Lost on a Foul. "Have you a taste for music?" asked Miss Chilbeon of Boston. "I don't know," replied the millionaire mine owner's daughter from Lead pipe Gulch. "I never tasted any, but I like to hear it played." That ended it, for Miss Chilbeon was down and out for twenty minutes, though she afterward claimed that she lost on a foul.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune

MALARIA IN THE SYSTEM

Holly Springs, Miss., March 24, 1903. While building railroads in Tennessee some twelve years ago a number of hands contracted fever and various forms of blood and skin diseases. I carried S. S. S. in my commissary and gave it to my hands with most gratifying results. I can recommend S. S. S. as the finest preparation for Malaria, chills and fever, as well as all blood and skin diseases. W. I. MCGOWAN.

I suffered greatly from Boils, which would break out on different parts of my body. I saw S. S. S. advertised and after using about three bottles I was cured, and for the last three years have had no trouble whatever. A. W. ZEKER, 217 Read St., Evansville, Ind.

I began using your S. S. S. probably ten years ago for Malaria and blood troubles, and it proved so good that I have continued ever since using it as a family remedy. It is a pleasure for me to recommend S. S. S. for the benefit of others who are needing a first rate blood purifier, tonic and cure for Malaria. Arkansas City, Ark. C. C. HENNINGWAY.

Boils, abscesses, sores, dark or yellow spots and debility are some of the symptoms of this miserable disease. S. S. S. counteracts and removes from the blood all impurities and poisons and builds up the entire system. It is guaranteed a purely vegetable remedy. Write for medical advice or any special information about case. The Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.

SHOOTING BIG GAME.

Danger When the Bullet Fails to Stop the Brute's Advance. The disturbing element in hunting elephant or seladang or rhino has been always to me at least the feeling of uncertainty as to whether or not I could stop the animal if I wounded it and it charged me, as it did on an average of once in three times. Based on my experience, therefore, I should place the elephant first and the rhino third after the seladang, which is fully as formidable as the Cape buffalo and is miscalled the bison all over India. Each of these animals is dangerous on different and individual grounds. The elephant, though less likely to charge than any of the others, is terrifying because of his enormous strength, which stops at no obstacle, and the extreme difficulty of reaching a vital spot, especially if, with trunk tightly coiled, he is coming your way. I know of no sensation more awesome than standing ankle deep in clinging mud in dense cover, with the jungle crashing around you as though the entire forest was toppling elephant you have wounded comes smashing his way in your direction. The seladang is dangerous partly because of the thick jungle he seeks when wounded, but more especially because of his tremendous vitality and his usual though not invariable habit of awaiting the hunter on his tracks and charging suddenly, swiftly and viciously. It requires close and hard shooting to bring down one of these six foot specimens of oriental cattle. The danger of the tiger and of the lion is in their lightning activity and ferocious strength. But you have the shoulder in addition to the head shot if broadside, or, if coming on, the chest, all sure to stop if well placed. The reason the rhino is so formidable is because its vulnerable spots are so hard to reach. Its brain is as small in proportion as that of the elephant and may be reached through the eye if head-on, or about three inches below and just in front of or just behind the base of the ear, according to your position for a shot.—Outing.

REMEMBER IN A SICKROOM

That medicine bottles should be kept out of sight. That garrulous friends should be treated in the same wise fashion. That a rubber ice bag is as useful as a hot water bag. That everything about the room should be scrupulously clean. That it is sometimes safer to humor sick people than to argue with them. That rapid recovery from illness often depends more upon nourishing food than upon medicine. That sweet smelling flowers should never be permitted in a room where there is a very sick person. That both light and ventilation can be regulated by placing a tall screen between the bed and window.

An Old, Old Story. How ancient is the servant problem? A correspondent of the New York Post, referring to a letter from the Duchess of Ormonde, written in 1668, quotes from an epistle dated North Yarmouth, Me., March 26, 1785, as follows: "I have been without any but Betsy about a fortnight and am determined to continue so rather than endeavor to hire one of this country. The pride of independence is so prevalent here that the people had rather slave at home than live in my kitchen in plenty. Were I to take them to my table they would have no objection to oblige me. The want of good domestics is general; therefore I have less reason to complain, but I wish a method could be found to render us less dependent upon them."

