SAGES CAN EXPLAIN OREGON.

Professor Believes Voters Ought to Read Zola, Shaw and Wells.

University of Oregon, Eugene.—To throw the light of genius so far as possible upon the problems of Oregon is the purpose of a new course in "Socially Significant Literature of Today," just formulated and offered by the correspondence school of the University of Oregon.

Now that the whole body of Oregon citizens is called upon to legislate on all manner of questions, the university is trying to carry the results of the widest experience of other countries straight to the voters. The reading course includes twelve great interpreters of social problems: Henrik Ibsen, Count Tolstoy, Maxim Gorky, Andreiev, Zola, Maeterlinck, Bernard Shaw, Arnold Bennett, G. K. Chesterton, Galsworthy, William Morris and H. G. Wells. The course does not try to appraise these men as artists. Instead, Professor H. C. Howe has so prepared his full directions for study as to guide the reader straight to the value for Oregon citizenship in each book.

"Things appear in Europe before they do here," says Professor Howe. "Oregon can find all the economic and social problems they are going to face in the next ten years helpfully analyzed and often solved in the works of men like Ibsen and Zola, to whom they are old stories."

The university will furnish guidance and mail instruction, and Professor Howe will visit any citizenship study clubs formed two or three times during the year to give lectures and hold conferences on the work.

EXPLOSION INJURES THREE.

Delayed Blast at Buzzard Mine Occurred Sunday.

Medford, Sept. 30.—As the result of an explosion in the Buzzard mine Sunday morning, H. A. Gardner of this city lies near death, while Mark Applegate and W. McSlanahan, a blacksmith, were seriously injured. Several shots were placed in the mine at an early hour Sunday. All but one exploded, and, after waiting two hours, the men re-entered the mine and began picking out the charge. The unexploded charge then went off.

Dr. E. H. Porter was summoned from this city. He did not reach the scene until late in the afternoon, but states that he believes all will recover, although Gardner was very badly injured.

Madero Near Bankruptcy.

Los Angeles, Oct. 1.—Senator William Allen Smith of Michigan, chairman of the senate committee probing the Mexican situation, continues the taking of evidence here today.

Testimony adduced yesterday points to the near bankruptcy of the Madero administration. Ribley Lujan, Pascual Orozco's accredited agent, threw light upon the financial affairs of the administration.

"At the time Madero took charge of the government," he said, "there was $67,000,000 (Mexican money) in the treasury."
Part of this $10,000,000, the committee established, was contributed by two American corporations with an eye on concessions in Mexico.
Lujan established that at the present time there is less than $25,000,000 in the hands of the Madero government and at the present rate of expenditure this will be exhausted in nine months.

A Marvelous Escape.

"My little boy had a marvelous escape," writes P. F. Bastians of Prince Albert, Cape of Good Hope. "It occurred in the middle of the night. He got a very severe attack of croup. As luck would have it, I had a large bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. After following the directions for an hour and twenty minutes he was through all danger." BIRDS OF HELP TO FARMER.

As Consumers of Squirrels and Mice They Are of Value.

Probably no class of birds has been more often misjudged or misunderstood than the birds of prey. In fact, the time is not long past when the name hawk or owl was enough to convict any bird. In these days, however, we are beginning to realize that, with a few exceptions, they are among the most valuable, if not the most valuable birds that wage war against the foes of the agriculturist. While the smaller birds destroy the insect foes of the farmer, the hawks and owls help to hold in check the small animal life, which, when uncontrolled, works such havoc in the crops.

It has been estimated that every hawk and owl, in the course of a year, kills at least a thousand mice or their equivalent in insects. If each mouse or its equivalent in insects caused the farmer a loss of only two cents per annum, this would make each hawk and owl worth at least twenty dollars a year to the farmer.

For convenience he may divide the birds of prey into the general classes, those almost wholly harmful, and those almost wholly beneficial.

In the first class, among the hawks, are the Coopers, sharp-shinned and duck hawks. The Coopers and sharp-shinned are very similar in appearance, the sharp-shinned being simply a "smaller edition" of its larger cousin. These are the two species commonly known as "hen and chicken hawks," being especially destructive in the poultry yard.

Aside from the direct loss which they cause the farmer in this way, they also add to his loss by killing great numbers of the useful insect and seed eating birds. The decrease of certain game birds, in some localities, can also be laid at the door of "these desperadoes in feathers." The duck hawk, being found chiefly about large bodies of water, confines its depredations almost entirely to waterfowl, so it is of little interest to the farmer.

One practical farmer has suggested that shelters which will enable chickens to escape from hawks can be easily made by putting forked sticks in the ground and over all a layer of brush, a foot or 18 inches from the ground.

Among the most common of the beneficial hawks may be placed the marsh hawk, the western red-tailed hawk and the sparrow hawk. While these birds may occasionally invade the poultry yard or destroy birds, the harm done in this way is very little compared with the good which they do in the destruction of injurious rodents and insects.

WHO IS WILLIAM P. MEALE?

Said to Be Ashland Lawyer in Damage Suit.

Who is William P. Meale? The Redding Searchlight gives him as attorney in a recently filed damage case against a mining company. No such name appears in either of the two last city directories, and so far as can be learned no such party resides here. The following is the item referred to:

"S. C. Logsdon, who was a brakeman on an ore train for the Mammoth Copper Company at its plant a year ago, brought a suit Tuesday for $5,000 damages, which he claims as recompense for being permanently injured and crippled when a car on which he rode threw him off and onto a trestle.

"The complaint relates that the accident occurred September 15, 1911, and that it was due to carelessness and negligence on the part of the company in operating its line when not in a fit and safe condition.

"Logsdon's attorney is William P. Meale of Ashland, Ore. There are several mine damage suits now waiting trial."

WRITERS BOOST BULL MOOSE.

Popular Authors Will Give Their Services Free.

New York.—Announcement was made at the national progressive party headquarters that a score of well-known novelists, playwrights and magazine writers had been enlisted to contribute gratis stories and articles for the advancement of the progressive cause.

H. Connolly, C. L. McFarlane, Frederick Palmer, Bert Leston Taylor, Louis Egan Shipman, Dr. Woods Hutchinson, William Allen White, Judson C. Weliver, Samuel Merwin, F. P. Adams and Walter Weyl.

T. R. MAKES PILGRIMAGE.

Colonel Visits Mother's Birthplace at Roswell, Ga.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 29.—Colonel Roosevelt made a pilgrimage today to a quaint old house in Roswell, 20 miles out of Atlanta, in which his mother, Martha Bulloch, was born and spent the early years of her life.

He returned to Atlanta for a few hours' rest, then left for Chattanooga, where he is to speak.
Colonel Roosevelt said he enjoyed his experience of last night at the Auditorium, where part of the crowd made an unsuccessful attempt to break up the meeting. He said he had come to Atlanta determined to say what he wanted to say and had been successful.
