Busy Time—Yesterday was a strenuous time in Astoria's police court. All together there were thirty-two cases to be disposed of by Judge Anderson, who presided for the first time since his return from Milwaukee, Wis., and the quick way in which he fastened on the fines gave ample evidence that he had not forgotten the knack during his three weeks' respite. Of the thirty-two cases, thirteen were on gambling counts and went by the board, the usual $25 fee having been previously deposited. There were twelve persons charged with being drunk and eight others who had the misfortune to be both drunk and disorderly. The drunks and disorderlies were all assessed sums of five and ten dollars each according to the degree of their inebriety.

Brush Fire—Fire Chief Foster and the fire department yesterday afternoon worked three hours extinguishing a brush fire on the hill back of No. 3 engine house, which for a time threatened nearby houses with destruction. The blaze is said to have been started by Indians encamped in the vicinity.

HAPPY LITTLE BAND AT THE COAST.

TWENTY YOUNG GIRLS OF PORTLAND JUVENILE IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION PASS THROUGH CITY YESTERDAY FOR OUTING.

Twenty little girls, ranging from 8 to 15 years of age, with faces all aglow in anticipation of the happiest kind of an outing on the sea coast, passed through yesterday on the noon train for the seaside, where they will spend a week or more in camp.

This is the fourth party of youngsters to the coast this summer by the Portland Juvenile Improvement Association, and it is expected that another party of girls will go on the return to the city of those now recreating. The contingent that went yesterday was made up by a committee representing the City Board of Charities and composed of Mrs. Charles T. Kamm, Miss Valentine Prichard, Mrs. L. G. Baldwin, Mrs. Bertha Davis and Mrs. M. R. Trumbull. The party was in immediate charge of Miss L. G. Richardson, a trained nurse, in charge of the Nurses' Residence, and Miss Minnie Schloth. Mrs. Bertha Davis went to the coast last week to prepare the camp for the children, and she will remain during the outing. Miss J. B. Gray also assisted in making up the party.

Some of the girls in the group are from the People's Institute, others from the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society, while the rest came from various parts of the city. In the party were two Chinese and one Japanese girl. Transportation for all the juvenile outing parties is furnished by the Astoria & Columbia River Railroad Company.

He Was Hungry—Because he was hungry, George Bell, a hard working man (according to his own assertion) ordered one dozen big raw oysters at an Astor street lunch counter and then because his stomach called loudly for more, caused an additional dozen of the monster bivalves to be brought forth. When they had all disappeared, George laid down 50 cents and started to wander forth. "Hold on, there," yelled the proprietor, "there's 50 cents more due this joint before you leave." A strong difference of opinion on this point immediately arose between the man on the outside of the oysters and the man behind the counter, which could not be settled to either's satisfaction. Policeman Stark was called and took Bell into custody. In the police court yesterday afternoon the case was argued and dismissed by Judge Anderson. Bell admitted that he had already settled for the extra four-bits.

C. Timmons will leave out for his Bandon cannery on the steamer F. A. Kilburn as soon as she returns from Portland, his family going into Coos via the overland route. They will remain there until the Christmas holidays.

Miss Katherine Shively returned last night on the steamer Roanoke from a month's visit with friends in Alameda.

Gus Castendick, Theodore Trenelman and Joseph Jordan of Portland were in Astoria yesterday for a short time on their way to the sea coast for a brief vacation. Mr. Jordan is assistant foreman of the add room on the Portland Oregonian.

Distinguished Arrival—A distinguished arrival has been registered in Astoria by the name of General P. Perity, frequently called "Pros" by those intimately acquainted with the celebrity. The presence of this universally popular idol is evidenced on all sides, by the husky, hearty, jolly fisherman in his shore clothes, with smiling countenance and bulging purse; the thronged stores, crowded theaters, swarming streets and sidewalks, all alive with eager purchasers on a spot-cash margin for everything; the humming mills, the flying steamers and bay craft of all descriptions snatching freight from one point to another and carrying thousands of people on business errands; busy banks, brimful of the collateral and public statements of their plethoric conditions; and not the least among the conspicuous demonstrations of the presence of this always welcome visitor, was Chief George Charlie, the last living representative of the Chinooks, and of the royal blood at that. He came over yesterday afternoon from Chinook, with eighteen or twenty of his people, in a motor boat and they spent the entire day in shopping and shopping for home and personal things of utilitarian value, and was cordially welcomed by lots of his white friends here.

