The Effective Remedy

WASHINGTON, IOWA, April 4, 1898.

I was troubled for over a year with so scanty a flow that it was virtually suppression. A heavy cold superinduced this condition and nothing I could do seemed to help me. The only effective remedy I ever found was Wine of Gardui. Within two weeks I felt the good effects of the medicine and after I had used 12 bottles in all I was as healthy and regular as any woman could wish to be.

My sister used it while expecting to become a mother and found that it made childbirth comparatively easy and after the child was born she found that it helped her to regain her strength.

WINE OF GARDUI

Wine of Gardui cures nine out of every ten cases of the disorders of menstruation. These cures are permanent, whether the trouble is complicated or not.

Wine of Gardui cures the sickness of young girls, relieves the weakness of adults, banishes leucorrhoea, headaches, backaches and nervousness and eases the crisis attendant on the change of life.

Thousands of mothers besides Miss Root's sister have found grateful relief from the pains of childbirth and have had a quick and happy recovery from its use. You cannot afford to suffer when $1.00 bottles are sold by all druggists.

WORTH A THOUGHT.

This Statement Will Interest Scores of Astoria Readers.

The facts given below are worth a perusal by all who are anxious about their physical condition or are similarly situated to this resident of Portland. It is a local occurrence and can be thoroughly investigated:

B. Meredith, the well known brick mason, contractor and builder, of Portland, who lives at 561 31st street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills is one of the best remedies I ever used and I cheerfully recommend them to anyone suffering with kidney trouble. I was bothered for years with attacks of kidney complaint and no medicine gave me permanent relief until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills. I was so well pleased with them that when my wife had a severe attack a short time ago and could hardly get about to do her work I had her take Doan's Kidney Pills. In two or three days they strengthened her up in fine shape. We both endorse the claims made for Doan's Kidney Pills and have nothing out of the highest terms of praise for such a valuable remedy."

Plenty more proof like this from Astoria people. Call at the drug store of Charles Rogers and ask what his customers report.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

United States Land Office, Oregon City, Ore., Feb. 18, 1904.

Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the provisions of the act of Congress of June 3, 1878, entitled "An act for the sale of timber lands in the State of California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington Territory," as extended to all the Public Land States by act of August 4, 1892, Fred Hendrickson, of Astoria, County of Clatsop, State of Oregon, has this day filed in this office his sworn statement, No. 4366, for the purchase of the N. E. 1-4 of Section No. 20, in Township No. 5 N., Range No. 3 west, and will offer proof to show that the land sought is more valuable for its timber or stone than for agricultural purposes, and to establish his claim to said land before the County Clerk of Clatsop County, at Astoria, Oregon, on Tuesday, the 10th day of May, 1904.

He names as witnesses: Arthur M. Smith, of Astoria, Clatsop Co., Oregon; Charles C. Kaup, of Astoria, Clatsop Co., Oregon; J. R. Wherry, of Elsie, Clatsop Co., Oregon; Roy Wherry, of Collins, Washington.

Any and all persons claiming adversely the above-described lands are requested to file their claims in this office on or before said 10th day of May, 1904.

WOULD SAVE HER CHILE

Old Colored Woman Bursts Into Courtroom Determined to Prevent Marriage.

CEREMONY IS SUSPENDED

Trio Later Returns Before Judge and the Affair Ends in the Ideal Style of the Story Book.

Everett, March 3.—There was trouble in the office of Justice Clarke Tuesday morning, all because of an interrupted marriage ceremony. The couple to be wedded, George W. Simpson, an Everett mail carrier, and Minerva Nelson, also of Everett, both colored, were standing before the judge, while a number of curious onlookers were watching the ceremony. He was just ready to pronounce the final words making them man and wife when the door of the court room was suddenly burst open.

"Stop them thar golin's on," shouted an old and diminutive colored woman, as she entered with a speed that brought her before Judge Clarke before he had time to learn what the disturbance was. "What ar yu-uns doin' with my chile?" she demanded fiercely of the judge and spectators. She turned to Simpson, who in half a second more would have been a groom, but who now was bracing himself against a chair, and shouted in his ear: "Dat gal ain't old nuff to git married. She's nine an' you can't have her. Jus' come with me, honey. Dat ar feller ain' gwine near yo."

The old lady, it seems, had seen her daughter leave home in the morning with her best clothes on. She had then telephoned to the postoffice and found that Simpson had secured a half day off, and had finally rushed to the court house to arrive at the dramatic instant. After her hurried entrance she at once produced her marriage certificate to show that her daughter was not old enough to be married without parental consent. But the judge couldn't figure the papers that way, and so, while the old lady for a moment turned her attention to some of the spectators, he arranged to meet the couple again at 12 o'clock and make the knot a good one. The old lady left with her daughter and things began to look gloomy for Cupid and his crew. But it all ended in story book style. Within two hours the three were back again in the judge's office. The old lady was completely subdued. She consented to the ceremony, and when it was over gave the couple her blessing.

JUVENILE SEATTLE SPIRIT.

Ten Year Old Footpads Masked and Armed With Air Guns, Rob Boy.

Seattle, March 3.—There are a few boys in Seattle who have contracted the hold-up habit. Two of them, presumably about 10 years old, both masked, held up 6-year-old John A. Houck, Jr., and forced the little fellow at the point of an air-gun to deliver them 5 cents' worth of candy that the child had purchased at a near-by grocery store.

The victim of the youthful footpads is a son of John A. Houck, sr., manager for M. C. Harris & Co.

The little boy had been sent to a grocery store not far from the Houck home last evening at 7 o'clock. While at the store John, jr., bought 5 cents worth of candy. He was walking quietly along Broadway, between East Terrace and Pine streets, when the boy thugs stepped from a dark alley directly in front of the boy. One of them placed an airgun in the child's face and told him to drop the candy. Young Mr. Houck did as he was ordered. The boys picked up the candy and then ordered their victim to make quick steps to his home. There he told his story.