Why He Waits. "I went to the trial of that brain testing machine," he said. "Yes?" she returned wearily. "I let them try it on me," he continued, feeling sure he would arouse her interest in due time. "Yes?" she responded with the same evident weariness. "It didn't work," he persisted. "Of course not," she said, with some emphasis. It took him some time to figure it all out, but when he did he decided to postpone his proposal for at least another week.—New York Press.

An Epicure in Condemnment. It was in the dining room of a country hotel, the Chicago Record-Herald says, and the brisk waitress held a glass pitcher above some steaming buckwheat cakes she had placed before the guest from town. "Sir?" she asked. "If you please." "Will you have it round and round or in a puddle?" "Beg pardon?" "Round and round or in a puddle?" "I—I—in a puddle, I think." The golden stream began its sticky descent on the center of the cakes, and as she poured the waitress included the guest and her work in one friendly contemplative glance. "Some prefers it round and round, but I like it best in a puddle myself," she said graciously, as she shut off the stream of sirup with a dexterous turn of her wrist.

Who Was Concocted? "If there's anything I hate it's a concocted person, and that Blowley is certainly the limit." "What makes you think him concocted?" "He told some one he knew as much as I know."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

IN A PADDLE WHEEL.

A Terrifying Adventure With a Moment of Deadly Peril. Mr. Staunhope Hall, author of "Twenty Years at Sea," was not much more than a boy when he had the following curious and terrifying adventure, the recollection of which haunted him all his life! The ship on which he was making his first voyage was loading cotton in Mobile bay, and the captain had sent him in a small boat to get some newspapers from a big side wheel steamer which lay near by. In trying to bring the boat up to the steamer, he says, I upset myself and went down. I could not swim, and I struggled in hopeless terror. When I came to the surface I found myself in the brackets of the great wheel. They were green with river moss and slippery as ice, but I managed to get astride of one and regain my breath. As I held on, panting from my plunge, a thrill of horror ran through me. The wheel had slowly begun to revolve. In agony I shouted, but in that great wheel box my voice was as nothing. Slowly the wheel turned, carrying me upward. When I reached the top I should be ground to pieces, or, if by chance I escaped that fate, I should be drowned when I was again drawn under the wheel into the fearful suction. Again and again I shouted. Finally, as I was nearing the top, a little trapdoor opened and some one looked into the box. I opened my mouth to call once more, but my throat was paralyzed. For a moment I could not utter a note. The trapdoor was just closing when, with one mighty effort, my voice came back and I screamed. The man opened the trap again, saw me, sprang upon the wheel and snatched me into safety. I was a heavy weight in his arms as he carried me to the deck, for I fainted dead away.

The Tibetan Bible.

The Tibetan Bible consists of 108 volumes of 1,000 pages each, containing 1,083 separate books. Each of the volumes weighs ten pounds. In addition to this there are 225 volumes of commentaries, which are necessary for the understanding of the Scriptures. The type from which the Bible (or Kab-gyur) is printed requires rows of houses like a city for storage.

Couldn't Be Possible. "Your symptoms," pronounced the physician, "indicate hydrocephalus." "What's that?" "Water on the brain." "It can't be that, doctor," said Mr. Jagway, greatly relieved. "I haven't drunk a drop of it for six months."—Exchange.

Stubborn Coughs and Colds CURED BY FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

Obstinate, racking Coughs that make your head ache, your throat and lungs sore and inflamed, that rob you of sleep until your system becomes so run down that you are in grave danger of Pneumonia or Consumption, are quickly cured by FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR soothes and heals the inflamed air passages, allays the feverish conditions, stops the cough and prevents serious results from a cold.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR is the only prominent cough medicine on the market that does not contain opiates or harmful drugs of any kind and on this account is safest for children. It is unexcelled for Croup and Whooping Cough and will quickly cure the racking cough which follows measles and leaves so many children with weak lungs unless properly treated. Remember the name—FOLEY'S Honey and Tar—and refuse substitutes that cost you the same as the genuine. Do not take chances with some unknown preparation.

Consumption Threatened. C. Unger, 211 Maple St., Champlagn, Ill., writes: "I was troubled with a hacking cough for a year and I thought I had consumption. I tried a great many remedies and I was under the care of physicians for several months. I used one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar; it cured me, and I have not been troubled since."

Three sizes—25c, 50c, $1.00. The 50 cent size contains two and one-half times as much as the small size and the $1.00 bottle almost six times as much. SOLD AND RECOMMENDED BY CHAS. ROGERS, Druggist
