We went out to see Nick Hahn again this week for the promised interview on the round house ball team, but whenever we tried to get any information concerning his prospective lineup Nick shut up like a clam. When asked if the report that he was going to manage the team from the bench this year was true, Hahn emphatically denied it and said that he expected to have a better playing record this year than ever. The round house team expects to make their first appearance about April 15, when they will play a practice game to give Manager Hahn a chance to weed out his material. On the way back we stopped in the yard office to get an interview from Manager Shoemaker of the newly organized yard team, but they must have seen us coming, or Hahn tipped them off that we were headed that way, for, upon arriving at the office, not a soul was in sight.
