Seaside Taxes—
 There has been some desire as to the payment of taxes for the improvement of sidewalks and the boulevards at that part of Seaside known as West Seaside. Sheriff Pomeroy was asked by many to collect their taxes but he did not consider it within his jurisdiction as sheriff. However, on being advised by many influential men amongst whom was Senator Fulton, that he would be perfectly within the right in making the collections, the Sheriff has decided to go ahead. There will now be some chance of getting these improvements at Seaside completed this summer.

What—Again!
 Same old story in the same old way, the Bohemians had their jackets trounced again Sunday by the St. Johns team. The local boys tried hard there is no doubt of that, but the way in which the ball seemed to elude their eager grasp was pitiful and heartrending. Something like nine bobbles were marked against them when the slaughter closed as against one for the St. Johns, and that by mistake. They were several clever plays on both sides during the game, the final score was 6 to 2 in favor of the visitors.

Police Court—
 Ida Nelson, one of the women from below the "dead line," was arrested and brought into court. She was booked with being drunk and disorderly, with being in a barroom and lastly with being a vagrant. She was tried on the last charge and fined $100 or 50 days in jail. The sentence was suspended on condition that she leave town which she promised to do. She took occasion to voice her opinion of the police department in general and to say the least it was not a great compliment nor was it expressed in the best of English. The heavy fine was due to the opinion of the court that she was an undesirable citizen. Seven male offenders were fined the usual price of being merely plain drunk, $5 or two days, and the majority were released owing to having being in jail for two days.

When a Man Marries—
 A Portland hack driver, giving the name of McDonald, called at the police station yesterday seeking advice as to how to straighten out his marital woes. It appears that his wife, a bride of but four weeks, deserted him and came to Astoria with another man. The deserted husband came and found them living together in a room on Bond street. Instead of invoking the unwritten law, he put the situation up to the wife asking her what she intended to do. Whether she was going with the other fellow, or come with him? With tears and sobs she confessed that she loved the other fellow better than she did him. He was not quite satisfied with the outcome of the proposition and accordingly called and acquainted the officers with the situation. However they could do nothing more than refer him to the Deputy District Attorney and when last seen he was on the trail, looking for that official. He also had in his possession a magnificent black eye which he said he had received in a fight over being twitted by another party about not being able to take care of his wife.

FIFTEENTH ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT

BACCALAUREATE SERMON TO THE HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS SUNDAY—JUNIOR RECEPTION TO SENIORS LAST NIGHT.

The Baccalaureate sermon to the pupils of the Astoria High School was preached at the Grace Episcopal Church on Sunday evening by the Rev. J. Warren. The reverend gentleman took as his text, "Be Zealous In Good Works," and from it gave a very able and forceful discourse upon the essentiality of zeal in life. The preacher laid stress on the fact that the word "Zealous" was the mainspring of his text. If, he urged, it were impossible to be zealous in all things, at least be zealous in some one thing. It were better to have some enthusiasm, some earnestness, for an indifferent, or even a bad, object than to be without zeal at all. Life without fervency without enthusiasm of any kind was life wasted. And the preacher earnestly begged of his hearers in their journey through life, never to loose the enthusiasm of youth but to bear it with them in all their goings. The reception of the juniors to the seniors was given last evening at Logan's Hall. It may be as well to say that the Astorian reporter was unable to get a very clear account of this reception nor a copy of the program although he attended and asked for both, and as all the high school pupils will probably look for this report it may be mentioned that it is their own fault that it is no fuller. So far as could be learned and seen everybody was having the best kind of a time and the hall looked very charming—with brilliant flags and decorations, and gay dresses. Dancing was in full swing at 11 o'clock. In the early part of the evening an excellent and varied program was rendered by some of the pupils.

The McAdoo of Japan sint Ginl Krocki over here to visit the Jemestown Fair and tip the waiters in the Quick Loonch Counters.

And so it is in Astoria.

Do yez reward the men who dont fight for the Burg or the feller who does hustle for Astoria?

Whin yez have a nickel and want a handkerchief or a dieer or a full dress suit, do yez patronize the man who sticks in his stores when Astoria needs fighters, or do yez raymimber Herman Wise who is allers to the front that Astoria might grow.

Whin Uncle Sam has any pinions to hand out, he gives 'em to the veterans whats grown ould in the service of the country, so whin loyal Astoorians have a dollar to spind, they raymimber who? Bourne Letter—
 The Chamber of Commerce yesterday received a letter from Senator Bourne confirming his telegram in reference to the cruiser Charleston being in the harbor at the time of the Vice-President's visit. The Senator said that there was a remote possibility that the Charleston might be ordered to South American waters, but he thought that in all probability the warship would be able to attend the doings here in Astoria. Should such be the case the citizens will no doubt enjoy hearing one of her best hands shoot, and which will probably be given a prominent part in the ceremonies arranged for the Vice-President.

Ghost In Astoria—
 While strolling along his customary beat, Sunday evening, one of the members of the police force saw, what he took to be a ghost, endeavoring to climb the awning of one of the business places of Eleventh street, between Bond and Commercial. Grasping his courage in one hand and his rusty weapon in the other the officer proceeded to investigate the mystery. Imagine his surprise on discovering that the pseudo ghost was merely a prominent tobacco merchant of that street, in his nightgown, trying to get into his room after having been locked out by a spring lock. The unfortunate had gotten out of bed and come downstairs to let a friend use the telephone in his cigar store, and had neglected to bring his keys with him. The problem was solved by the landlady throwing the keys out the window.

Dead Horse Sale—
 Chief of Police Gammal held a public auction yesterday on the steps of the City Hall and succeeded in disposing of 14 parcels of property which had been taken in at the sale two years ago. The property is being sold for the amount of the street assessments plus the interest. The present sale will start every morning at 10 o'clock and will be continued from day to day until all of the property has been disposed of.

Boy In The River—
 Three small boys were playing among the stringers below A. V. Allen's warehouse near the Lurline dock on Sunday, when one of them slipped and fell in. Very fortunately Captain Beard of the Customs Patrol launch and another man happened to be passing at the time, and with the aid of a long pole and a line they managed to haul the youngster out of the water. The lad had already sunk more than once when Captain Beard came by, and he was in pretty bad shape when rescued. It is believed he was the son of Mr. Smith, the musician, but it is not definitely known. Anyhow his two companions hauled him off in a boy's wagon and he appeared to be recovering when last seen.
