

You Don't Have to Wait for Your Pass-Book

The President
"You ain't sending out monthly statements in one of the best ways this bank ever made."

The Bookkeeper
"Great stuff! No more balancing pass books. I can keep every account up to date all the time."

The Depositor
"First! This statement handed me once a month with my cancelled checks tells me just how my account stands. This is Real Bank Service—has the pass book beat a mile."

You do not need to leave your pass-book (your only receipt for deposits) with this bank and wait a day or more at the last of every month in order to find out how your account stands.

Instead, a neatly-printed, machine-figured statement of your checks and deposits, and the balance of your account is ready for you each month.

This improved service is made possible by the Burroughs Book-keeping Machine which is used in our accounting department.

The machine keeps every depositor's account figured right up to date all the time. If you ever want a statement in a hurry, we can give it to you inside of five minutes. Moreover it is absolutely accurate, as the machine never makes a mistake in figuring.

We are sure that you will find this Monthly Statement System less burdensome, more accurate, and far more satisfactory than the method of balancing pass-books.

INCREASE FOR DEFENSE

The administration's defense plans have been embodied in a program presented by the secretaries of war and the navy for discussion by the congressional committees in advance of the regular session of congress. The campaign for the adoption of the program will be opened by President Wilson in a speech before the Manhattan Club in New York on November 4. The program for the first year of a five-year period of naval construction calls for two dreadnaughts, two battle cruisers, twenty-five coast submarines, five sea-going submarines, twelve destroyers, an increase of 8,000 in personnel and an augmentation by 250 of the naval academy student body. Secretary of War Garrison's program calls for the recruiting and training and equipment before 1922 of the following forces: Regular or standing army, 125,000; standing army reserve, 150,000; irregular or "continental" army of volunteers of six months' training, 400,000; continental army reserve, 400,000; state national guard organizations, 125,000. Total, 1,200,000 men. Commodore J. Stuart Blackton, author of the photoplay, "The Battle Cry of Peace," which is being shown at present in New York, Chicago and Boston, and later will tour the country in the "peace by preparedness" cause, says the estimate increases will cost about $150,000,000 more than was expended last year, and that with the cost of new tasks imposed on the state governments by reason of the European war, the amount of expenditures will be augmented to $1,240,000,000. Commodore Blackton will devote his time, money and talent to the preparedness movement until congress takes some definite action following the warning which is so vividly set forth in "The Battle Cry of Peace."

THE PAPER FROM HIS OLD HOME TOWN

(By an unknown author.)
When the evenin' shade is fallin' at the ending of the day
An' a feller rests from his labor smokin' at his pipe o' clay
There's nothin' does him so much good, be fortune up or down,
As the little country paper from his ol' home town.
It ain't a thing o' beauty an' its print ain't always clean,
But it straightens out his temper when a feller's feelin' mean.
It takes the wrinkles off his face an' brushes off the frown,
That little country paper from his ol' home town.
It tells of all the parties an' the balls of Pumpkin row,
Bout who spent Sunday with his girl an' how the crops'll grow;
How it keeps a feller posted 'bout who is up an' who is down,
That little country paper from his ol' home town.
Now, I like to read the dailies an' the story papers, too,
An' at times the yaller novels an' some other trash, don't you?
But when I want some readin' that will brush away a frown
I want the little paper from my ol' home town.

When Mary Pickford was notified that she was to play the part of Cho-Cho-San in "Madame Butterfly" she immediately secured the services of a Japanese maid in order that she might study her mannerisms, her walk and gestures. This little daughter of Nippon is now acting as advisor-in-chief to Miss Pickford in the selection of Oriental wardrobe.

The Famous Player company have added another great actor, John Mason, to their already long list of popular stars. Mr. Mason makes his initial appearance here in a very short time in that thrilling photo drama, adapted from the play of the same name, "Jim the Penman." The heart gripping story of a great forger who sins for love and whose after life is one of remorse and retribution. Mr. Mason is supported by an all-star cast, including that well-known youthful star, Harold Lockwood, already popular to Glasgow showgoers.

The Famous Players Film company's latest production starring Mary Pickford, to be seen here in the near future, is an inspiring five-part version of "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," the wonderful drama of a girl's hope and faith, recorded in theatrical annals as one of the greatest triumphs of the modern stage. Not since her memorable triumph in "Tess of the Storm Country" has "Little Mary" had the opportunity for the exhibition of her amazing talent, as in this connection. In the role of a waif of London, many claim that she surpasses her work in "Tess."

Colonel Alice V. Herron, of the Volunteers of America, has this to say regarding the great photoplay, "Hypocrites," that is at present taking the country by storm: "To witness 'Hypocrites' means inspiration and a keener appreciation of truth. 'Hypocrites' is preaching a great fundamental principle of Christianity to the masses and I truly and sincerely hope that every man, woman and child will witness this wonderful and inspiring photoplay." In spite of all those guardians (?) of the people's morals (the board of censorship of Ohio) says it isn't good for you, you mustn't look at it! The people of Montana have one thing to be thankful for at any rate, and that is they have no board of censorship.

Sense and Non-Sense About the Plays and Players

Owen Moore has left the Bosworth studio and gone with the Triangle Company.

Many picture show houses are installing a "check your baby at the door" system. It is meeting with the approval of the mothers.

The Lasky company have obtained the motion picture rights to that great play, "The Chorus Lady," from its author, James Forbes.

As Mary Pickford says in "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," "why do people look for trouble, when there is so much happiness going to waste?"

And still they come. The famous stage beauty, Miss Edna Goodrich, has signed a contract to appear in pictures for the Famous Player Company.

Charles Chaplin is making a new picture in which he discards the old shoes and baggy trousers. The only thing he retains is that inimitable moustache—oh, yes, and the Chaplin walk!

Elsie Janis says that to be a successful motion picture actress a girl requires the temper of an angel, the face of a Greek goddess, the figure of a Gaby Deslys and the skin of a rhinoceros.

A big reception is being planned for Anita King, "The Paramount Girl" on her return to the Los Angeles studio after her transcontinental motor trip. She is to receive a new car from the Lasky company to replace the one she used on her trip.

For the Lasky production of "Mr. Grex of Monte Carlo" the entire stage of the studio has been transformed into a gambling saloon. An exact replica of the famous casino at Monte Carlo is made. This set without doubt is the largest ever made in the production of any picture in America.

Did you know there are more than 18,000 picture houses in the United States. There is over $5,000,000,000 invested in the motion picture industry. It gives work to over 100,000 people. The attendance of the 18,000 houses is figured over 15,000,000 persons daily and that they pay something like $360,000,000 in admissions each year.