For College Site—The Columbia Conference of the Swedish Lutheran Augustan Synod of North America will hold its annual meeting at Gresham Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week. It represents the Swedish Lutherans of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and British Columbia. Following are the officers: Rev. Martin L. Larsen, of Seattle, president; Rev. G. E. Rydquist, of Astoria, secretary; Rev. C. J. Renhard of Portland, treasurer. Ministers of the conference and lay delegates will be present from the district included in the conference territory. One of the most important matters to be considered will be the location of a college at some point in the conference for the Swedish Lutherans. Tenders of land and cash have been received for this college. Tacoma makes an offer of ten acres and $3,000 in cash; Moscow, six acres and $3,000; Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, ten acres and $25,000, on condition that the conference raise $75,000. It is also reported that a wealthy man offers $100,000 for the institution if the conference will give it his name.

Well Known Here—Arthur L. Adams, who was chief engineer of construction of the Astoria water works, is in the city, conferring with Engineer Bergsvick and the water commissioners in relation to the projected building of the immense new reservoir. He is a gentleman of fine attainments and his report on the big question will be of value and interest to the board and to citizens alike.

Italian War Ship Due in Here this Morning.

ROANOKE AND KILBURN DUE

Barkentine Stanford Leaves for Sydney and James Johnson for Bay City—Alliance Out for Eureka—Asuncion Gets Away.

Should the steamers Barracouta, Costa Rica, Aztec and Columbia be inadequate to take care of the traffic between the Columbia River and San Francisco, the Harriman officials say they will add the Breakwater and the Czarina to the fleet. These two latter vessels were recently secured by the company and will be available whenever needed, it is asserted. In the event they should be operated from here it is the intention to have the Breakwater call at Coos Bay and Eureka. This was her old route when owned by the Simpson interests.

One of the company's representatives said yesterday that the most encouraging reports are coming in from their agents all over the country about the big volume of freight secured for shipment down the coast this fall. He stated that the company has decided to take care of the business at all hazards, knowing that it is now in position to secure ample tonnage.

The barkentine Jane L. Stanford departed for Sydney, in command of Captain Mollstad, on Sunday evening last, after seventy-six days' detention in this port refitting after her encounter with the steamer J. B. Stetson. He expects to report there on or about the 20th of December.

The Italian war-ship Dogalia, which has been in San Francisco for the past month or more, is due to arrive in this port this morning, on her way to Portland. It is expedient that the Regatta committee send urgent invitation to her commander to come down the river and enjoy the courtesies of the week, along with his fine vessel.

The steamer Telegraph still maintains her round-trip schedule between this city and Portland, which is quite a convenience to the metropolis, giving her, as it does, daily communication with a live seaport and a place of importance.

The steamer Roanoke arrived in last evening from the south with 150 passengers and full of freight. She unloaded 300 barrels of sugar at this port besides a quantity of miscellaneous freight. The trip up was devoid of anything of note save that the last day out some rough weather was experienced. The Roanoke after a two hours' stay, proceeded up the river to Portland.

The steamer Lurline came down on good old 4 o'clock time yesterday afternoon, and went back up the river at 7, with the following people on her register: W. T. Hoggatt, E. S. Morris, A. O. Loomis, G. W. Evans, Mass., A. E. Matlock, W. V. Anderson, E. Frederickson, W. F. Penny, S. E. Eaton, William Thompson.

The steamer Yosemite went to sea and San Pedro yesterday evening, late with 950,000 feet of lumber.

The steamer Alliance is due down from Portland at 6 o'clock this morning, en route to Eureka and Coos Bay Points.

The "pup" of the Astoria sea-goers, the Della, left out last night for Nestucca with all she could carry in the way of freight, about fifteen tons.

The barkentine James Johnson arrived down from the metropolis on Sunday last, and went over the bar yesterday, en route to San Pedro.

The steamer F. A. Kilburn is due in from San Francisco this morning on her way to Portland.

The oil-tanker Monterey went to sea yesterday morning on the hawsers of the tug Defiance, bound for San Francisco.

The steamer Asuncion came down from Portland yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and went directly to sea, and San Francisco.

The light-house tender Heather returned from her coast trip north yesterday at 1:30 o'clock p. m.

An Infrequent Charge—John Michaelson lies in the Clatsop county jail on an infrequent charge, that of being an absconding debtor. The complaint was filed by Senator-elect V. T. Schofield and the sum of his indebtedness to him is $18.65 and to a Mr. Kruse, $23.00. He was committed to jail in default of bail in the sum of $100. He will probably lay there until he makes some provision to cover the obligations.