The boy was sent back to the store again and his father kept at a safe distance away in hopes that the young criminals would attempt to repeat their daring, but they did not show up again.

LOOKING FOR RICH ESTATE SOMEWHERE IN OREGON

Umatilla Man Making Inquiries at Portland Regarding Fabulous Fortune Left By Relatives.

After the lapse of 58 years Prosper Picard has come to Portland to begin an active legal campaign in the interest of himself and his five brothers and four sisters for the recovery of an estate the value of which, it is believed, will approximate $1,000,000, says the Journal. Accompanied by Attorney Isaac Swett, who has been retained as counsel, Picard went to the county courthouse yesterday and made a brief investigation looking to the establishment of the claims of himself and his relatives as the heirs of the estate. In a few days the work of going through the oldest records in the office of the county clerk will begin. The lawyer is confronted with a herculean task before the preliminary steps in the matter can be taken.

Just what the estate consists of and in what condition it is now, after the flight of so many years, are knotty propositions. In fact, Picard himself is unable to give anything resembling definite information, though he thinks he will be familiar with the facts in a week or two.

"My five brothers, my four sisters and myself were all born in Marion county, this state," said Picard. "Our parents have been dead for years, and for a long time we have all been living near Pendleton. My father and mother came from Canada, though I do not know the exact location. I believe it was some place in the eastern provinces. We are of French stock, as the name shows.

"Many years ago a grandfather came out to this country and located. He afterward died and the news was received by his relatives, though none knew he was possessed of an estate. I have heard his name spoken of often. About a week ago I learned that he died while in possession of property worth more than $1,500,000. Whether this property is located in Portland or not I have not yet discovered, but this much has been learned: Portland is the place where he died, and he was buried at the old Catholic mission. Fifty-eight years is a long time, and a great deal has to be learned before we know just where we stand. There is no question that my grandfather died in Portland and that he left a big estate. What it consists of and where it is located remain to be learned.

"As soon as we become possessed of the proper information we shall go into court and endeavor to get affairs satisfactorily settled and the heirs placed in possession of their rights."

GEORGE GOULD AND PARTY RETURN FROM THE SOUTH

San Francisco, March 3.—George J. Gould, president of the great Gould system of railroads, accompanied by his family and several railway officials and friends, have just arrived here from the south. The party has been making a tour of the southern and southwestern states, stopping over at San Diego and Santa Barbara on their way to this city. In an interview he denied the frequent reports that he was behind the western railroad project. The Southern Pacific connections with the Gould and other roads to the west, he said, were eminently satisfactory and he could see no reason why he should contemplate an invasion of the coast territory so long as these pleasant relations continued. The same statement, he added, would apply to the Santa Fe connections.

STARS MARK DIVIDING LINE.

Camp in Disputed Territory Located By Officers Novel Method.

Seattle, March 3.—A special to the Post-Intelligencer from Skagway says: Captain W. P. Richardson, constructing officer in charge of the Haines military post, returned from a trip to Pleasant camp, on the Dalton trail, on February 17. Captain Richardson had been ordered by the war department to locate the latitude and longitude of Pleasant camp astronomically. He made the trip with a party of engineers and Indians and found no difficulty in the undertaking, as the weather was pleasant and the trail good. The boundary line was located in a rather novel manner, to which it was necessary to resort under the circumstances.

The London award designated the boundary in angles running to and from various peaks and Pleasant camp is conceived to be on the boundary line. As there is no salient topographical feature to mark the position of Pleasant camp, and as the buildings and other evidences of habitation and settlement might burn or become destroyed before the boundary is permanently marked by the government survey, the necessity of thus early establishing the position of Pleasant camp was recognized by the department. The astronomical data taken will serve to prevent any dispute in the event physical land marks are destroyed.

Pleasant camp was the police station during the modus vivendi era when the larger portion of the Porcupine district was occupied by the Canadians. Previously the country was under the jurisdiction of the United States. The seat of government when the Canadians took possession of the country was established at Wells, on the Chilkat river. The offices of the dominion customs officials, the provincial magistrate and the recording office of the Chilkat mining division of the Allin district of British Columbia were maintained there.

After the London award Captain Rant, the magistrate and recorder, and Dr. Fraser, of the mounted police, and their assistants left the country and now all the officers on the trail are Constable McKinnon, a provincial constable, who has charge of the local mining records, and Constable McDonald, of the Northwest mounted police, who has been detailed in the interest of the dominion customs. Both are at Pleasant camp. Wells is entirely abandoned.

MINNESOTA CHALLENGES.

Columbia Basket Ball Team Must Fight to Retain Laurels.

New York, March 3.—A challenge has been received by the Columbia university basket ball team from the five of the university of Minnesota, for a series of games for the national intercollegiate championship. Columbia, by defeating the university of Pennsylvania, Tuesday night, practically holds the eastern championship, but has two more games—with Princeton and Cornell. Minnesota won the championship of the western conference intercollegiate association and now proposes that the series of games shall be played in Minneapolis to settle the national collegiate supremacy. It is quite likely the challenge will be accepted.

Self Defense His Plea.

Charisbad, N. M., March 3.—One of the most noted criminal cases ever tried in New Mexico came to a close when the jury in the case of Claybourne W. Merchant, jr., charged with the murder of George H. Hutchins, rendered a verdict of not guilty. The two men fought a duel in the hotel conducted by Hutchins, the result of bitterness engendered, it is said, by an assault upon Hutchins made by Merchant. The latter claimed self-defense in the trial. Hutchins was a well known newspaper man and had worked on a number of large papers.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
