NUMBER 34.

PRINCETON BEATEN BY YALE TEAM

Blues Win Annual Football Game From Orange and Black on Field That Made Fast Work Impossible.

Score Two Goals in Opening Half, But Are Kept on Defensive in Second Half.

GREAT CROWD SAW THE GAME

California Is Defeated by Stanford by Score of 18-0, Cardinals Having Things Their Own Way Toward Close.

Princeton, Nov. 12.—Everything is blue in old Nassau tonight, for Yale today administered the second defeat of the season to the orange and black, 12-0.

Today's game does not deserve a niche in the hall of football fame, but one or two individuals stood out prominently among their fellows. Princeton will forever blame the elements for today's defeat. The intermittent downpours of Friday made the grid-iron soft and slimy, and the orange and black were the worst sufferers. Their backs, reputed to be the fastest in the country, could gain no headway on the slippery field, and their forwards, much lighter than those of Yale, were unable to brace themselves for the fierce attacks of the New Haven boys.

While Yale outplayed Princeton in the opening half, the latter clearly had its opponents on the defensive in the closing half. During the last 35 minutes of play, the ball was almost continuously in Yale's territory, except after the kicks. There was one noticeable weak point in Yale's play, and this was the poor tackling in the open. Yale was also weak in the kicking game.

Yale's goal was never really in danger. If Yale's men were in poor physical condition, it did not develop during the game. Only one change was made in the blue's lineup, while Princeton sent in four new men. It is estimated that 30,000 people saw the game.

CALIFORNIA IS DEFEATED.

Holds Stanford for One Half and Then Allows Three Scores.

Berkeley, Nov. 12.—As was predicted by football experts, the California eleven went down to defeat before Stanford this afternoon. The score stood 0-0 at the end of the first half, but in the second portion of the game the Cardinals went through Berkeley's line almost at will, scoring 18 points to California's 0.

In the first half Stanford advanced the ball several times within dangerous distances of Berkeley's goal, but Heilmuller was always able to get his team out of tight places by magnificent punting. Berkeley was exceedingly weak at defense. In the latter part of the game California was unable to stop the fierce smashes of the Cardinals, who mowed down the enemy's line.

HOLY CROSS WAS EASY.

Manages, However, to Score in Battle With Harvard.

Cambridge, Nov. 12.—Harvard had little difficulty in defeating Holy Cross this afternoon, 28-5. Harvard was weak at defense at times, but had the ball most of the game. In kicking Harvard showed great improvement over previous games, but made several bad fumbles.

FISH TRAP LOCATIONS JUMPED.

Property of Pacific American Fisheries Company Invaded.

Bellingham, Nov. 12.—News was brought to this city today that effort is being made to jump some of the best fish trap locations in Puget sound owned by the Pacific American Fisheries Company. W. A. Peters, who bid in the concern at receiver's sale this morning, notified Receiver Kerr that he would not accept the property until the menace was removed. Kerr left this afternoon.

One alleged jumper is a man, but it is supposed they hoped to secure some kind of title in order to embarrass the sale to the purchasers who bid in the property today.

It is claimed that the collection sent to San Francisco is the most valuable ever got together, there being specimens of every known color and shade and all of them of bright luster. The stones, cut, retail for from $25 to $50 per carat and New York dealers are taking all they can get, as there is a fad for the jewel in fashionable New York circles.

BRAVE JAPANESE GENERAL MEETS SOLDIER'S DEATH IN FIGHTING NEAR LIAO YANG

Kuroki Suffers Wounds on Battlefield That Result in His Death, and Body Is Shipped to Japan.

Shell Splinter Strikes Him, Tearing Away Portion of Breast and Abdomen, and He Succumbs October 24—Third Prince to Succeed Him, but Nodzu Will Have Actual Command of Army Before Mukden.

Moscow, Nov. 12.—General Kuroki, the famous commander of the Japanese army in front of Mukden, is dead. Kuroki's death followed wounds received during the recent fighting. Prince Sissanii will succeed him, although Nodzu will have actual command of the army.

The news of the death of the famous commander comes in a telegram received today from Memirovitch Danchenko, the well known Russian war correspondent of the Associated Press, who wires from Mukden that the reports of Kuroki's death have been confirmed. Some time ago it was rumored that Kuroki had been killed, but little credence was placed in the story. Now, however, comes confirmation of the report.

According to Danchenko's version, Kuroki was struck by a splinter from a shell, which tore out a portion of the breast and abdomen, inflicting fatal wounds. The general is said to have succumbed at Liao Yang, October 4, and it is stated in the dispatch from Danchenko that the body has been shipped to Japan.

"The rumor is persistently current," Danchenko telegraphs, "that a kinsman of the mikado, Sissanii, literally 'the third prince,' has been appointed to succeed Kuroki, but actual command of the army has been entrusted to General Nodzu, who is reviewing the operations.

"Alarming news has been received from Port Arthur, but the absence of reports during the last few days makes it evident that the movement of one or the other of the Russian armies will be dependent upon the course of events there."

WAR OF WORDS BEING FOUGHT BY JAPANESE AND RUSSIANS

Mukden, Nov. 12.—Quiet continues everywhere along the front, and the weather has become almost like that of summer. One large village to the south is occupied half by Russians and half by Japanese. Both sides sit in huts and shout at each other.

"Get out of here; this is our village!" yell the Japanese.

"Get out yourselves!" answer the Russians.

Then follow volleys of abuse.

November 11 passed quietly on the western flank of the Russian army, there not being even artillery firing.

Reports that the Japanese are transferring large forces to the right flank continue to be repeated. If this proves true, the tactics used at Liao Yang

REPORT OF WRECK THOUGHT TO BE WITHOUT FOUNDATION

Disabled Schooner Said to Have Been Seen Off the Coast, but Tugs Search in Vain.

