cards.

A very elaborate lunch was served at midnight.

The music for the occasion was furnished by the North Bench orchestra, who volunteered their services. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Jones of Midway, Mr. and Mrs. Mott, Mr. and Mrs. Bremseth, Mrs.

Jensen and son, Mr. and Mrs. Burger, Mr. and Mrs. Combs, Mrs. Charles Burger, Tena Johnson, C. H. Wager, Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson, Mable Schambue, Miss Sadie Irvine, Mr. Clappe, Mr. G. Shippe, Mr. and Mrs. William Squire, Mr. John Shippe, Mr. R. Vanderhede, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mix, Mr. H. Smith, Mrs. Minnie Smith, L. Z. Smith, J. Nelson, J. Walker, F. M. Richardson, W. S. Shippe, Mr. and Mrs. John Tangum, Ollie Shippe, Miss Emma Misby, Mr. William Carman, Miss Anna Himley, Mrs. O. L. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Whipple, Mr. and Mrs. Melrose, Mrs. Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Erickson, Miss M. Shippe, Mr. and Mrs. Shippe, Mr. and Mrs. E. Riley, Miss Edna Clarkson, Miss Nellie Johnson, Mr. M. Diegan, Miss Ruth Clarkson, Miss Minnie Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. A. Shippe, Mr. Knight, Mr. H. Rush, Mr. Reddam.

The event will be long remembered by the north country people.

The Noble Peace prize this year will probably go to the Sultan of Sulu if they can find where he is.
