Mr. Eggman, a resident of Skamokawa, who has been in the city the past few days for medical treatment, was reported yesterday to have somewhat improved, but his condition is still considered serious. Members of his family has been called to his bedside.

Complaint was made yesterday before Judge Trenehard by Andrew Johnson of Lewis and Clark charging his brother, John Johnson, with being insane. Deputy Sheriff Young left out in the afternoon to bring the alleged deranged man into the city, to undergo an examination.

George O. Bailey, an old resident of Skamokawa, died yesterday at this home in that town. Mr. Bailey for some time had been a sufferer from bronchial trouble and this was the immediate cause of his death. Deceased was 65 years of age and was highly respected in the community in which he moved.

Otto Schroder, a broken down looking sailor, was up before Judge Nelson yesterday on a charge of drunkenness. Otto expressed a willingness to leave the city immediately, and perhaps he will, but as he was unable to pay a fine of ten dollars imposed on him, he will probably take a much needed rest for a period of five days at the city jail before he departs.

Among the enthusiastic hunters of the city is a popular man who we shall call John, as that happens to be his just name. He has been out hunting and magnanimously presented the only duck he got to a friend. Unfortunately, another friend had seen him catch a dying bird, hung it to a tree, riddle it and triumphantly put in his bag. John does not duck any more.

The West Coast Trade has the following on prunes. The prune-drying season has now fully opened in Clark county. Little more than half a crop will be realized. The crop is light, particularly in orchards located in the lower altitudes, but fairly good on higher levels. The crop of the county is estimated at about 150 carloads, against over 250 carloads last year. The fruit is generally much larger and of better quality than usual. The present price is 4 1/2 cents for 30-40's. The drying season will last about 30 days. A number of dryers were put in operation last week, but on account of late rains many were delayed in starting.

The board of equalization has at last found something to do. Assessor Carnahan and his associates have been watching and waiting all the week and at last the kick has come. J. F. Hamilton H. D. Gray, A. R. Cyrus of the Douglas Land & Trust company, have requested the board by a filed petition to increase the assessment on property, alleging that the assessments are not in proportion to assessed property belonging to said Douglas Land & Trust company. The property upon which an increase is asked constitute blocks 1 to 127, McClure, blocks 14 to 24, 54 to 59, 111 to 141 and 144 to 150, Shively's; blocks 1 to 23, Adairs. Besides this all of the agricultural timber and dairy lands and improvements thereon lying south of the south boundary lines of Tps 6, 7, 8, 9, and 10 in range 8 West. The petition will be acted upon today by the board. In the meantime it is expected that all interested parties will conclude their say upon the subject.

There is a case of small-pox in the city but as yet it is not an aggravated one. William Warnstaff, a resident of Youngs river, is at 188 Thirty eighth street and is afflicted with the dreaded sickness. The case will be kept under quarantine until all danger of contagion is over.

Rev. Washington Irving Fisher, who for the past year has resided in Warrenton has been transferred to a small circuit adjacent to Portland and has gone to perform the offices of his new post of duty. During Mr. Fisher's sojourn in this county he has creditably filled four pulpits, preaching at Warrenton, Clatsop, Knappa and Svenson, with Warrenton as his place of residence.

One of the heaviest timber deals that has taken place for a long time has lately been transacted between D. C. Pelton of Cathlamet and California parties. The properties were held by J. B. Cook in Siskiyou county and consisted of saw-mill, box factory, planing mill at Klamoth, Calif., and 22,000 acres of timber in counties both in Oregon and California. Mr. Pelton has secured a three-fourth interest in the properties. A half a million of dollars is expected to be required to cover the deal.

A GIRL OF GRIT

Tries to Save Companions, Then Struggles For Life For Three Hours.

Few people noticed a long, roughly-made box that was taken off the steamer Miller yesterday afternoon and put on a transfer wagon. It contained the body of the unfortunate girl, Stella Carpenter, who was drowned on Thursday and was known at the Waldorf Music Hall as Helen Elsworth.

When Mr. Pohl opened the box he found the body covered with sand, making the face scarcely recognizable. Details of the accident as taken from the survivors and rescuers show that one of the party, at least, was a girl of indomitable courage.

It appears that when the party left the shore on the other side, above the Columbia jetty, that there was a strong breeze blowing. They put out, never doubting that they could have any difficulty in clearing the end of the wharf, in spite of the swift current at that point.

When about 50 or 60 yards from the end of the jetty the wind suddenly died away. A grab was made for the oars, but as one in the boat remarked, "Twelve oarsmen could not have saved us." They struck the piles and the two men made an effort to secure the boat. Len Stinson, like a shot, climbed up the mast and reached the wharf deck with a line. It all took a minute, but before anything could be secured the boat overturned. Miss Bernard caught hold of the braces of the jetty and grabbed the dress of Mrs. Almer Bernard. The dress was not strong enough to hold her in the rush of water and she disappeared through the piles, clinging to the overturned boat. A second after her dress gave way, the girl Stella Carpenter came in reach and her cape was caught by the girl who had the hold to the timbers, but she slipped through it and sank immediately. That was the last seen of Stella Carpenter until her body was found by the life-saving crew yesterday morning.

In the meantime Leonard Stinson had run for aid being powerless without a boat to do anything. A skiff went after the overturned boat, pulled by "Jim" McGowan, who seems to have entered heartily into the rescue. They succeeded in picking up Mrs. Bernard and Henry Vahling 5 miles away from the scene of the disaster. During this time and unknown to the rescuers Miss Bernard was making a truly heroic struggle for her own life. Using one hand and her teeth she was tearing up her dress into strips. Tying the first piece around a pile she raised herself a little and then she tore a second strip, tying that a foot higher. Fearing death from cold the girl, with what seems to have been superhuman power, continued to get herself upwards. When she got near the top, worn out with her exertions, her strength failed her and she fell on to the braces. Although she had broken a rib and got otherwise injured in the fall, she held on until rescued. The strips of dress were splendid evidence of the girl's pluck and endurance.

Miss Bernard had her broken rib and bruises attended to by Dr. Fulton, and except for nervousness is doing well. Arrangements for the funeral of Miss Carpenter will be made this morning.
