An editor of poetic mind has gotten off the following on corn: "Never since the world was born was there a crop so fine as corn; its tassels are as fine as silk; its green stalks keeps the cows in milk, and when its other joys are ripe, the cob is made into a pipe. In thinking all these virtues o'er, we're glad Columbus sought this shore."

We are always in a position to make Farm Loans. See us. Johnson Farm Loan Co. 25t6

This has been a dull week for local news, and the latest Ford story would not look well in print. We could spiel a lot of hot air but it would be an infringement upon the rights of several other citizens, and we believe in the doctrine of peace. With election over, bets paid, and water the chief thing on the menu, we hope to settle down on our regular routine next week and give you all the news, scandal and other dope of this community.

The ladies of the Episcopal Guild will hold a Bazaar the afternoon and evening of December first. They will have a fine display of dolls and other Christmas goods to sell. A very tasty luncheon will be served. These Bazaars have always proven very attractive and the one to be held December first will be more so than ever. Many novel features will be introduced by the ladies of the Guild, besides the regular fish ponds, fortune tellers and magic room.

Wm. C. Conway, organizer of rural telephone companies was in the city Thursday and reports excellent progress among new companies which he is organizing. A meeting was held in Hinsdale Monday night to lay plans for a rural telephone out of Hinsdale to Thoeny. The merchants of Hinsdale have pledged $1,000 towards it and they hope to have the poles up before winter sets in. Another meeting will be held Friday night to further the plans.

Mac Hunter was the victim of an accident Monday night which almost cost him his life and burned his big Studebaker automobile. The accident occurred near Whately when Mr. Hunter misjudged a small culvert, breaking an axle and nearly overturning the car. Escaping gasoline became ignited and the car became a mass of flames. Mr. Hunter was picked up by another car and taken to the Deaconess Hospital where he received medical attendance and is again able to be about.

The Ladies' Home Journal, The Saturday Evening Post and The Country Gentleman wish to secure the spare time of a man or woman to act as local representative in Glasgow and vicinity, looking after the renewals of their many subscriptions in this section, and introducing these publications to new readers. Payment will be made in salary and commission. Previous experience is desirable but not essential. ANNOUNCEMENT

Having returned from active field service with the army, I have resumed my practice of general medicine and surgery, in my former offices in Glasgow, Montana.
The First National Bank Building, 28t4 E. N. Layton, M. D.

His Favorite Phrase.

Once when they were talking literature Mrs. Isobel Strong said to Robert Louis Stevenson, "At least you have no mannerisms," whereupon Stevenson took a copy of his own "Merry Men," which she was reading, out of her hands and read, "It was a wonderful clear night of stars." "Oh," he said, "how many, many times I have written a wonderful clear night of stars."

A Test Case.

"Father," inquired the small boy, "what's a test case?"
"A test case, my son," replied his parent, "is a case brought into court to decide whether there's enough in it to justify lawyers in working up more cases of the same kind."—Exchange.

These Things Endure.

Some of the things that are not easily worn out by much using: The ground we walk on (but we can exhaust it by bad farming), the love we live by (but we can tarnish it), the mirror in which is reflected the true appearance of things.—Collier's Weekly.

landed in Arizona.

After a few months of strenuous drill, however, the men soon wore off the rough spots and became a fine drilled, splendid appearing body of soldiers.

The Montana regiment was conceded to have one of the finest camps and to be one of the best regiments on the border, and G company took no small part in making this possible.

Persimmons as Food.

The only fruit, says a bulletin of the department of agriculture, which equals the persimmon in its value as a food is the date. Nevertheless many persons with fine persimmon trees in their possession are allowing the fruit to go to waste, either through ignorance of the many uses to which it may be put or through prejudice. There is a saying in the persimmon country that persimmons are "good for dogs, hogs and possums." This, however, is declared to be a gross injustice to a very valuable product.

One reason for the neglect of this fruit is the mistaken idea that persimmons are unfit to eat until they have been touched by frost. As a matter of fact, much of the best fruit is lost every year because it ripens and falls to the ground, where, not being touched by frost, it is left to rot. Such persimmons as are not edible before frost comes are a late variety of the fruit, and the reason that they pucker the mouth is because they have not yet ripened. In general, the best fruit is that which ripens just before the leaves fall.

Remembering Faces.

Hotel clerks have a way of recognizing guests as soon as they sign a register. The most successful hotel keepers have to have this power of remembering the faces of their guests and all about them or they would soon lose their custom by the mistakes they would make.

Bank cashiers carry in their memories the faces and signature of most of the customers of the bank. Detectives, too, get into the habit of remembering the faces of every one with whom they have to deal, whether criminals or not.

"I don't think I have ever forgotten a customer," a clerk in one of the big safe deposits recently said. "There are hundreds of safe deposit boxes rented in our vaults, and I can generally remember, without referring to our books, the name, number and password of each customer."—Exchange.

Charley Horse.

"Charley horse," dreaded by ball players, is an ailment consisting of displacement and stricture of the muscles of the leg, often the sartorial muscle. The trouble is commonly brought about, not by running, but by quick stopping at bases. The player who "stops on his feet" is almost certain to acquire the ailment in a short time. The overworked muscle, slipping out of place, exerts pressure on the surrounding muscles, producing lameness. Massage will bring the muscle back to place, but the trouble returns at the next serious strain.

When you see a player make a long slide which appears unnecessary, the reason is that he prefers to scrape off a little skin rather than take chances on "horsing" himself by stopping standing up.—Exchange.

Perhaps President Wilson will be able to prevent the introduction of politics into business when the tariff is taken out of politics.
