

OUR FASHION LETTER

Unique Features of the Winter Blouses and Bodices.

EMPIRE COATS ARE POPULAR

Long Coats Are the Season's Favorites—Sleeves Finished With Turned Back Cuffs—Attractive Styles For the School Children.

Long waisted, tight fitting bodices are very smart. They open back and front in a V effect.

The newest designs in blouses and afternoon bodices are tucked or gathered on to the foundation. There are no side pieces in the material part. Most of them are made to fasten in front.

Empire coats, both long and short, are to be very much worn this winter. They have deep yokes, and the skirts are generally plaited. A fitted piece of the cloth, usually commencing in the middle of the back, extends in front well up under the bust and finishes with handsome buttons. These girdles are often of velvet or oriental embroidery.

Long coats that reach to the hem of the gown seem to be the season's favorites, but the Eton, bolero and hip length jackets all have their followers. Square effects on the shoulders are the fashionable aim, and collars are only moderately large and in a number of instances extremely small roll affairs.

There is a tendency toward skirts fitting more snugly around the hips and getting fuller at the bottom. The circular skirt achieves this result in the most satisfactory manner.

Walking skirts are made three inches from the ground, but dressier jupes are sweep or ground length.

Every new jacket has a marked line in front that comes from stitched down plaits or stitching contrived to run down, dart fashion, from the middle of the shoulders to the hem of the coat.

All coat sleeves that can stand them have elbow sleeves finished with a turned back cuff. From this cuff comes a close fitting undersleeve.

The walking gown pictured is of tan cloth. The long, close fitting jacket has a vest, revers and collar of bronze velvet. The cuffs and jacket are also of this material. The plain circular skirt is sweep length.

MODISH TRIFLES.

The long dust coats in the newest styles are semifitting, with strapped stitched seams. A coachman's collar, finished with rows of stitching, is about the neck.

Bandeaux are placed in all the new hats. Just how and where determine the success or failure of the shape. They range from six inches in height to a tiny line fitted all around the inner brim.

The modish chausseuse will wear a cap trimmed at the sides with two duck's wings. She will also slip a piece of muslin or tissue paper in the crown to raise it a little.

The invaluable mica shields to be slipped on the brims of motor caps have now decreased in price.

A white felt hat trimmed with a lot of Alice blue ostrich tips is among the attractive millinery showings.

Persian lamb is as modish this winter as it has been for several seasons. The stole and muff illustrated are of this felt, carried out in the latest fashion.

MILLINERY MATTERS.

Ostrich feathers placed under the brim and falling gracefully on the hair are a novelty in hat trimming.

An attractive new hat is somewhat of a French sailor in shape, the brim rolling slightly at the sides and indented immediately in front, where it be comes quite narrow. The low, round crown of cream colored felt is covered flatly with a white passementerie. Tied around the crown and ending in a smart bow is an inch wide piece of burnt orange velvet ribbon. Under the brim in the back are placed two white ostrich feathers.

Pale blue veils in a good quality of mousseline de sole are considered the best coverings for the face while motoring. They are certainly becoming. If nothing else, and those who wear them say the dust does not sift through even when going at a rate of forty miles an hour.

Empire effects in coats are one of the novelties of the season both in long and short lengths. Jackets have lost their graceful fullness and are fitted to the figure in almost close lines. The redingote that was in evidence late in the spring appears again this fall, together with the long coat reaching to the hem of the gown. Boleros and short jackets are worn. In fact, one can wear any style within certain bounds that is becoming.

The dainty hat seen in the cut is of white felt. An elaborate galloon in white and green trims the undulating brim. The crown is round and moderately high. Toward the back of the hat at the left side are placed green and white breasts and a white aigret.

HAT ACCESSORIES.

Ostrich plumes were never so fashionable as at the present time. For modish wear it is almost impossible to purchase a chapeau that does not display one or more of these. The favorite distribution is to bunch them in the back slightly to one side and have the tips nod over the crown toward the front. Most of the trimming of the new hats is lavished on the backs, and just a little cravat or ribbon of some kind is tied around the crown, ending in a stiff little bow in front.

Charming for women with pretty faces, but difficult for others to wear, are the hats worn at extreme angles. Only the softening influences of the feathers with which they are profusely trimmed prevents their being too pronounced in effect. While flowers are used as garnitures, they seem to be more by way of filling in awkward hollows or else as a bandeau trimming.