A rumor was current yesterday that a derelict three-masted schooner had been sighted off the Oregon coast. The report came from Seaside, where persons were said to have seen a disabled vessel about a mile off shore. According to the story, the vessel seemed to be in distress, and a boat containing several men was alleged to have put off from her. They were said to have been unable to effect a landing, on account of the heavy surf. The report was at once communicated to the masters of the revenue cutter Perry and the lighthouse tender Heather, who went outside yesterday to search for the derelict. No trace of any disabled vessel could be found. The report had it that the derelict was seen near Tillamook rock about 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. As the lighthouse tender Heather was in that vicinity at the hour named, the story has been set down as groundless. The report emanated from the source which recently reported a derelict which proved to be a floating tree, and it is the belief of local shipping men that the latest wreck reported was imaginary. Captain Bailey, of the Tatoosh, was at the mouth of the river yesterday, but he could find nothing in the way of derelicts.

PROGRESS OF THE EXPOSITION.

Lewis and Clark Fair Rapidly Nearing Completion.

Portland, Nov. 12.—Although nearly seven months still remain before the opening day, June 1, the construction work on the grounds and buildings of the Lewis and Clark exposition is rapidly nearing completion. Several of the main exhibit palaces are already finished and the completed state of the landscape gardening is exemplified in the beautiful lawns and beds of blooming flowers which now grace the site.

Three of the main exhibit palaces—the agricultural building, the foreign exhibits building and the liberal arts building—are under roof and ready to receive exhibits, shipments of which will be commenced in the east December 1. The agricultural palace, the next to the largest building on the grounds, which, it was stated six months ago, would be ready for exhibits November 1, was ready on the specified date. The forestry building, probably the most interesting on the grounds, is well advanced, the massive timbers which compose the walls and pillars being already in place. The mines and metallurgy, festival hall, the machinery, electricity and transportation palace, and the Oregon building are rising from their foundations. The shelter pavilion, located just outside the colonnade entrance, is receiving the finishing touches and some beautiful modeling work in decorative designs is to be noted both on this building and the colonnade entrance.

The colonnade entrance, located at Twenty-sixth and Uphur streets, about 18 minutes' ride from the business section of Portland, admits one to the grounds. From the entrance a glimpse is had of the grand court, named Columbia court, with Guild's lake, the government peninsula and the river in the vista. Flanking the entrance are the administration building, and the police, fire and emergency stations. Passing straight through Columbia court, which consists of two broad avenues with spacious, sunken gardens between, the central figure of which will be the statue of the heroine, Sacajawea, one reaches the parapet at the head of Lakeview terraces. From this commanding position a series of broad steps, with massive balustrades, lead down to the shore of Guild's lake. At the foot of this grand stairway is the band stand, and on the shore of the lake the esplanade starts. The esplanade, already well under way, will lead into the lake, then westward, crossing the "trail" and bridge of nations, and ending in St. Helen's road.

The Trail, which is the name given to the concessions street, will be located on the near part of the bridge of nations. Here, for a distance of 800 feet, the bridge has been built 150 feet wide, and the shows will be located on both sides of a 70-foot avenue. The bridge, the foundation work of which is already completed, will lead to the peninsula, on which will be situated the government building. When completed, the bridge of nations, classic in outline and built in imitation of solid masonry, will span a thousand feet of waterway, the largest ever included and utilized in an exposition site.

The exposition site, the most beautiful ever utilized for such a purpose, covers approximately 180 acres of land and 220 acres of water. In the site of the park 38 species of native trees and shrubs dot the well-kept lawns. The sunken gardens, where the most beautiful flowers will be planted, with a cascade effect of water running from a fountain in the center, will be one of the most beautiful features. In the western part of the grounds will be located the experimental gardens, where many varieties of plants, both useful as market products and beautiful in horticultural effect, will be grown. Every effort is being made by the management to add to the natural beauty of Centennial park by artificial culture, and already the grounds are taking on an appearance which assures the highest excellence on opening day.

NINE KILLED, DOZEN HURT IN SMASHUP

Union Pacific Passenger and Extra Freight Meet on Same Track and Many Lives Are Sacrificed.

Both Engines Are Demolished, but Pullmans Remain Intact, Passengers Escaping.

ERROR IN ORDER THE CAUSE

Freight Train Was Given Thirty Minutes to Make a Station, but the Message Read "Fifty" Minutes.

Salt Lake, Nov. 12.—Nine persons were killed and 10 or 15 injured in a head-on collision early this morning between the Union Pacific west-bound passenger and an east-bound extra freight a mile and a half west of Assas, Wyo. The injured have been taken to a hospital at Rock Springs, and the coroner is holding an inquest over the dead at the scene of the wreck.

Both engines were demolished, the mail and baggage cars telescoped and the day coach badly damaged, going into the ditch. The Pullmans did not leave the track and the Pullman passengers escaped injury. The track was blocked for several hours.

The track between Granger and Green River, Wyoming, is part of the Union Pacific, but is operated by the Oregon Short Line. The wreck was the result of a "bulled" train order by the night operator at Granger. The freight train was given 30 minutes to make Azusa and meet the west-bound passenger, but the order delivered the crew read "50 minutes," and a mile and a half out of Azusa the trains came together at great speed.

Newport, Ore., Nov. 12.—Una Bennett, the 3-year-old daughter of E. Bennett, who lives near Yohat, was accidentally shot by her little 6-year-old brother Leroy and probably fatally wounded today. The bullet lodged in child's left breast. The weapon was a small caliber rifle.