The smartest French mourning hats are of black crape trimmed with folds and bows of white crape. The girl's coat pictured is suitable for school wear. It is of a bright navy cloth. The fullness at the back is fitted into the figure by broad box plaits intersected by lines of black braid. Dome shaped buttons of unpolished gilt fasten the coat at one side.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

In Time of Peace.

In the first months of the Russian-Japanese war we had a striking example of the necessity for preparation and the early advantage of those who, so to speak, "have shingled their roofs in dry weather." The virtue of preparation has made history and given to us our greatest men. The individual as well as the nation should be prepared to successfully combat the first cold you take? A cold can be cured much more quickly when treated as soon as it has been contracted and before it has become settled in the system. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of colds and it should be kept at hand ready for instant use. For sale by Frank Hart and leading druggists.

Usually—"Papa, is a philanthropic woman a woman who contributes to all the charities?" "No, son; as a usual thing the philanthropic woman is a woman who gets her neighbors to contribute to all the charities."—Houston Post.

Constipation.

Health is absolutely impossible, if constipation be present. Many serious cases of liver and kidney complaint have sprung from neglected constipation. Such a deplorable condition is unnecessary. There is a cure for it. Herbine will speedily remedy matters. C. A. Lindsay, P. M., Bronson, Fla. writes, Feb. 12, 1902: "Having used Herbine, I find it a fine medicine for constipation. Sold by Frank Hart."

Foiled—Mr. Phoxy—I was going to ask you to try this little trick: Multiply the years of your age by 3, subtract 21 from the total, and what's the answer? Miss Kute—You should be able to guess the answer at once.

Mr. Phoxy—Yes? What is it? Miss Kute—None of your business—Philadelphia Ledger.

Chapped Hands.

Wash your hands with warm water, dry with a towel and apply Chamberlain's Salve just before going to bed, and a speedy cure is certain. This salve is also unqualified for skin diseases. For sale by Frank Hart and leading druggists.

Modesty—Lieutenant—I have a very pretty compliment for you—one of the young ladies thought I was an author.

Be frugal, honest and industrious and you will be rich some day—if you happen to take up the right thing.

Son Lost Mother.

"Consumption runs in our family, and through it I lost my mother," writes E. B. Reid, of Harmony, Me. "For the past five years however, on the slightest sign of a cough of cold I have taken Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption which has saved me from serious lung trouble." His mother's death was a sad loss to Mr. Reid, but he learned that lung trouble must not be neglected, and how to cure it. Quickest relief and cure for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed at Charles Rogers' drug store. Trial bottle free.

EXPLAINS BOYCOTT

Chinese Minister Tells the Leading Causes.

SPEAKS AT A CHICAGO CLUB

On the Subject of "Commercial Possibilities Between the United States and China," Sir Chen Tung Liang Chen Blames Americans for the Boycott.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—At a banquet of the Chicago Merchants club tonight, Sir Chen Tung Liang Chan, Chinese minister was the guest of honor, and delivered principal address of the evening. The subject "Commercial Possibilities Between the United States and China."

The speaker laid indirectly at the door of the United States the responsibility for the boycott in China against American goods. He asserted that numerous cases of hardship and unjust treatment imposed by over-zealous American officials upon the Chinese of the exempt class, had so worked the feelings of the Chinese nation, that the regrettable boycott had followed. Sir Chen Tung was heard with the greatest interest and his address was frequently applauded.

MISSING MAN IS FOUND.

Seattle, Nov. 11.—John Tisdale, President of the Alaska Snittishan Mining Co., for whom much anxiety has been felt by his friends, according to an Associated Press dispatch from New York, is due to arrive in Seattle at any time.

S. S. Bailey, Seattle capitalist, stated that he had received a telegram from Tisdale dated October 29 to the effect that Tisdale would leave New York for Seattle November 5 to close a large mining deal.

There's no beauty in all the land That can with her face compare, Her lips are red, her eyes are bright, She takes Rocky Mountain Tea at night. Sold by Frank Hart, druggist.

A Disastrous Calamity.

It is a disastrous calamity, when you lose your health, because indigestion and consumption have snapped it away. Prompt relief can be had in Dr. King's New Life Pills. They build up your digestive organs, and cure headache, dizziness, colic, constipation, etc. Guaranteed at Charles Rogers' Drug store; 25c.

IT IS FOR LADIES, TOO.

They Can Stop Their Hair Falling Out With Herpicide.

Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out, can prevent the hair falling out, and thicken the growth, with Newbro's "Herpicide." Besides, Herpicide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpicide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair off at the root. After the germ is destroyed, the root will shoot up, and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's Herpicide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease, it will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists. Send for stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
